More than 100 New York motion picture operators are being brought into Chicago by airplanes to be used in reopening the 100 movie theaters closed as a result of the break between the owners and the Chicago union controlled by Thomas E. Maloy.

THEODORE LEVIN.

Ten of the New York operators arrived in the Chicago airport in two airplanes last night. Eleven more are expected at an early hour this morning. A fleet of five chartered airplanes is expected to bring 75 more later today.

The mobilization of more than 100 New York operators is to be completed Friday. The men are to be assigned to the projectors in the darkened theaters on Friday and on that night all the showhouses are to be reopened.

Peace Efforts Fail.

While this action was carried on with secrecy, an attempt to dissolve the differences between the Maloy union and the theater owners seemed to have failed yesterday. Maloy, who, incidentally, is under indictment for conspiracy to extort in his conduct of the union, continued to insist upon the employment of two men in each theater. The owners maintained their determination to employ only one.

The plane importations — a large mass movement for air travel—are expected to be only the beginning of the movement to reopen. Fifty other theaters are scheduled during the week end to release their union help—who work four and one-half hour shifts for salaries ranging from $90 to $175 per week—and these, too, will be manned by outsiders or by Chicago operators who have not worked at their trade recently. The latter houses now employ two operators, but their owners say they cannot stand continued overloading.

The New York operators who are being brought in belong to the Brotherhood of Motion Picture Employes of North America, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, according to Al Lemar, who shepherded the first group to arrive last night. Lemar is a representative of the George Williams Service, 11 West 42d street, New York, which recruited the men.

Lemar and three operators stepped from the first plane about 8 p. m. A reporter fell into conversation with him and inquired if he anticipated trouble when the "imports" started work.

"Trouble?" repeated Lemar. "No, these Chicago guys aren't so tough. We make 'em hard on the east side and I'll have some of those lads along with me." He said he would quarter his charges in a loop hotel.

Appeal to Swanson.

The theater owners, however, are said to be ready for trouble over the week-end when the outsiders take over the operating booths of the closed theaters, throwing at least 100 more Chicago operators out of work to join the 200 or more already jobless.

A hint of the coming action and an intimation that fear of violence is felt was contained in a letter sent to State's Attorney Swanson last night by the executive committee of the Allied Theater Owners of Illinois.

The name of Aaron Saperstein, president of the organization, headed the list and the co-signers were Joseph Pastor, Fred Gilford, Verne Langdon, and Nathan Wolf. They drew the communication with the aid of their attorney, Theodore Levin. It informed the prosecutor that the owners had almost given up hope of securing a "fair and just" arbitration of the difficulties, and thanked him for his efforts to help.

Must Reopen Theaters.

"The theaters cannot continue to remain closed," said the letter. "Some definite action must be taken and we ask your further cooperation as the chief law enforcement officer of the county in the protection of the rights and interests of persons and property."

Mr. Swanson met with the warring

Warn Europe Again: Revise German Debt

BASEL, Switzerland, Aug. 19.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—The Wiggin committee of bankers representing ten leading banking nations announced this morning that European political disputes will have to be straightened out and Germany's reparations payments revised.

The committee pointed out, however, that the terms of reference laid down by the London conference do not permit it to deal with either problems of European politics or the revision of reparations schedules.

Must End Political Rows.

The banking chiefs expressed the opinion, however, that points of political disputes between Germany and her neighbors must be removed and then schedules of Germany's reparations payments must be revised if European prosperity is to be recovered.

The representatives of the powers at London specified only two tasks for the committee—to discover the immediate further short term credit needs of Germany and to study the possibility of converting a portion of the present short term credits to long term credits.

On the first point the German delegation told the committee that further short term credits would merely add to the embarrassment of Germany and they therefore would not ask for them.

Urges Quick Action.

The committee's announcement was made in a report summarizing its study of Germany's financial situation.

"We therefore conclude," the report said, "by urging most earnestly upon all governments concerned that they lose no time in taking necessary measures for bringing about such conditions as will allow financial operations to bring to Germany and thereby to the world sorely needed assistance."

The report is the result of 11 days of study spent by the committee here. The head of the committee is Albert H. Wiggin, head of the Chase National bank, New York.

Extend Credits Six Months.

The groups of international bankers, who are Germany's short term creditors, and who have been meeting simultaneously with the Wiggin committee, reached an agreement providing for a six months' extension of existing short term credits totaling about $1,200,000,000.

These foreign creditors also reported that they had reached an accord with Germany under which the immediate release of their Reichsbank balances shall be only partial, and that the remainder shall be released gradually during the time of the agreement. Reichsbank balances held by foreign creditors amount to approximately $175,000,000, and it was the attempt to reach an agreement on these which developed a sharp controversy that threatened for a while to nullify plans for extending existing short term credits.

The Wiggin committee found that the total of Germany's foreign obligations amounted to about 7,500,000,000 reichsmarks [about $1,875,000,000].

FORMED BY LONDON PARLEY.

The Wiggin committee was constituted by the World Bank for International Settlements on the suggestion of the seven-power conference which met at London.

BIG RHINE BANK TO REOPEN.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Bank of Rhine Province, one of the largest financial institutions in the Rhineland, will reopen its doors, it was announced today, with the help of the Reichsbank and the government.

SEEKS EVIDENCE WITH CRIMINAL ACTION IN VIEW

State's Attorney Swanson moved yesterday to investigate the management of the defunct Bain banks with a view toward criminal action.

HENRY E. AYERS.

Taking cognizance of the published charge of the Bain bank receiver, Irwin T. Gilruth, that John Bain, his two sons, and the concerns he headed now owe the twelve banks in excess of $2,000,000, Mr. Swanson dispatched a terse letter to the receiver declaring the investigation to be in force and requesting Mr. Gilruth's full cooperation.

Orders Aid to Start Probe.

The text of Mr. Swanson's letter follows:

"Dear Sir: The press notices of your formal statement concerning the Bain banks are before me.

"I have today instructed my assistant, Henry E. Ayers, to make a prompt and thorough examination of any evidence of criminal acts which has come or may come to your attention in the liquidation of the banks for which you are receiver.

"I shall therefore be obliged to you if you will immediately inform Mr. Ayers of any evidence in your possession which may show or tend to show that any person (or persons) has been guilty of crimes in connection with the operation of these banks.

"As receiver you owe an inescapable duty to cooperate to the fullest extent with this office in this investigation, and I trust that your assistance will be both speedy and complete."

Denied Aid, Says Swanson.

In explanation of his admonitory tone to the receiver, Mr. Swanson declared himself dissatisfied with the degree of cooperation hitherto extended him by State Auditor Oscar Nelson, in whom the appointment and control of state bank receivers is vested by law.

Although he has a staff of twelve prosecutors and auditors working on bank fraud cases, a staff which already has procured indictment of thirty bank officials, the state auditor's only contribution to the investigation thus far has been to write him one letter, promising cooperation, Mr. Swanson said.

Auditor Pennies Help.

Responding to the state's attorney's criticism, Mr. Nelson reaffirmed his previous statement that every bank receiver in the county, and particularly Mr. Gilruth, stood ready to meet Mr. Swanson's demands in every way possible.

"But our duty is to liquidate the banks," Mr. Nelson said. "It is the state's attorney's duty to dig up criminal evidence, where it exists, and to prosecute. The receiver can only turn over the records for his examination. This is being done."

Records to Be Studied.

Mr. Ayers, who now becomes the key man in the Bain bank situation, announced after an extended conference with the state's attorney that he would endeavor to establish contact with Receiver Gilruth today. It is understood that his staff auditors will begin a study of the Bain bank records immediately.

An early step in the investigation, it is said, will be to analyze the relation of the Bain debts to each bank individually and to determine the proportion of those debts to the capital structure of each bank.

Bearing on this phase of the probe is section 10 of the state banking act. This section prohibits officers and directors of a bank from borrowing at the bank any sums totaling more than 15 per cent of the capital stock and surplus of that bank.

Attorneys Defend Bain.

While attorneys for Mr. Gilruth asserted the proportion of the Bain loans to the capital structure of the Bain banks had not been determined, other lawyers familiar with the conduct of the banks under the Bain regime gave it as their opinion that an analysis of the loans would discover the banker to

POLITICIAN SLAIN WHILE HE ACTS AS A BARTENDER

John Furlong, 35 years old, 537 North Drake avenue, was found shot to death last night in the Garfield Square Social club at 427 North Central Park avenue, where he was serving as a substitute bartender. In one of the pockets of the slain man, who was a precinct captain in the 28th ward Republican organization and building manager of the Austin town hall, the police found a $1,000 check made out to cash and signed "F. C. Hiter."

The place was deserted when Policemen Andrew Fahey and Daniel Egan, responding to an anonymous telephone call, arrived. The rear door to the basement barroom was open. The body of Furlong, with a bullet wound in the head, was sprawled in front of the bar. Nine partly emptied beer glasses were on the bar and tables, indicating that patrons had fled after the shooting. Neighbors reported seeing two or three men fleeing after the shot was fired.

Early today Lieut. Philip Carroll of the detective bureau sent out squads with orders to pick up all of the seventy members of the club. Edward Todd, said to be a brother of Alexander M. Todd, Republican ward committeeman in the 28th ward, is manager and Fred Sears is president. Furlong had the title sergeant at arms of the organization.

Report Lindys at Keoti on Hop to Tokio

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Aug. 19.—(Wednesday.)—(AP)—The Ochiishi radio station at Nemuro today reported that Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh had landed at Keoti, in the Kurile islands.

(An earlier report stated that the flyers had landed at Muroton Bay, Shimushiro island, because of a heavy fog.)

TOKIO, Aug. 19 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Forced down by motor trouble at Avatcha bay soon after their takeoff from Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, for Nemuro, Japan, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took the air again at 10:45 a. m. today [8:45 p. m. Tuesday Chicago time], a message to the communications department here said.

The Lindberghs left Petropavlovsk at 8:45 a. m., but had flown only a few miles toward their destination when they were forced to descend upon Avatcha bay.

The trouble apparently was not of a serious nature, for they were on their way again within two hours.

Expect 8 Hour Flight.

The 897 mile flight down the southeastern coast of the Kamchatka peninsula and along the Kurile island chain to Nemuro, on the northeastern tip of Hokkaido island, was expected here to require about eight hours. On this basis the flying couple should bring their big black monoplane down for the first time upon Japanese waters at about 6:45 p. m. [4:45 a. m. Chicago time].

Weather reports along the route, as gathered by the Ochiishi radio station, indicated conditions were favorable for the flight, particularly the northern stretch.

Paramushir island, in the northern part of the Kuriles, reported a slight northeast wind. A five mile an hour wind blew along the eastern coast of Kamchatka, between Petropavlovsk and the Kuriles. The sky was cloudy but there apparently was no fog.

May Land Elsewhere.

From elsewhere along the Lindbergh route last night came reports of starry skies, moderate breezes and promise of good visibility for the aviators.

It was learned today that Col. Lindbergh last night wirelessed the American embassy here stating he might not be able to reach Nemuro today, and requesting the embassy to ask the Japan aviation bureau for an emergency landing permit somewhere in the Kuriles. The application was granted.

RAID HIGH HAT SPEAKEASY NEAR J. D. JR.'S HOME

New York, Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The Villa d'Este, one of the city's most fashionable speakeasies, occupying a gray stone mansion at 21 West 53d street, almost in the rear of the home of John D. Rockefeller Jr., was raided tonight by federal agents, who seized fifty bottles of assorted liquors and arrested the proprietor and ten employes.

Fifty patrons were in the place at the time. Most of them were in the bar on the second floor, although a dozen or more were in the dining room. An automobile approached through 53d street. Two of the six men in it got out.

They went up to the bar, where most of the patrons were in evening clothes. Men and women were clustered about tables. Others stood against the bar, behind which Joseph Barri was mixing drinks. The visitors each ordered a Tom Collins. They sipped the drinks and satisfied themselves they were genuine. Then they informed Barri they were federal agents.

Shot to Death When He Traps 4 Bandits

Joseph Denpski, 55 years old, a private watchman, was shot to death early today when he surprised four bandits as they were leaving a cigar store at 3328 Armitage avenue with loot consisting of a few boxes of cigars, an electric fan and other small items. Denpski, who resided at 3427 Dickens avenue, was shot four times in the head and died on the way to the Keystone hospital. Police were conducting a search for witnesses to the robbery. He was found lying on the floor of the store.

have remained within legal limitations in his borrowings.

Mr. Swanson, being asked whether he believed Receiver Gilruth's charges, on their face, warranted grand jury action, made this statement:

"I am not in the habit of passing an opinion in a case where another man's statement to the press provides the only basis of judgment. We are going into the Bain banks in search of evidence. If any when that evidence is procured, vigorous prosecution will follow as a matter of course."

Bain Issues Statement.

Meanwhile, the 64 year old head of the Bain banks, his Scotch temper aroused by the receiver's charges, issued a 500 word statement, reiterating his twice stated claim that the banks would pay out in full, "with careful management by the receiver."

High lights in the statement were as follows:

1. Mr. Bain fixed his personal debts to the banks at $477,000. Mr. Gilruth had fixed them at $680,000.

2. Mr. Bain declared the cash on hand when the banks closed June 9 was $1,266,000. The receiver declared he found only $390,000 cash on hand when he took charge.

3. Mr. Bain branded the receiver's statement that the Bain family had withdrawn $500,000 from the banks in the sixty days prior to June 9, the day the banks were closed, as "absolutely untrue and made for an ulterior purpose."

Warns Against Receiver.

In its final form, it was said, the statement represented a considerable modification of the original blistering text. Even so, Mr. Bain in his second paragraph sounded what constituted a warning to Bain bank depositors to beware of Mr. Gilruth.

"The depositors have every reason to hope to be paid 100 cents on the dollar and certainly to expect the receiver, with careful management, to bring this about," he stated.

"All the statements now in the press do not dispose of the stockholders' capital structure. If the bank properties cannot be disposed of and there is a loss estimated at $2,000,000, I ask that the depositors keep their eyes on whomever obtains these properties, as the receiver does not expect to get anything from these bank holdings."

Recalls Gilruth's Demand.

At this point the statement reverted to a meeting called four weeks ago by Auditor Nelson, at which Mr. Gilruth demanded that Mr. Bain retract his assertion in the South Town Economist that the Bain banks would pay in full.

"Mr. Gilruth at that time asserted that the mortgage bonds of our banks were 100 per cent of the value of the properties," the statement read. "His appraisal at the present time appears to be 200 per cent of the property value.

"Evidently our south side properties have depreciated very much since the appointment of the receiver and the bondholders' protective committee. Depositors are cautioned to watch who will become the owners of these bonds and, eventually, the properties. Investors in these bonds are advised to hold them and not deposit them with the bondholders' committee."

Munnecke Heads Committee.

Victor H. Munnecke, former official of Armour & Co., is chairman of the committee to which Mr. Bain made reference. The state auditor last night announced the appointment of Mr. Munnecke as receiver for the State Bank of Beverly Hills, 9441 South Ashland avenue, an institution closed on June 11 with listed resources of $1,100,000 and deposits of $848,000.

Discovered working at some real estate matters in his office at 63d street and Ashland avenue, the banker, who was until ten weeks ago head of a group of institutions with listed resources of $21,000,000, told a representative of THE TRIBUNE that he had only $90 to his credit when the banks closed.

"I'm through," he said. "I'm too old to begin over again. Since the banks closed, I haven't even had a salary. The receivers are applying that on my indebtedness. All I have left is a house at Grand Beach, Mich., for which I hope to get $4,200."

Friend Explains Position.

The banker declined to enter any lengthy discussion of his differences with Mr. Gilruth. One of his associates, thoroughly familiar with affairs of the Bain banks, consented to explain Mr. Bain's position on condition that his name be withheld.

"In my opinion, Mr. Bain has grounds for legal action on the basis of what Mr. Gilruth said about him," his associate said. "I refer to the receiver's charge that the Bain family withdrew $500,000 from the banks within sixty days of June 9.

"When this assertion was challenged by associates of Mr. Bain, the receiver admitted that he might have erred and that the $500,000 might have represented renewals of old loans rather than new loans. The receiver, if quoted correctly in the press, contended there was no material distinction between new and renewed loans. To my mind, there is a vast difference between dipping into a bank's vaults in an approaching crisis and renewing loans long on the books."

Mr. Bain could show proof, his defender asserted, that all the loans had been carried from one to three years prior to the crash.

Mr. Bain's champion criticised the receiver's analysis of the Bain real estate holdings. Mr. Gilruth, he said, proclaimed many of these holdings as unmarketable, thereby helping to depress the real estate market further and tending to defeat what should be his natural aim, namely to dispose of the properties at the best price possible.

Auditor Defends Receiver.

Mr. Nelson, assuming responsibility for his receiver's statements, undertook to answer the criticisms leveled both by Mr. Bain and his defender.

"In estimating the value of the Bain real estate holdings as he did, Mr. Gilruth only gave depositors of the Bain banks an accurate statement of the position of the banks, to which they are entitled," said Mr. Nelson.

"It is true that the state auditor's office was aware of the large loans in the Bain banks prior to their closing," the auditor said. "Mr. Bain was cautioned, as were other bankers, that these loans should be reduced.

Says Loans Were Not Reduced.

"In his case the loans were not reduced, but renewed. In this situation, renewal of a loan constituted precisely the same action as the securing of a new loan. The loans should have been paid. They were not paid. Does not this constitute the granting of new credit? If they were old loans, they should not have been renewed; if new loans, they should not have been granted.

As for the difference between Mr. Bain's and Mr. Gilruth's estimates of the cash on hand, the auditor pointed out that Mr. Bain left the bank June 9 and that Mr. Gilruth took charge weeks later. In the interval, he said, the bank had to meet 'bills payable,' which accounted for the discrepancy.

MOVEMENT STARTS TO PUT MONEY BACK INTO TOLEDO BANKS

Toledo, O., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—With depositors crowding lobbies of the four remaining banks here today to return the money they withdrew yesterday, the Toledo banking crisis was believed to have been passed.

After the end of the day's business the officials of the Toledo Trust, the First National bank, the Spitzer-Rorick Trust and Savings bank, and the West Toledo National also revealed that it was not necessary to order additional money from the federal reserve bank in Cleveland.

Only two disturbing factors developed during the day as the sixth and seventh banks in the Toledo area closed their doors. The banks, the Point Place State bank and the Maumee State bank, both small institutions, were forced to suspend because their reserves were tied up in the four closed banks, statements of the officials announced.

Los Angeles Bank Closes.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The United States National bank, with eight branches, all in Los Angeles, failed to open its doors today. A statement from directors was not immediately available. Although bearing the name United States, the bank has no connections with the federal government other than any national bank.

A window notice read: "Closed by order of the board of directors. The national bank examiner has taken charge." The notice was signed by R. Foster Lamm, examiner.

The bank had resources of $13,121,229 and was capitalized at $1,000,000, a statement as of June 30, 1931, showed. The surplus was shown at $202,797.

CITY'S FINANCES MILLIONS SHY, OFFICIALS SAY

Tell Governor's Board of Deficit Perils.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Mayor Cermak told the governor's revenue commission last night—with Gov. Emmerson himself as an attentive listener—that the city corporate fund will have a large deficit at the end of the year.

"If we stop all the functions of the city now," said the mayor, "we would not have enough money to operate through next year."

"We are through—at the end of the cash," Deputy City Controller Victor Petterson said, in indicating that pay rolls will not be paid from now on unless some new remedy is found. "Our rock bottom requirements for the remainder of the year are $27,500,000, and our expected income is $500,000 more from the phone company and $1,000,000 in fees, licenses and miscellaneous revenue."

Tell of Economies Made.

One department head after another told of the savings made and contemplated, which aggregated $5,459,343 from the 1931 corporate appropriations of $63,052,079, less the loss and cost of collecting taxes. In addition, W. A. Jackson, newly appointed commissioner of gas and electricity and Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court promised to report "substantial savings" later. So far as explained to the governor's commission these savings are compared with the current appropriations and not with last year's expenditures, so that it is impossible—on the information supplied—to summarize accurately the actual savings to date.

In the face of the reductions Acting Police Commissioner Alcock made a plea for 3,000 more patrolmen at a cost of $5,375,000. He said that the situation was serious and the need urgent.

This was followed with a request from Acting Fire Commissioner Daniel Carmody for 800 firemen. He asserted that Chicago's department is more undermanned than any large city in the country.

Governor Wants Schools Opened.

Gov. Emmerson told the commission he is well pleased with its work, which has been centered on cutting governmental costs. The governor added that he hoped the group would do everything possible to keep the public schools open.

County Judge Jarecki turned more light on the situation by telling the city officials that they cannot get more taxes.

"There has been a tremendous increase in taxes," said the judge, "and I have been asked why I have not disposed of the tax complaints more speedily. A fast disposition of those would make no difference. No more taxes can come in. There isn't any more for thousands of persons. They haven't it."

When the three and a half hour session was over the members of the commission left with mixed impressions of the information submitted, except that they believed that the local governments are fast heading for a crash. As one of them phrased it:

"If the city is forced to suspend payment of employés, the school board cannot be expected to resume salary payments, and probably the county government will have to row in the same boat. I haven't enough information to foresee what the outcome will be unless the local governments at once cut millions out of their expenditures."

Most of the speeches, of which there were upward of a score, were pleas for more taxes and other revenue as well as recitals of the curtailments made and planned. Mayor Cermak predicted that the city's largest saving would be in consolidating its purchases. A plan for this saving will be submitted by Sept. 1, Commissioner of Public Works Sprague said.

Call on Efficiency Expert.

J. Louis Jacobs, city efficiency expert, several weeks ago told the commission that 15 per cent of the corporate expenses could be eliminated not only without impairing service but actually increasing its efficiency. That would mean a saving of between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000. Called upon last night to reiterate his statement, Mr. Jacobs said that he had promised the council finance committee to refrain from estimates until he finished his investigation and submitted specific recommendations for reductions.

Col. Sprague submitted the largest estimates of savings. From the corporate fund appropriations of his department he promised the elimination of $1,690,093 before the end of the year, and "more than $2,000,000" reduction from the appropriations of the water system.

Must Cut Service, Sprague Says.

"Most of the reduction in expenditures means a curtailing of service in my department," said Col. Sprague. "We now collect garbage once in seven days and ashes every 10 or 12 days. New York collects garbage every day. We may be getting to the point in expense reduction where we will endanger public health.

"New York flushes its streets twice a day, while we have 28 flushers in a garage which have not been on the streets all summer because of the lack of money. We are not spending sufficient money to clean the streets and the dirt is going into the sewers. It costs more to take it out of the sewers than off the streets, so we are practicing false economy."

Deputy Controller Petterson said that New York appropriates $60,000,000 for its police alone, while Chicago appropriated $63,052,000 for all of its departments this year. He went on:

"The mayor has made the most drastic cuts in my 16 years' experience in the city hall, but this is our situation:

"There is $6,500,000 in judgments outstanding and we owe $6,500,000 more in unpaid bills, which will be about $10,000,000 by the end of the year. Our payrolls, after deducting the cuts which have been made, will total around $17,000,000 between Aug. 15 and Dec. 31. We have $1,500,000 in sight to meet this situation."

The controller's office has cut its expenses $42,000 and Health Commissioner Bundesen estimated he will save $200,000 by the end of the year without injuring essential health service.

"I would like you business men to know," said the health commissioner, "that Mayor Cermak has stood up against heavy pressure to make the savings."

Alcock Estimates Expenses.

Commissioner Alcock estimated his expenses at $1,000,000 under his appropriation of $17,596,000. Asked why more patrolmen were not traveling beats, he replied: "When I took hold on July 16, 1930, there were 999 men traveling beat, while today there are 2,706—more than at any other time in the last 20 years."

Fire Commissioner Carmody said that the two weeks' layoff will save $212,000 in the fire department. He added:

"We have eliminated four clerks, five temporary engineers, cut the cost of electricity from $3,000 to $2,000 a month, are buying fire hose for 39 cents which formerly cost 45, have eliminated one engine company altogether, bought motor oil for 41 cents which cost 54 formerly and saved 10 to 20 per cent on supplies. But Chicago has less man power than any large fire department in the country."

Tell of Expected Savings.

L. D. White of the civil service commission said that department had saved $15,000 and might save $8,000 or $10,000 more if new plans were successfully worked out. Building Commissioner John E. Ericsson reported a $16,000 saving in two months; City Clerk Brady promised $10,000 by the end of the year; Jerry O'Connor of the public service department estimated his savings at $39,250, and the election commissioners gave an estimate of $200,000.

Judge Sonsteby said that a saving of $250,000 will be made on jurors, with larger savings when reforms are put into effect.

U. S. EXPECTS TO AWARD POSTOFFICE CONTRACT TODAY

Treasury department officials at Washington yesterday declared that the contract for Chicago's new postoffice would, in all probability, be let to John Griffiths & Son today. The announcement followed a long distance telephone conversation between Maj. Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury, and a representative of the Griffiths company.

One treasury official said that all that remains to be done is to go over details and come to an understanding as to just what the contract calls for. The Griffiths company has announced that work will begin immediately if it obtains the contract.

RYERSON TELLS NEED OF BIGGER FUND FOR RELIEF

Must Collect More than Last Year, He Says.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Edward L. Ryerson Jr., new chairman of the joint emergency relief and commission, said yesterday that it was urgently necessary for Cook county to raise more money than was collected in last winter. A total of $[illegible] was obtained last winter.

How much more will be sought has not been finally determined, but Mr. Ryerson is certain a fund cannot be availed sufficient to care for outdoor.

"The plan," said Mr. Ryerson, "provides that relief will be administered through the established relief agencies to families who are regular residents of Chicago and Cook county. Arrangements will be made for the establishment of the proper machinery to see that this program is followed.

"The need for relief among the destitute of Chicago is so great that it will be impossible to take care of the homeless who may be attracted to Chicago when cold weather comes."

Plan to Increase Collections.

Facts have been collected by Mr. Ryerson and his associates which indicate that other cities intend to care for their own unemployed, and which also show what has been done already in collecting money this year in comparison with the donations of last year. Almost without exception, every city is attempting to do more this year than last. More than half of the cities from which information has been obtained already have more cash on hand than was collected and distributed last year.

Mr. Ryerson's organization has reports from 233 cities where the funds are collected as a community chest. For 1930 these cities raised an aggregate of $40,688,826. For 1931 these same cities have set their goal at $[illegible], and have collected so far $[illegible]. That is a proposed increase of nearly 8.5 per cent, which members of the Ryerson committee feel certain will not be sufficient in Chicago, although they said yesterday they were undecided as to how much they will strive for.

Methods of Cities Differ.

Different cities have different methods of garnering in funds and different periods for collections so that really comparable data is exceedingly difficult to compile, but on as comparable a basis as practicable the following table shows what was done last year and this year in the larger cities where community chests or their equivalent are utilized exclusively. The asterisks indicate incomplete returns:

City.	1930.	1931.
Milwaukee	$1,062,480	$1,115,189
Cleveland	2,600,000	2,400,550
Detroit	4,000,000	3,434,160
Boston	2,500,000	2,664,145
Kansas City	1,600,921	1,148,478
Los Angeles	3,718,803	2,718,876
Pittsburgh	1,121,602	1,242,573
Philadelphia	1,500,000	1,557,151
Detroit	1,243,705	1,285,000
Philadelphia	3,296,000	3,239,738
Cincinnati	1,178,102	1,568,163
Baltimore	1,491,613	1,568,101
St. Louis	2,002,413	2,202,041
San Francisco	2,200,161	2,316,672
Buffalo	921,497	1,222,000
Newark	1,562,000	2,063,000

In Cincinnati and Washington $100,000 each has been included in the total, which has been raised exclusively for the Red Cross; and for Detroit $150,000 has been included, which is a tax subsidy. Some of these cities have two campaigns instead of one a year, but the above data shows that a number of cities have as much, or more, money now in hand as they distributed last year, while Chicago is just planning to get started on its big drive for funds.

Movie Marquise and Pets Here

HAFFA, PAROLED, IS BACK HOME 66 POUNDS LIGHTER

Titus A. Haffa, former alderman of the 43d ward, returned to Chicago on parole yesterday after serving seventeen months' imprisonment in the penitentiary at Leavenworth for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law. The once potund alderman was changed in appearance by the loss of 66 pounds in weight.

"I worked hard with a pick and shovel," Haffa complained. "But the work wasn't as bad as the worry. It's pretty tough when you're forced to leave your family and friends for that long." He remarked that the food had been surprisingly good in the prison and that the officials had treated him well.

Haffa was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and began serving his sentence on March 14, 1930. He was paroled last Friday by the federal parole board at Washington. Until the expiration of his sentence he must report regularly to William A. McGrath, chief of the federal probation office in the Chicago area.

Haffa also must settle with the government the $10,000 fine imposed by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley. The fine was to have been taken from an appeal bond but the surety company which posted the bond has been contesting payment. If the fine is not paid or otherwise settled, Haffa will have an opportunity to go before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and file a pauper's petition in which case the parole and supervision by probation officers will remain in effect 30 days longer.

On this arrival in Chicago the former alderman again denied that he had conspired with others to violate the prohibition law. "I was the victim of being too good a fellow," he said.

FOUND DEAD IN ALLEY.

Denies Engagement

Denying vehemently her engagement to Michael Farmer, Irish automobile man, but with that gentleman himself in tow as she stepped off the 20th Century of the New York Central, Gloria Swanson turned her chief attention to two of her other companions. They were Pickle and Mike, pet dogs. When reporters pressed the interview further, inquiring if she would marry Farmer when her decree from the Marquis de la Falaise et de la Coudray becomes final, she replied with a shrug and again directed her interest to the animals. Miss Swanson left on the Santa Fe Chief for Hollywood. Mr. Farmer was a passenger on the same train.

JAPAN HINTS IT WILL GIVE YANK FLYERS A PERMIT

TOKIO, Aug. 19.—[Wednesday.]—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., American aviators who got into trouble when they landed in Japan without a permit, called on Mr. Isetani, chief of the control section of the aviation bureau, responsible for giving out flying permits, and were received most cordially.

The flyers were led to understand confidentially through the American embassy today that a permit to fly to Seattle will be granted. This change of heart by the government is felt due to foreign office alarm at comments in American newspapers, over the Pangborn-Herndon scrape, which have been cabled to Japan.

SPECIAL BOOTHS SELL TICKETS FOR GREAT FESTIVAL

Avoid Lines for Patrons of Music Feast.

MR. SOUSA. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

For weeks preparations have been made to fill and empty the huge bowl without inconvenience to any one of the 150,000 expected spectators.

Thousands of tickets already have been sold by mail, reducing the number who must purchase their 25 cent admission stubs Saturday night.

Ticket booths will open this morning on Michigan avenue (the east side) at Van Buren, 7th and 11th streets. It is expected that thousands of tickets will be sold at these booths before Saturday night.

Finally—for the convenience of the thousands who will wait to buy their tickets at Soldiers' field on Saturday evening—THE TRIBUNE will open 50 ticket windows in 34 booths Saturday afternoon at Soldiers' field. Last year there were eight booths—this year 50.

A Chorus of 6,000 Voices.

The festival is being sponsored by THE TRIBUNE and associated newspapers in the middle west and will include the best vocal and instrumental talent, professional and amateur, in the vast area known as Chicagoland.

A massed chorus of 6,000 trained voices and a mammoth band of 2,200 pieces, including among its conductors as a guest conductor the famous "March King," John Philip Sousa, will participate.

Rules for the handling of automobile and pedestrian traffic before and after the show, which begins at 7:30 p. m. and is scheduled to end at 10:45 p. m., were announced yesterday by Capt. T. J. Howard of the south park police.

Announce Traffic Rules.

Cars coming from the north and west sides will be permitted to park east of the Stadium and north of Field museum. Those arriving from the south may be parked in Grant park between 16th and 22d streets anywhere east of the Illinois Central tracks.

Buses will unload in the court of honor, between the museum and the Stadium, and no parking will be permitted there. Taxicabs may unload on the east, west and south sides of the Stadium. All bridges north of 11th street may be used by automobile traffic entering the park. The 11th street crossing is reserved for pedestrians. At 10:30 p. m. all traffic from the west and south will be barred from the roads entering Grant park. This ban will not be lifted until the throng has cleared out after the festival.

CONTESTS ON TONIGHT

Tonight the first contests of the festival will be held when the male choruses meet in competition in the gold ballroom of the Drake hotel at 7:30. Tomorrow night the women's chorus contest will be held and the mixed groups, which include nearly 1,000 persons, will compete on Friday night. W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, will broadcast bits of each night's program, going on the air tonight from 7:45 to 8:15. Allan Grant, staff pianist of W-G-N, will accompany the choruses.

The organizations and directors in the competition tonight will be:

Illinois Central Male chorus, Carl Craven.

Avalon A Capella chorus, Walter Aschenbrenner.

American Boys' Commonwealth Glee club, Max Siegel.

Chicago Umbrian Glee club, Elmer A. Simpson.

Armour Jubilee Singers, Cornelius Pierce.

Federal Glee club, W. E. Myricks.

The "Lyra," a Bohemian working men's singing society, will sing one number tonight but will not take part in the same hall.

Winning choruses of the three contests will meet the out of town singers Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the same place.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 18.—A Hamilton all-metal transport machine of the Ontario Provincial Air Service crashed in the surf of Rainy lake, twenty miles from Fort Frances, on the American side, carrying four men to sudden death today.

The dead are: P. A. Hutton, pilot, Toronto, former instructor at the Toronto Flying club; C. B. Greer, air engineer, Sault Ste. Marie; A. J. Runciman, Stratford, Ont., co-pilot, and J. V. Stewart, Toronto, recently appointed district forester at Fort Frances.

Details of the disaster were telephoned to Toronto late tonight by Capt. W. Roy Maxwell, air force director, from general operating headquarters at Sault Ste. Marie. The only eye witness of the smash was George Delehaye of Pembroke, Ont., who had been "missing" since Monday afternoon after the crash of his plane and for whom the big Hamilton and its personnel had been frantically scouting since early this morning.

Trying to Rescue Flyer.

The Hamilton was swooping down to pick up Delehaye from the island on which he had been marooned, when something went wrong. Out of a vertical bank the big ship slid from a height of 200 feet with terrific speed, directly into the water, some ten to fifteen feet from shore.

With the help of some American tourists who had been attracted by the machine's dive and the sounds of her impact with the water, Delehaye went to the rescue. Two of the occupants, believed to be Hutton and Greer, were picked up by the rescuers from the surf into which the force of the smash had catapulted them. Totally unaware that the cabin of the twisted and tangled ship held the bodies of Runciman and Stewart, Delehaye proceeded by small boat to Fort Frances, where he learned the full weight of the disaster.

It was Greer's second crash within two days, for he was mechanic aboard the machine on which the marooned Delehaye had crashed the day previous. On Delehaye's plane, Tom Mahon, big and powerful, had been pilot and Mahon had placed the physically small Greer on his shoulders and swam safely to land.

Schneider Cup Flyer Killed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Disaster overtook the British Schneider trophy team tonight. The "baby" of the team, Lieut. G. L. Brinton, met death when his machine, a Vickers supermarine Rolls Royce S-6-A, dived into the sea off Calshot, striking the water at a speed of about 100 miles an hour just after it had taken off on the pilot's first flight. The seaplane broke in two, part of the machine floated away, leaving the remainder, with the floats attached, upside down. Lieut. Brinton was held fast in the cockpit and later the wreckage was towed back into Calshot with his body still inside.

Air Trail Blazers in Canada.

GODERICH, Ont., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The two Detroit aviators, Edwin Preston and Robert Collignon, landed here at 6:30 o'clock tonight, cutting short the projected first leg of their flight over the northern route to Copenhagen, Denmark, to map out an air mail route.

Preston and Collignon, who left Detroit at 5:02 p. m. after making two efforts to take off from the Detroit river, had intended to fly to Sudbury, Ont. They had lightened their fuel load after their first effort to take off from Detroit failed.

The flyers are following the route to Copenhagen over which Parker Cramer started a few weeks ago and on which he disappeared when nearing the final stage of the trip.

BRITISH PROTEST STIRS U.S. ACTION IN FACTOR CASE

Ambassador Is Reported Aroused by Delays.

Protests from the British embassy at Washington against privileges and delays accorded John [Jake the Barbor] Factor in his extradition proceedings resulted yesterday in the intervention for the first time of the United State's attorney's office.

EDWIN K. WALKER.

Assistant United States' Attorney Dodd Healy sat through the twenty-first session of Factor's hearing before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, who is hearing evidence to determine whether the former Halsted street hair trimmer shall be extradited to England as a $7,000,000 fake stock swindler.

Attorney General Acts, Report.

Mr. Healy's appearance, according to authoritative reports, grew out of instructions from the attorney general's office at Washington. It was also understood that the state department, which is charged with fulfilling the treaty obligations of the country, requested the justice department to act after receiving protests from the British embassy.

Factor's case has been pending since the middle of May, and he has not spent a day in jail. Two deputy United States marshals are assigned to guard him, but he is free to go and come as he chooses. Attorney Franklin R. Overmyer, counsel for the British crown, vigorously opposed the remanding of Factor to the marshal's custody, declaring that in no extradition case of record had the respondent escaped being confined in jail.

Plans to Aid Appeal.

Mr. Healy's appearance yesterday, it was explained, was merely to familiarize himself with the Factor case for the purpose of active participation when a habeas corpus action comes up this fall before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The United States' attorney's office, it was reported, was instructed to appear as amicus curiae and to prepare a brief in support of a ruling of Federal Judge Louis FitzHenry, who refused to set Factor free. The instructions also called upon the federal prosecutor's office to aid the courts and counsel for Great Britain in securing the fulfillment of this country's treaty obligations.

Counsel for Factor, including United States Senator Otis F. Glenn, David Stansbury and four other lawyers, sought Factor's release on a writ of habeas corpus, contending that the offense charged is not a crime in Illinois. Judge FitzHenry cited the ruling of the Supreme court holding that "receiving money knowing the same to have been fraudulently obtained" is a crime in Illinois and therefore extraditable.

See International Issue.

"It would be ridiculous for an inferior court to presume to overrule the highest tribunal in the land—not in an ordinary case but one involving the amicable relations between the two greatest countries in the world," said Judge FitzHenry.

Defense counsel yesterday continued their objections to the competency and sufficiency of depositions from defrauded Britishers, which the crown lawyer has read into evidence. The end of the proceeding was not in sight.

MOVIES TO OPEN; FILM OPERATORS FLY IN FROM N. Y.

Owners Act to Put End to Maloy's Rule.

groups Monday in the rôle of a mediator, attempting to bring them to common ground. This meeting was secret, and the nature of its deliberations were not disclosed except for an intimation that progress had been made and more might be hoped for. That this hope was not well grounded is shown by the moves toward mediation which have been made by the owners and the operators as disclosed yesterday in the owners' letter to Swanson. The interchange, as revealed in the letter, may be summarized thus:

THE UNION: We want a survey of the theaters which say they are in distress to see if they can afford to pay two operators. We want to look at the books.

THE OWNERS: That's all right with us if you include in this survey the matter of whether two operators are really needed in each of our theaters.

THE UNION: That's out, we won't agree to it, but would you be willing to employ two men each shift at half salary?

THE OWNERS—Certainly, but in this fashion: We will hire two operators who will work half a week each. They would each draw salaries of from $50 to $75, or more, a week.

THE UNION: Nothing doing, we won't do that.

Would End Dictation.

"A basic safeguard of our entire economic structure is the constitutional guarantee which protects the rights of each of us to engage in lawful business endeavors free from the dictation or restriction of others," continued the theater owners' letter.

"The attempt of the Moving Picture Operators' Union, Local 110, through its officials to arrogate unto itself the right to dictate the number of persons to be employed by individuals in our industry, if successful, would destroy this basic principle of economic enterprise.

"We are compelled to resist this attempt, which, if successful here, would deprive us of control over our own affairs and ultimately destroy our business.

"We are sorry that this matter apparently cannot be concluded by a just and fair arbitration as has been your suggestion and more than appreciate your serious efforts to avoid the financial disaster confronting the moving picture industry."

CUBAN SOLDIERS SEIZE PHANTOM REVOLT LEADER

Col. Hevia, Three Others Taken Prisoner.

BY DEAN SANBORN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 18.—Col. Aurelia Hevia, fugitive revolt leader, was captured at 7 o'clock tonight in the city of Colon in Matanzas province by government troops. Col. Hevia, secretary of the interior under the regime of former President Mario G. Menocal, now in prison, had been reported leading a large force of rebels "somewhere" in Santa Clara province.

The former Cuban cabinet officer was seized in a drug store along with his son, Gen. Figuera and a man known as Iturralde, whom Cuban authorities believe is a relative of former Secretary of War and Navy Rafel Iturralde, now a political exile in New York.

When captured the men were attempting to purchase medicine for Col. Hevia, alleging that he was seriously ill. According to dispatches, the prisoners are being brought to Havana and will be incarcerated in Cabanas fortress.

The department of the interior tonight issued orders to police to take an immediate census of males between the ages of 12 and 21. This move is being made to restrict further revolutionary activities throughout the island, placing full responsibility on the boys' fathers, who would be exiled 93 miles from their actual residence if their sons are found in subversive campaigns or conspiring to overthrow the government. According to 1919 figures 200,000 boys comprised this group.

Rebel Band Arrives from U. S.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, Aug. 18.—A revolutionary expedition which arrived in Cuba from the United States yesterday is now operating in the mountainous country of Oriente province in close proximity to extensive American interests.

Coincidentally the Cuban government has clamped a new and ironclad censorship on both Cuban and American correspondents, and this, coupled with reports of increased military activity, has caused a widespread feeling here that the government has not established as complete control over the situation as it would have the public believe.

The news of the landing of an "expeditionary force" reached Havana yesterday, but censors cut it out of the dispatches American correspondents here sent to their papers. No word of it appeared in any Havana paper.

How many men arrived is not known, but they are reported to have included both American and Cuban Negroes. Revolutionists here assert that they brought seven machine guns and 2,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

Come from Jersey Coast.

The expedition evidently is understood to be a part at least of the revolutionary force organized off the New Jersey coast two weeks ago, whose operations were interfered with by American department of justice agents.

Col. Rosendo Collazo is in command of the band. He is senator from the province of Camaguey, a retired army officer, and has the reputation of being one of Cuba's best military leaders. When President Machado ordered retired officers back into active service to quell the revolution Col. Collazo cabled from Washington that he was ill. Carlos Hevia, his aid, is the son of Col. Aurelio Hevia, who was captured last night.

The expedition arrived in two schooners, one flying the German flag and the other the Norwegian, at the town of Jibara, located on the shore of a tiny harbor on the northern coast of Oriente. The invaders occupied the town without violence. No Americans live there and the only American property there is the telephone office.

Burn Sugar Cane Fields.

Nearby, however, is the town of Holguin, center of American owned properties. Among these are the Chappara mill and plantations valued at $25,000,000, belonging to the Cuban-American Sugar company, and the Tacajo mill, which also is American owned.

So far as could be learned today no damage had been done to any American properties, although a number of cane fields have been burned.

Oral Will Holds

Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Horner, yesterday approved an oral will by which Bernard Hof, who died June 9, bequeathed an $18,000 estate to the family which had sheltered him for eight years.

The beneficiaries are William R. Kleinschmidt, 1426 North Kildare avenue, and his daughters, Viola, 17, and Grace, 16 years old. Albert Matson, 1517 North Keystone avenue, and Charles Schacht, 1920 North Lawndale avenue, testified at a previous hearing that a few days before his death, Hof, a fellow employé, told them that he wanted each of the girls to receive $3,500 from his estate, and their father to get the residue.

Edgar B. Elder, assistant state's attorney, had attempted to have the oral will declared void and the estate turned over to the state.

POLICE LACK CITY AUTO LICENSES; MAYOR AROUSED

A report from Fred Fischman, superintendent of licenses, "that in one police station license inspectors had found seventeen patrolmen and a lieutenant who had failed to buy city licenses for their automobiles roused Mayor Cermak to action yesterday.

"I want the names of all public employés who are evading the license ordinance," he said. "They ought to be taken before the civil service commission and fined thirty days' pay. How can citizens be expected to obey a law when the police who are supposed to enforce it laugh at it themselves?"

The lieutenant and patrolmen, having purchased licenses, will probably escape disciplinary action, it was stated.

Mrs. Gladys Copeland, 7154 Cyril street, is not eager to reduce, and she charged yesterday in a bill for divorce filed in the Superior court that her husband, Hugh John Copeland, a bank teller, beat her so that she had lost 20 pounds during their married life. She said that as a result of his treatment her weight dropped to 90 pounds.

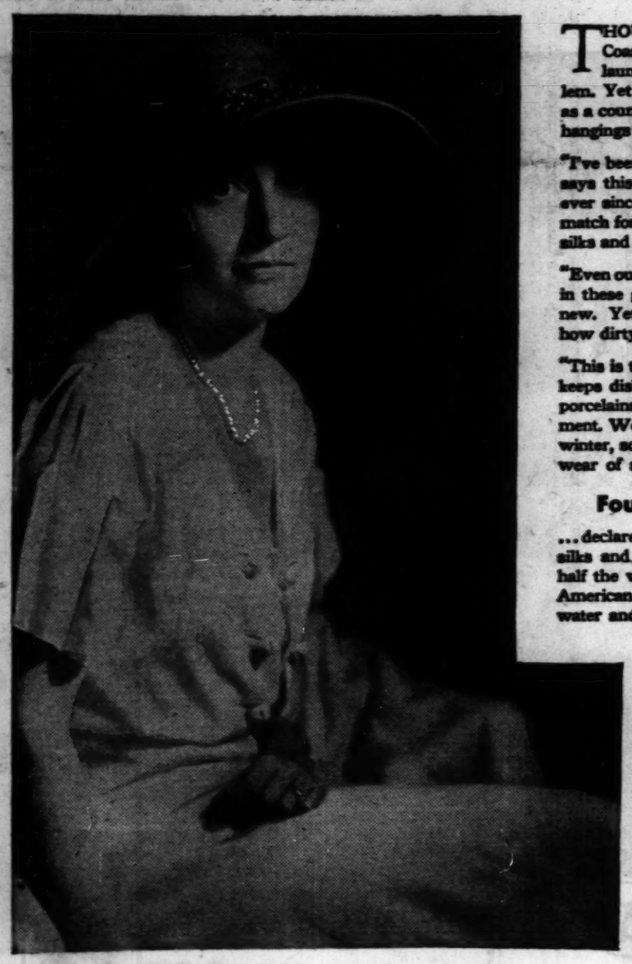
"Keeps my home spic and span in spite of Chicago soot"

Mrs. Vincent E. Healy



THOUGH East Walton Place shuts its exclusive Gold Coast doors against "downtown" soot and dirt, the safe laundering of its costly fabrics presents a domestic problem. Yet you'll find Mrs. Healy's beautiful apartment as fresh as a country home, from her snowy French linens to her silken hangings and colorful homespun coverlets.

"I've been 'brought up' on American Family Flakes and Soap," says this vivid young modern; "so naturally I've used them ever since I had a home of my own. It's one soap that's a match for Chicago's dirt, and yet so pure that my most delicate silks and linens keep their loveliness for ages.

"Even our sweaters and my jersey dresses never fade or shrink in these gentle suds, and every color comes back as fresh as new. Yet it cleans Tommy's suits and overalls in a jiffy—and how dirty that boy does get, out in the playground!

"This is the only household soap we use. We like the way it keeps dishes and glassware sparkling, bathrooms and kitchen porcelains shining, and woodwork clean all through the apartment. We could not get American Family Flakes in Miami this winter, so we learned what a difference soap can make in the wear of silk stockings and colored things."

Four out of Five Gold Coast women

... declare that no other soap is safe enough for their treasured silks and laces. And now soap sales show that more than half the women in Chicago find American Family Flakes and American Family Soap the best working soaps in Chicago water and on Chicago dirt. Use these double-sudsing soaps freely and fearlessly—and so save your clothes, your time and your precious hands.

Mrs. Vincent E. Healy

Her husband is one of the Healy brothers in Lyon & Healy, a director in that famous music house, and a broker. Her "family" is Tommy, five-year-old cherub who stays clean like any other boy—until he can reach a slide or sand pile. His young mother puts him into overalls and lets him be happy, for she's a sports enthusiast too . . . tennis, golf, swimming, riding, races. You'd be wild about her Wedgwood china, and her gorgeous Coalport service plates (royal blue and gold with flower medallions after an old Coalport engraving). "I think too much of them to risk their luster and gold decorations in any but these purest of suds. And see how even these patterned goblets sparkle, showing that every trace of soap rinses out of the crevices. You'll always find a large package of American Family Flakes handy in our butler's pantry, as well as in kitchen and laundry."

The Flakes—double-sudsing—the only soap trusted with the costly laundry of 4 out of 5 Gold Coast women.

The Cake Soap—double-sudsing—for ninety years used by more Chicago women than all other laundry soaps combined.

Nation Staggering Under Finance Burden.

sterling automatically reduces the cost of maintaining the dole, since the government would be paying the unemployed in sterling worth, in gold, say $3 instead of $4.87. It would, ipso facto, reduce all wages and salaries by whatever proportion the pound depreciated to, without precipitating the labor troubles which a reduction of wages would arouse. It would reduce, for a time at least, the cost of living by making all goods, wholesale and retail, cost less, on a gold basis, than now with the pound at par. Rents would be less in the same degree.

The Effect on Industry.

Most important of all would be the effect on industry. It would permit manufacturers and operators to avail themselves of the same benefits their competitors in Germany, France, Italy, and Belgium now enjoy through a decreased cost of production because of cheaper labor, overhead, domestic raw materials and taxation.

British coal, the staple product of the country, would be particularly affected, as a depreciated pound would give industry cheaper fuel, whereas the export stocks would still be sold abroad on a gold basis, thus giving mine operators an opportunity to collect on a par value rate.

Increased activity in Great Britain's foreign trade in coal would also have a repercussion on industry in general. It would lessen the cost of imported raw materials by cutting transportation costs, as bottoms, carrying English and Welsh coal abroad, would return laden with requisites for manufacturers here. In recent years as the coal export has dropped further and further below prewar levels, and the export of manufactured goods has dwindled, shipping has gone out empty, in ballast, to fetch back foodstuffs and raw materials needed in the United Kingdom.

Vision Protective Scheme.

Many authorities assert that a depreciation of the pound must be accompanied by a comprehensive agricultural protective scheme, providing fixed prices for wheat and other essential commodities for the farmer, in an effort to induce some of the unemployed and agrarians to raise a more appreciable part of the nation's requirements in foodstuffs at home.

It is pointed out that a great deal of the benefits of a "devaluation" of sterling would be lost in a country which must pay out to other countries such a huge check daily for the food it consumes. It is recalled that during the peril of the German U boat campaign to starve England intensive efforts placed huge areas of the United Kingdom under cultivation of grain, potatoes, corn, oats, hay, and other necessities, which, by careful rationing, might have made England almost self supporting. These efforts were abandoned with the armistice and have never been resorted to since.

There is strong opposition from the conservative and capitalistic class to such a scheme, as it is considered certain that any such plan would eventually lead to confiscation of large land areas held by the aristocracy and used for country estates, shooting preserves, or in many cases left to run wild. Taxation on this uncultivated land is extremely light. Many members of the peerage maintain vast shooting boxes on which their annual "rates" are only a few hundred dollars per year.

Dukes Live on Continent.

The duke of Westminster owns five enormous country estates measured in square miles as well as town houses and apartment buildings, but spends all his time on his yacht or in France. The duke of Northumberland similarly has enormous holdings scattered over the country, besides several mansions in London, but he, too, resides on the continent.

Despite the gravity of the situation and the unchallenged menace which hangs over England like a pall there is the same powerful opposition on the part of the "upper classes" to any reform which will lay hands on their patrimony, their estates and vested interests and rights.

Although the death duties and inheritance taxes now levied so heavily against these estates must eventually consume them and, reclaim the property for the public in the next two or three generations, there is none ready to make the personal sacrifices which the desperate condition of the country requires.

Propose 10 Per cent Tariff.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Prime Minister MacDonald and the economy committee of the Brish Labor government completed today the emergency proposals to cope with the expected budget deficit next year and tonight the Daily Herald, which is supposed to be the mouthpiece of the government, sprang a surprise when it announced that among the proposals of the cabinet's "Big Five" is a general 10 per cent tariff on imports for revenue purposes. The whole plan will be submitted to the cabinet tomorrow.

This proposal, says the Herald, will "receive support from ministers who have hitherto been rigid free traders." It is believed in some circles that if this is true, it is possible that most of the tariff will be enforced within a few weeks. According to the Herald these former free trade ministers will urge that the necessity of balancing the budget is now so paramount that "a temporary departure from orthodox fiscal policy will be fully justified."

LOU TELLEGEN, ACTOR, LOSES $12,331 SUIT TO HIS FORMER WIFE

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—A default judgment of $12,331 against Lou Tellegen, actor, was entered in the county clerk's office today by Isabelle Craven Dilworth Tellegen, one of his former wives, after he failed to answer her suit.

She charged $12,000 was due under an agreement he made to pay her $100 weekly toward the support of their son, Rex Tellegen, now 8 years old. They were divorced in Los Angeles on Nov. 23, 1928.

Tellegen was once the husband of Geraldine Farrar, opera and concert singer.

Rob Hotel Safe and Lock Boxes of Guests of $50,000

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Robbers looted the safe and 25 guests' lock boxes at the Kingway hotel here early today, taking $5,000 of the hotel's cash, $15,000 in jewelry from one box and an undertermined amount of valuables from the other boxes. Hotel officials estimated the loss might run as high as $50,000.

GIRL IS HELD FOR SHOOTING STATE SENATOR YATES

New York, Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Jaunty, pert, and almost gay, blond Ruth Jayne Cranmer was held today without bail on a short affidavit alleging felonious assault in the shooting of State Senator Roy T. Yates of New Jersey. She insisted to police she didn't remember what happened in her upper west side apartment on the night of the shooting.

In west side court after passing through the lineup in police headquarters, the girl light-heartedly agreed to the magistrate's ruling that the case be adjourned to Aug. 20.

Assistant District Attorney Martin Binder requested the delay because "there is no telling if the victim will live."

"He's not so bad," said the girl. "His condition's improved."

"Do you agree to a postponement?" asked Magistrate Michael Ford.

She shrugged her shoulders.

"What else can I do but agree? I don't like it, but there's no alternative."

Accordingly, she was removed to the women's prison.

Meanwhile, reports from the hospital for ruptured and crippled children, where Senator Yates was taken following the drinking bout and shooting, said he was slightly improved.

Leaps to Death in Lake at Foot of Ohio Street

A man believed to be Wladislaw Sledinski, 35 years old, 1326 Chopin street, leaped into the lake at the foot of Ohio street last night and was drowned. Coast guardsmen were unsuccessful in dragging for the body. The tentative identification was made from a bankbook found in a coat dropped by the suicide, issued by the Northwestern Trust and Savings bank, 1201 Milwaukee avenue, which closed recently.

HUDSON with Selective Free Wheeling Means SUPREME PERFORMANCE

Scores of motorists fresh from examining and driving the latest and best cars of the day declare Hudson the supreme performer.

They refer not alone to the luxury of its floating smoothness. They think of other qualities than silent gear shifting or the greater comfort of driving in traffic. They are enthusiastic about Hudson power. The nimbleness of its motor, the ease of its steering and the luxury of its bodies are also taken into account. The economy and reliability that owners report impress them.

Now Selective Free Wheeling greatly enhances a performance that was already individual. Its floating ride is unlike anything you have ever experienced in a motor car. Gears shift silently, from high to low, down or up without need to use the clutch. You will like it. And you will learn that Hudson meets every requirement of true luxury at moderate prices.

MRS. LAFOLLETTE, WIDOW OF LATE SENATOR, DIES

Two Sons at Bedside; Lived in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Belle Case La Follette, "The Counselor" of one of America's foremost political families, died here late today as she had lived, in the background of her famous menfolks.

The 72 year old widow of "Fightin' Bob," whose son and hers she saw take his senate seat, was the victim of shock following an emergency operation performed yesterday. The operation, performed by Drs. John Lyons and James Cahill at Georgetown University hospital, had been considered successful and she rallied satisfactorily, but suffered a sharp relapse today which caused her death at 6:05 p. m.

Both Sons at Bedside.

Both sons—the senator and Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin—were present at her bedside when the end came. They had arrived early this morning. A daughter, Mrs. Ralph G. Sucher of Washington, was present. A second daughter, Mrs. George Middleton, is en route to Washington from California.

Cast by choice in a minor rôle, Mrs. La Follette preferred always to have the male members of her family hold the limelight in public office.

The late Senator La Follette, acknowledged founder of the La Follette movement, referred to her as "The Counselor." Her faith and foresight, he said, enabled him to promulgate "progressivism" and achieve a place in public life. He considered her the staff of the movement.

Guides Sons' Paths.

Urged to run for her husband's senatorial place after his death in 1925, following the arduous unsuccessful presidential candidacy generally credited with causing his death, Mrs. La Follette preferred that Robert M. Jr. should seek the post. Another son followed his father's foo steps under her guidance. Philip F. as governor, holds the seat the elder La Follette had for two terms. She steered him to victory in the long campaign against former Gov. W. J. Kohler.

But never did she come out openly in the field of action as the two sons carried on the La Follette tradition in the founding of which she played so great a rôle.

Senator La Follette, Gov. La Follette, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sucher, the latter of whom was Mary La Follette, will leave Washington at 4 p. m. tomorrow on the Capitol Limited with Mrs. La Follette's body and will reach Madison late Thursday. Fola La Follette, now Mrs. George Middleton, is en route from California and will meet the funeral party in Chicago Thursday morning. The funeral services will be in Madison at 2:30 p. m. Friday. Burial will be in Forest Hills cemetery.

CAMPAIGNED FOR HUSBAND.

Although Mrs. La Follette never was a candidate for office, she was in the midst of countless political battles with her husband as he made his way from district attorney of Dane county, Wisconsin, to congressman, governor, United States senator, and then ran for the presidency shortly before his death in 1925.

She was active in the woman suffrage, peace and disarmament movements.

Mrs. La Follette set herself to the task of writing a biography of her husband soon after his death and she worked industriously at this task. She is said to have brought this detailed history up to the war period of the senator's life, the height of his stormy career.

Mrs. La Follette was born in a log cabin in Summit, Juneau county, Wis., April 21, 1859, the daughter of Anson and Mary Case. She lived in Baraboo from the time she was 3 years old and from there went to Madison at the age of 16 to attend the University of Wisconsin, from which she was graduated in 1879.

BRITAIN HAILS FIRST 'PEACE TIME' ZEPPELIN ON REACHING LONDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The veteran globe trotting Graf Zeppelin poked her silver nose through rain clouds overhanging murky London tonight and then piled her effortless way to Hanworth airdrome, where she docked as evening was falling. She had aboard twenty-two tourists from Germany.

The Graf is the first Zeppelin to land in England since the war, when smaller Zeppelins, bent on raining destruction down on British industrial centers, were shot down in flames and masses of tangled steel and aluminum.

And London people who 14 and 15 years ago took to their cellars when the drone of the night raiders was answered by warning sirens of the anti-aircraft defense, gathered in groups to cheer the Graf which sailed over the city, while daylight still outlined it against the sky.

At Hanworth airport, where preparations had been going on all day to welcome the Graf, other thousands of people cheered as the great ship settled down. Amplifiers on the field broadcast the rousing strains of the German anthem, played on a phonograph record some one had resurrected somewhere.

When Dr. Hugo Eckener, who has taken the Graf around the world and to the arctic regions, stepped out, he was greeted with rousing applause. British aviation enthusiasts presented him with a gold cigaret case.

After its cruise over Great Britain, the Graf will head back toward Friedrichshafen, Germany, from where she started this morning at 7:05 [1:05 Chicago time.]

NEW YORK GANGS TAKE TWO MORE LIVES IN A DAY

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Gang guns flared in New York's east side tonight taking two more lives, which with the finding of a body wrapped in newspapers earlier today brought the day's homicides to three.

Two men, one unidentified, were sprayed with bullets on Mott street at midnight. Police said one of the slain men was Joseph Cignia. In another shooting, Charles Focarile, 19, was shot in the back.

GANDHI DENIES HE DESIRES TO SET UP OWN RULE

Makes Public His Side of Controversy.

AHMEDABAD, India, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi tonight issued a denial that he had any intention of setting himself up as the head of a government parallel to the government of India. The denial was part of his final letter in his correspondence with Lord Willingdon, viceroy of India, concerning the controversy which resulted in his remaining aloof from the impending round table conference on Indian affairs in London. The letter was made public by Gandhi.

The letter set forth that the mahatma had asked, as a matter of right, for the establishment of a board of arbitration to pass on his allegations that the Delhi pact between himself and the British authorities had been violated by Britain.

Satisfied with "Justice."

"But," the letter continued, "if you recall our conversation I never actually insisted on it. On the contrary I told you so long as I got justice, to which I was entitled, I would be quite satisfied. You will agree that this is wholly different from insisting upon a board of arbitration."

British Ready to Yield.

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Viceroy Willingdon and Sir Ernest Hotson, governor of Bombay, were in telegraphic communication today in regard to Mahatma Gandhi's latest offer to go to London provided the government holds on impartial inquiry into alleged breaches in the Delhi truce.

Gandhi's decision to narrow down his previous conditions are regarded as having immensely improved his chances to participate in the second round table conference, although the Mahatma himself still entertains doubts regarding his departure.

It was learned that the government is disposed to sanction such an inquiry, provided the nationalist leader does not insist that every minor dispute arising out of the terms of the truce shall be subject to such investigation in the future. The government feels this would indefinitely prolong the controversy.

2 NEW YORK HANSOM CABS ARE HELD UP; GET LOOT OF $1,500

New York, Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Central park, that stretch of struggling green hemmed in by an ever rising skyline of fashionable hotels and apartment houses, early today was the setting of two robberies more in keeping with the wild west of the pioneer and the stage coach.

Two hansom cabs, vehicles that typify New York of a more polite and leisurely time, were stopped by bandits who ran from an ambush of metropolitan shrubbery, seized the reins from startled drivers and took from their fares a total of $70 cash and $1,500 in jewelry. In each case the cab was occupied by a young man and a young woman.

George Brimicombe, 25, of Cleveland, a guest at the Hotel Roosevelt, gave up $12 in the first holdup and his companion, Miss Marie Lambert, 21, gave up $8 and a diamond ring valued at $250.

In the second holdup 45 minutes later, Fred Suydam gave up $30; Miss Florence Brockett, 25, surrendered a gem studded wrist watch valued at $1,500 and $15, and the driver, Walter Donn, yielded $15.

HUNDREDS PERISH AS FLOOD SWEEPS BIG CHINESE CITY

30,000,000 Homeless; Yank Heads Relief.

HANKOW, China, Aug. 19 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Several hundred Chinese residents of Hankow drowned today when the big Chiakow dyke, protecting the city's western suburbs, collapsed, inundating the principal native industrial district, including big flour, cotton and silk mills.

An accurate estimate of the number who perished was not possible, in view of the chaos that prevailed following the disaster. Although all foreigners in Hankow were reported safe, a great majority of foreign women have departed from the city and more were leaving on every steamer.

A Chinese exodus from the stricken city also was under way. All available means of transportation was packed with humanity and what personal belongings could be loaded aboard. Big river junks were traversing what once were city streets, removing valuables from homes and warehouses.

American Heads Relief Work.

The new catastrophe came soon after members of the Nationalist government's flood commission arrived by airplane from Shanghai.

John Earl Baker, American advisor to the ministry of railways, who was loaned to the flood commission, headed the party flying here. He was told carefully prepared estimates indicated 30,000,000 people were homeless in the provinces of Hupeh, Anhwei, Hunan and Honan, and 10,000,000 of these were utterly destitute.

Baker said he considered the present flood "probably China's most terrible disaster in the present century."

Reaches Highest Level.

The Yangtze last night reached a level of 53 feet five inches, a new record. The previous record was 50 feet six inches on Aug. 4, 1870. The seasonal variation is between 40 and 45 feet. The waters overflow the bund level of 46 feet an an average of one year in every five.

Baker told of negotiations started with the United States government in the hope of buying, on long credit terms, a part of the surplus wheat carried by the American farm board.

Plans tentatively made, he said, provided for immediate distribution of a part of the wheat among the starving refugees, the rest to be retained to be doled out as wages to laborers, who would rebuild the dykes and other structures swept away by the waters of the last fortnight.

Col. Stobie, Noted Indian Scout, Is Dead at Age of 86

Col. Charles Stewart Stobie, who went west as a young artist to paint Indians, but instead, soon found himself fighting them beside such famous scouts as Buffalo Bill Cody and Wild Bill Hikock, will be buried tomorrow.

Col. Stobie who bore the sobriquet of "Mountain Charlie," was born in Baltimore 86 years ago. He was one of the few survivors of the famous government Indian scouts of the sixties. He died Monday at his home, 346 West 65th street. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow from the chapel at 415 West 63d street, with burial in Oakwoods cemetery.

Moves to Chicago.

Col. Stobie's parents moved to Chicago in the early sixties and he joined them here after two years of study at St. Andrews, Scotland. He worked for a time as a draftsman in an architect office, but like many another youth of that day he felt the lure of the west. In 1865, when he was 20 years old, he went to Denver, intending to sketch Indians.

In later years Col. Stobie described Kit Carson, whom he knew as a man whose delicate physique and gentle manner were in contrast to his courage and reputation as a fighter. Young Stobie himself quickly became a veteran in the hard school of the plains, and served as scout with a number of government expeditions.

Adopted by Indian Tribe.

He was one of the party which established the White River Ute agency in northwestern Colorado, in 1868, and later was adopted as a member of the tribe. One of the paintings which Stobie later found time to do was of a Ute scalp dance, a ceremony which he believed he was the only white man ever to witness. He was widely known in later years for his Indian paintings.

He returned to Chicago in 1874, bearing as a souvenir of his Indian fighting days a long scar across his back, inflicted as he lay beleaguered in a buffalo wallow. Thorughout his life he wore his hair long in the plains fashion.

Shoot Teller; Rob Bank of $5,500; Flee on Bikes

BERLIN, Aug. 18. — (AP) — Two masked robbers held up the Reichsbank branch in the suburb of Schoeneberg today, shot the teller, and escaped on bicycles with $5,500. Employés of the bank gave chase on their own bicycles and in taxicabs, firing after the fugitives. Stray bullets wounded a passerby and a 12 year old girl. The robbers overlooked $125,000 in bank notes on the teller's desk.

PLEADS GUILTY TO $30,000 THEFT FROM MAIL ORDER CO.

Edward Jordan Andell, 41 years old, former assistant to the vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., yesterday pleaded guilty before Judge Joseph Sabath in the Criminal court to embezzlement of $30,000 of the company's funds. His attorneys asked that sentence be passed immediately. He faces a sentence of one to ten years in the penitentiary. Andell, once a professor of languages in a university in Germany, was arrested in St. Louis recently. Judge Sabath continued the case until today.

Andell fled to St. Louis after buying four diamond rings valued at $5,000, which he charged to Montgomery Ward & Co. He was traced through a shipment of household goods.

LOSES FEDERAL POST; HIS STORY RAPPED BRITISH

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—On June 17 George Jackson Eder, youthful chief of the Latin-American section of a division of the department of commerce, published an article charging that British commercial propaganda in the Argentine was likely, if persevered in, to have an unfortunate effect on international relations.

In the same article he minimizes the commercial value of the recent good will visit of the prince of Wales to South America, intimating it had turned out a flop.

Today the department of commerce announced that Clarence D. Brooks of New Jersey had been named to succeed Eder as chief of the division of regional information. Eder had resigned, it was stated. Investigation of this formal announcement of a change of chiefs disclosed that Eder was squeezed out as a disciplinary measure for violating government censorship rules.

Within a few days after the article appeared Mr. Eder was called up by his immediate superior and advised to resign. The inference was that if he resigned voluntarily, he would be given time to find another position. Eder resigned as chief of the information service at once and went to New York, where he is with the department's New York office. Reports are he will shortly take a position with a large exporting firm.

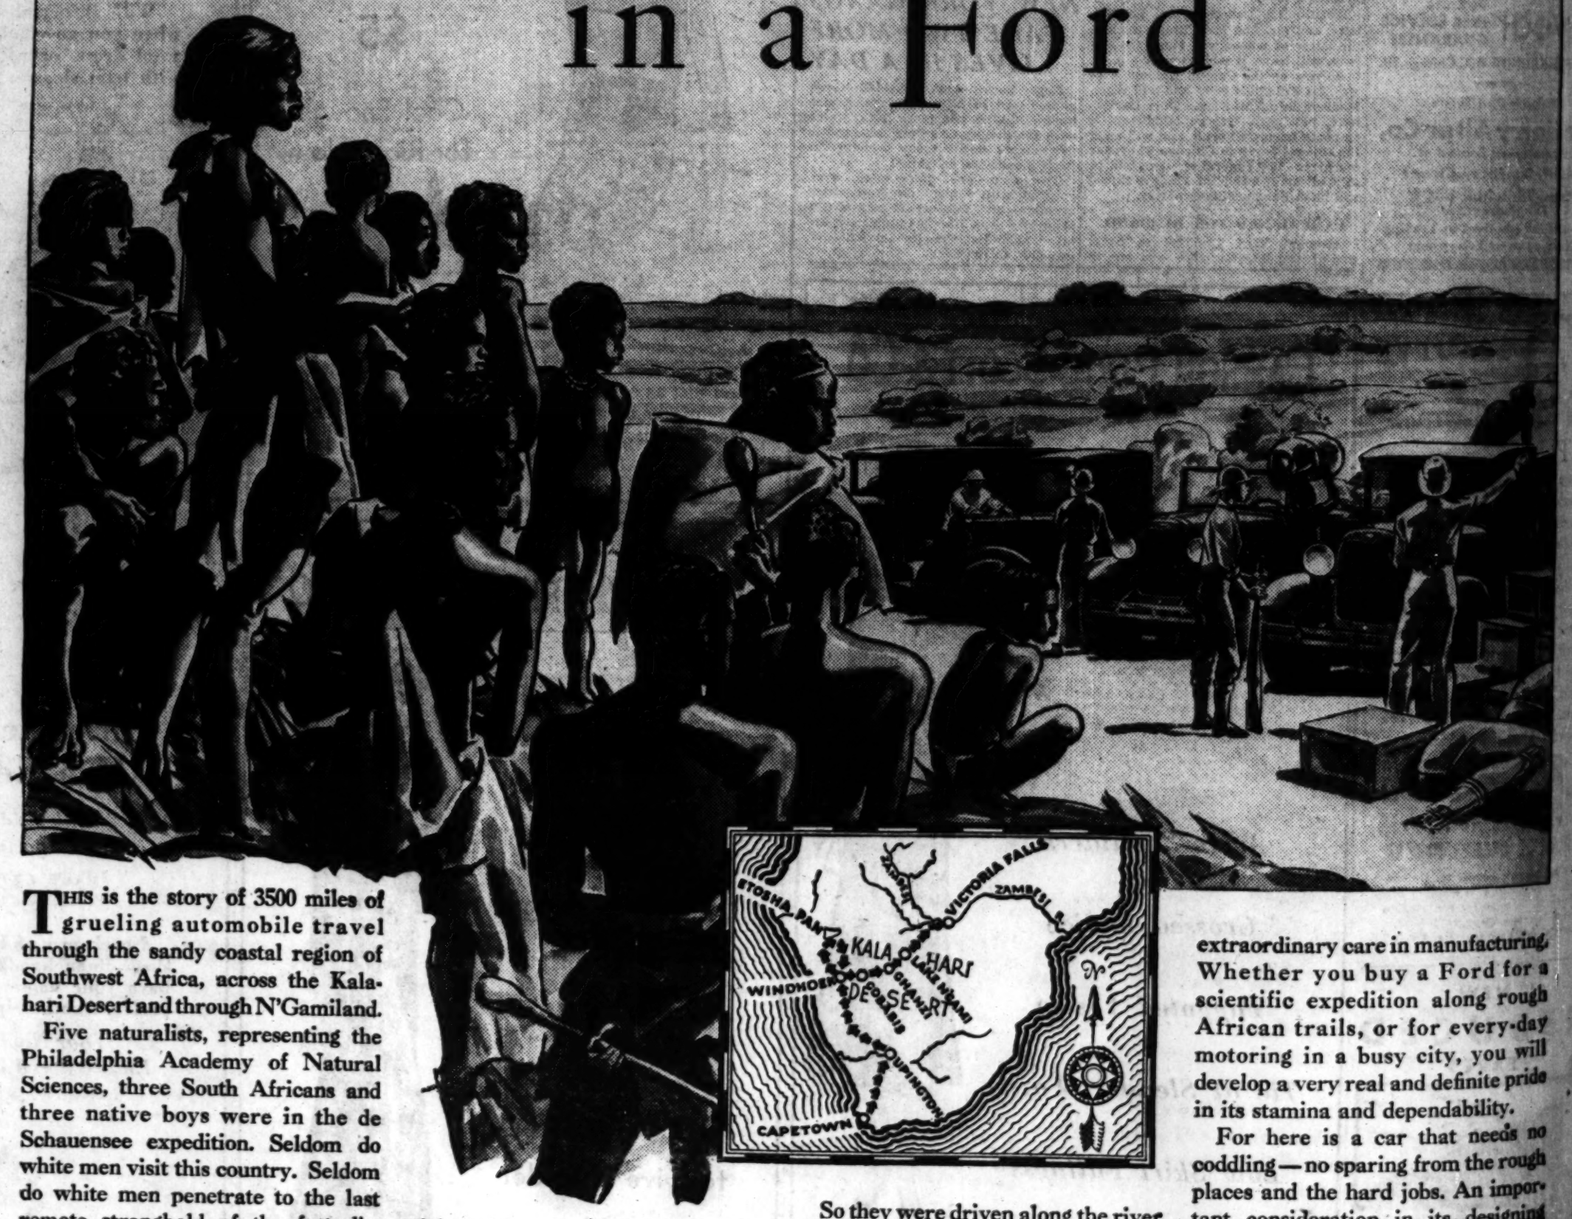
HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAINS

Across the Kalahari Desert in a Ford



THIS is the story of 3500 miles of grueling automobile travel through the sandy coastal region of Southwest Africa, across the Kalahari Desert and through N'Gamiland.

Five naturalists, representing the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences, three South Africans and three native boys were in the de Schauensee expedition. Seldom do white men visit this country. Seldom do white men penetrate to the last remote stronghold of the fast disappearing African Bushman. The trip was made in a Ford car and three Ford trucks.

Traveling over rough, irregular trails—leaving those trails to crash through tangled, thorny underbrush—traversing dry, parched areas that had not seen rain in years—the Fords made a remarkable record for stamina and reliable mechanical operation. Through days of summer heat and nights of freezing cold, on occasions when the water supply was almost gone and delay would have been fatal, the Fords went steadily on and on. And, finally, when the long trip was over, they were sold at good prices in the little village of Maun.

Never were sales made under similar conditions. The purchasers knew what the Fords had been through and sought proof of good condition after so many miles of strenuous travel.

So they were driven along the river trail, turned abruptly off into deep sand-beds—extricated without need of help—and subjected to other tests in this land of difficult transportation. Sales were quickly made after such a demonstration.

This is but one of many interesting stories about the ability of the Ford to stand up under the severest driving conditions. The extra demands of long, hard travel reveal the high quality of its materials and extraordinary care in manufacturing. Whether you buy a Ford for a scientific expedition along rough African trails, or for every-day motoring in a busy city, you will develop a very real and definite pride in its stamina and dependability.

For here is a car that needs no coddling—no sparing from the rough places and the hard jobs. An important consideration in its designing was the realization that it would be used by millions of people, in different ways, in every section of the world. So it is made with a reserve of strength and power beyond the needs of the average day.

That is the Ford policy. That is the secret of the long-lived satisfactory performance of the Ford. Every part is built to endure—to give you many thousands of miles of economical, care-free motoring.

GOV. ROOSEVELT HURLS POWER ISSUE AT HOOVER

Demands New York Hand in Canada Parley.

New York, Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, today tossed the water power issue right into the 1932 presidential campaign.

He made public his much-discussed letter to President Hoover, in which the New York state executive demanded that any secret negotiations with Canada be abandoned and that the state be given a voice in any settlement of the St. Lawrence power question with the neighboring dominion.

President Hoover, it has been reported, is in favor of a joint agreement between the United States and Canada to sell the St. Lawrence power rights to the highest bidder, with operations under private ownership. Gov. Roosevelt, on the other hand, advocates development of New York's state's share of the St. Lawrence power rights by the state, with full control by the state.

Dissatisfied with Castle's Reply.

It had been rumored for several days that the issue between the state and federal authorities had come to a head, but Gov. Roosevelt declined to make any statement until W. R. Castle, acting secretary of state at Washington, made public part of a letter he had written to the governor on the subject. The governor had written to President Hoover on Aug. 11 and the President turned the missive over to Mr. Castle. Mr. Castle's reply informed the governor that no negotiations were in progress and that when they were New York's interest would "not be neglected."

This reply did not satisfy Gov. Roosevelt and he today made public the text of his letter to President Hoover which turns the spotlight on the water power issue. Political observers say that if Gov. Roosevelt lands the Democratic presidential nomination and makes the race against Mr. Hoover as the Republican nominee he will single out water power in its national aspects as a prime campaign issue.

Gov. Roosevelt's Letter.

The governor's letter to President Hoover said:

"Referring to my letter to you of June 12, which was acknowledged by the secretary to the President under date of June 20, I beg to advise you that I have received the following letter from the power authority of the state of New York:

"'Sir—In your letter to the President under date of June 11, 1931, you requested him to appoint as a member of the proposed treaty commission with Canada, Mr. Delos M. Cosgrove, vice chairman of the power authority of the state of New York.

"'Since that date members of the power authority have held informal conversations in Canada looking to the furthering of plans for a dam in the international section of the St. Lawrence river.

"'In these conversations it has been made apparent that the governments of the United States and the Dominion of Canada are considering the abandonment of the appointment of treaty commissioners and the substitution therefor of direct negotiations through diplomatic channels alone between the federal governments of the two countries looking to the drafting of a treaty.

Cites New York's Interest.

"'May we again call your attention to the vital importance that the state of New York be represented in the negotiations with Canada and that this right is recognized in the fourth conclusion of the report of the United States St. Lawrence commission upon the development of a shipway from the great lakes to the sea, submitted by President Hoover, at that time secretary of commerce and chairman of the commission, of date Dec. 27, 1926, which reads as follows:

"'That negotiations should be entered into with Canada in an endeavor to arrive at agreements on all the subjects; that in such negotiations the United States should recognize the proper relations of New York to the power development in the international section.

"'This principle was reiterated on other occasions by Chairman Hoover.

"'Therefore, may we request that, as this whole question involves relationships between the state of New York and the United States government, you obtain for us, if possible, direct and early information regarding the negotiations between Washington and Ottawa.

Wants New York on Board.

"'We must repeat with definite emphasis that we adhere to the belief that a representative of New York should take part in the negotiations in view of the fact that state owned power development is equally involved with the navigation plans of the federal government.

"Very respectfully,

"'Frank P. Walsh, chairman.'

"In view of this whole matter, in which I concur, I would greatly appreciate it if you would be good enough to advise me of the status of the negotiations between the United States and Canada relating to drafting of a treaty covering the development of the St. Lawrence river in the international section for navigation and power purposes.

"I am, my dear Mr. President, faithfully yours,

"Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor."

Surprised at Castle Note.

The brief note of Acting Secretary of State Castle asserting that no negotiations were in progress came as a surprise here in view of the recent statement of Mr. Walsh that the power authority had been informed by Washington that efforts toward a treaty were rapidly nearing conclusion.

What New York state wants, it is asserted, is to insure itself a voice in the parleys so as to make certain that no undue delays prevent an early start on the proposed $171,000,000 state owned hydro-electric plant at Masena Point.

Gov. Roosevelt, it is indicated, still expects a formal reply from the White House.

GLOOMY POLITICAL NEWS BROUGHT HOOVER FROM EAST AND WEST

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Political reports brought to the White House by Republican congressmen and other callers during the last few days have been far from optimistic. On two occasions members of congress, one from the west and the other from the east, have spoken of the unpopularity of the party in their states.

Representative Allen T. Treadway [Rep., Mass.] spent close to half an hour with the President this morning discussing conditions in his state. According to friends of Treadway, the Massachusetts representative told the President that prospects looked bad for the Republicans in that state. Although efforts already are under way to boost President Hoover's political stock in that state in advance of the 1932 election, Mr. Treadway said the Democrats appear stronger than a year ago.

According to information reaching Washington from Massachusetts, county committees are being set up to work for President Hoover's renomination and reelection.

Reports received from Kansas members of congress also have been far from optimistic, largely due to the low price of wheat.

A week ago considerable speculation was aroused by the inclusion of Edward T. Clark, former private secretary to Calvin Coolidge, among the guests. The fact that Mr. Clark's invitation followed closely after the former Coolidge secretary had spent a few days with the Coolidges at Northampton added spice to the political gossip. It also was recalled at the time that Maj. James F. Coupal, former Coolidge physician, had given out an interview in Minnesota, indicating that Mr. Hoover's immediate predecessor was only waiting to be drafted.

PLEAD TO MOVE SLAYING TRIALS TO THWART MOB

Labor Trouble So Acute State Asks Change.

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Harlan county coal fields, sick with the general economic depression, as Circuit Judge D. C. Jones described it in charging the grand jury, was pictured by W. A. Brock, commonwealth's attorney, today as too feverish to permit the trials here of men facing death in the electric chair for slayings in the long drawn out labor controversy.

In a motion seeking change of venue for fifteen of thirty men indicted for murder as the result of a clash at Evarts, May 5, in which four died, Brock said there would be danger of mob violence if their trials are held here. There is too much feeling, he said, for an impartial jury to be drawn.

Defense Opposes Transfer.

The motions were set for hearing next Monday and M. F. Hall of defense counsel, said the defense would oppose the transfer of the cases but would demand that Judge Jones disqualify himself on the ground that he is connected with coal operators. The State Court of Appeals upheld Judge Jones last spring when he declined to disqualify himself in the labor cases.

William M. Gibbs, a miner, arrested in today's raids, was bound over to the grand jury in $5,000 appearance bond and $5,000 peace bond on charges of criminal syndicalism.

Officers testified they found several rifles and about 3,000 rounds of ammunition at his place and evidence that he was a member of the Communist party and I. W. W. Judge Jones declared federal courts should investigate with a view to indictment for sedition.

Dependent on Mines.

Agents of the National Miners' union, which Commonwealth's Attorney Brock declared is communistic and is believed to be a branch of I. W. W., have been actively seeking to organize the miners.

"I fear serious trouble when cold weather comes and garden crops are gone," commented Brock. "If these men would refuse to listen to radical agitators who are seeking to destroy the government and Christianity help could be found right here in Harlan, but as long as they follow these agitators I don't believe the good people of Harlan are going to aid them."

Toy Whistle in Child's Lungs Baffles Physicians

New York, Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Surgeons at Coney Island hospital are baffled by Patricia Dougherty, 5 years old, who last Friday swallowed a toy whistle. With every breath since that time the child has emitted a faint whistle. The whistle is located in the lungs and X-rays have been applied, showing the exact position.

Merchant Is Slain in Street; Assailant Flees

Dick Pong, 40 years old, 2246 Wentworth avenue, a Chinese merchant, was shot and killed last night in a fight at Alexander street and Wentworth avenue. His assailant, according to witnesses, was a white man, who fled.

HOUSEHOLD USE OF ELECTRICITY HIGHER, HOOVER INFORMED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—Special.]—Paul Clapp, general manager of the National Electric association, told President Hoover today that the domestic use of electricity during the first half of the current year had increased 8½ per cent above similar figures for the year before. The increase over a corresponding period in 1929, Mr. Clapp said, was 24½ per cent.

PAUL S. CLAPP.

The use of power for industrial purposes fell off 15 per cent during the first half of the year, according to the figures submitted to the President by Mr. Clapp. The improvement in the domestic use of power, however, Mr. Clapp said, counteracted the industrial losses to such an extent that gross earnings during the first half of the year fell off less than 1 per cent from gross earnings last year.

Mr. Clapp advised the President that the light and power organizations had more than completed the quota of building which they had promised to build during the first business conferences called by Mr. Hoover in 1929. He said building figures reached 950 millions last year and would run about 615 millions this year. The President asked as to 1932 building, but Mr. Clapp said it was still too early to answer that question.

DUBLIN, Aug. 18.—Renewed prosperity for the languishing Ford factory at Cork was foreshadowed by an announcement today by Sir Percival Perry, chairman, that the European company has decided to inaugurate general foundry and engineering work on a large scale. It was announced, however, that to meet keen specialized European competition the company is compelled to make a downward revision of salaries.

OFFICIALS JOIN DRIVE TO STOP GAS TAX EVASION

After obtaining the pledge of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson to aid in abolishing gasoline bootlegging, the tax evasion committee of the petroleum industry conferred yesterday afternoon with State's Attorney John A. Swanson, who also promised his support.

Gov. Emmerson attended an executive session of the committee, presided over by F. V. Martinek of the Standard Oil company at the Stevens hotel and, at the conclusion of the conference, told the committeemen:

"I am going to join with you in going to the bottom of this and am anxious to stop gasoline tax evasion."

Point Out Perils of Evasion.

The tax evasion committee, representing the Standard, Sinclair, Pure Oil, and Texas companies and the American Petroleum institute, reported to Gov. Emmerson that bootlegging of gasoline and dodging the 3 cent tax would result in unemployment, possible wage cuts and demoralization of the industry.

Immediate action to stamp out the evil would result in the collection of hundreds of thousands of dollars for Cook county and Illinois and would help to relieve the financial situation, the report said. Stimulation of unemployment was foreseen with the building of more roads as additional revenue became available.

Recommendations to Governor.

Specific recommendations made to the governor were as follows:

1. An audit of the motor fuel tax records of the department of finance and the railroads to determine what the state has lost through tax evasion.
2. Immediate prosecution of thirty-four gas tax evaders charged with defrauding the state of $50,000 to $150,000, whose cases have remained dormant for eleven months.
3. Apprehension and prosecution of all border runners.
4. Providing an adequate force to make certain the collection of all motor fuel taxes.
5. A state-wide investigation.

The tax evasion committee planned to meet later with Mayor Cermak and United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson.

Contracts for Work to Be Let in Few Days.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The state highway department opened bids this afternoon on $1,028,309 worth of road work in Cook, Lake and Kane counties for which contracts will be awarded within the next few days.

The opening of bids on $2,500,000 worth of downstate work was indefinitely postponed, due to a controversy between the state administration and some union labor officials over the "prevailing wage act" passed by the recent general assembly.

The metropolitan area work, on which there is no wage dispute since the union scale prevails, includes 13.11 miles of widening, 2.57 miles of new 40 foot road, 1.47 miles of 30 foot pavement, and 10.1 miles of two lane slab.

List of Road Projects.

WASHINGTON BOULEVARD — 25th avenue to Mannheim road, 1 mile.

ELGIN-EVANSTON ROAD—West from Niles Center, 6.49 miles.

ROUTE 47—Southwesterly from near Huntley, Kane county, 4.63 miles.

Wage Dispute up Today.

A board of three members appointed by the governor to hear disputes under the "prevailing wage act" is scheduled to take its first testimony tomorrow on protests filed by R. G. Soderstrom, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and a number of other union officials, mainly coal miners. The protests are against the minimum wage published by the state in its advertisements for road bids. Soderstrom contending that the state should pay the scale that prevailed before the boom broke two years ago.

However, the board may not meet tomorrow since mandamus proceedings have been filed attacking the governor's appointments to the wage body. The governor named two men recommended by the department of public works and one recommended by labor rather than one of the department's choice, one representative of labor and one spokesman for contractors as was intended by the "prevailing wage act."

SET WORLD RECORD FOR DISTANCE FLIGHT FROM SHIP TO SHORE

Boston, Mass., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—A new world's record for distance of flights from ship to shore was set up today by the plane "New York," catapulted from the decks of the North German Lloyd liner Bremen, 700 miles at sea, with 50 pounds of mail for Boston and New York.

Head winds somewhat impeded the plane's progress. The flying time for the 700 miles was slightly over seven hours. As the cruising radius is placed at 600 miles, the huge tanks in the wings were nearly dry when the plane roared down over the airport at 5:50 p. m.

SUIT TO REGAIN TAX OF 'EXPERTS' SAVED BY INCH

City Files New Brief to Rescue Case.

The city of Chicago's suit to recover $648,444 in federal income taxes paid by four city hall real estate "experts" in 1921 and 1922 was saved from rejection by the bureau of internal revenue yesterday by the timely appearance of Samuel P. Gurman, special assistant corporation counsel, in Washington.

The revenue bureau was about to dismiss the suit for want of action on the city's part, but Attorney Gurman discovered the notice of rejection, which was about to be sent out, and obtained its cancellation and leave to file a new brief.

Action to recover the taxes, plus interest, bringing the total to some $800,000, was begun in May, 1929, when a brief was drawn by Attorney Gurman and Special Assistant Corporation Counsel Jay A. Schiller, now a Municipal judge.

The suit contended that the taxes were paid by the experts, Arthur S. Merigold, Frank H. Mesce, Ernest H. Lyons, and Austin J. Lynch, on incomes from experts' fees which were later pronounced illegal and ordered refunded to the city treasury.

Former Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson blocked the city's suit at Washington, objecting to the brief's appellation of "faithless and unworthy officials" as applied to the "experts" and withdrew Schiller and Gurman. Frederick A. Bangs, who had once defended one of the experts, replaced them.

Bangs gave notice that he would file another brief, but this was not done. Attorney Gurman was authorized by the counsel in June to reopen the suit.

Robbers Return Checks Stolen from Dairy Co.

Robbers who obtained $2,073 and checks for a total of $3,000 in a holdup of the Wieland Dairy company office at 2056 West Railroad avenue, Evanston, on Monday returned the checks by mail yesterday. They didn't waste any of the cash on stamps, and Roy S. Fox, the cashier of the office, had to pay 15 cents postage.

HIGHWAY RELIEF PROJECT IS UP TO GOV. EMMERSON

$50,000,000 Road Fund to Be Available.

If Gov. Louis L. Emmerson decides to call a special session to act upon the tax troubles of Chicago and other cities of Illinois an effort will be made to persuade him to include in his call the subject of appropriating from gasoline tax funds for the construction of the west side elevated highway.

Several members of the assembly, interviewed yesterday on the importance of such an appropriation as a big step toward the relief of unemployment, pointed out that they were helpless unless the executive includes the subject as one of those for the consideration of the special session.

$50,000,000 Found Idle.

These members said they were informed that about $50,000,000 will be lying idle in the road fund this fall and winter and that they saw no legal obstacle in the way of an emergency appropriation. But they emphasized the fact that in trying to get anywhere with the project they will be butting their heads against a stone wall unless the governor consents to open the door for legislative action.

It is understood that while Gov. Emmerson has not committed himself on this question, his position now is similar to the one he took last May during the regular session, when he was unfriendly toward an appropriation for this purpose.

"I dislike very much to disagree with your views," he wrote at that time to James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, "but I feel that at this late date, when the road program has been made up for the coming biennium, it would not be practical to change it."

Road Program Tied Up.

Since that time the road program has been tied up by disputes over construction of the "prevailing rate of wages" bill passed by the regular session, and engineers say that the delay through most of the present construction season means that there will not be enough machinery available next year to complete the schedule outlined for the biennium, and that, therefore, funds tied up in this way will be available for the elevated highway.

If the Cook county delegation in the assembly decides to urge the governor to include this matter in his call it is probable there will be a caucus called, but that may be postponed two weeks or more until after the return of the legislative prison commission, now in Europe.

That commission includes Minority Leader Michael L. Igoe, who, it is said, might take a leading part in the movement, and Representative Edward M. Overland, author of the 1929 bill for the construction of the highway by bond issue. Traveling with the commission is Senator Thomas Courtney, minority leader of the upper house.

WBI Draft Arguments.

"I have discussed this subject with some of my associates," said Representative Henry Sonnenschein, personal secretary to Mayor Cermak, "and before a call is issued for a special session we probably will have a meeting to plan the presentation of our arguments to Gov. Emmerson."

"It is a matter of such grave importance that it certainly should be included in the call," said Representative John R. McSweeney."

Speaker Shanahan, who, because of his position, makes it a rule not to "take sides" on questions that may come before the legislature, expressed the hope that this subject would be gone into thoroughly.

Gem Salesman Kidnaped and Robbed of Jewelry

Frank Adamek, 47 years old, 5824 Newport avenue, a diamond salesman, was kidnaped by two men yesterday and robbed of jewelry valued at $750 and $125 in cash. Following his release near Lake Zurich, Adamek told police that he was kidnaped by two men who had offered him a ride.

Ex-Union Chief Held in Embezzlement Case

Dave Evans, former general secretary and treasurer of the International Union of Operating Engineers, was held in bond of $10,000 by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday for removal to Washington, D. C., where he is charged with embezzling $2,356 in union funds.

RULES GAYTON HELD ENGINEER'S POST ILLEGALLY

Civil Service Commission Demotes Him.

Loran D. Gayton, suspended city engineer, held that post illegally for two years, the civil service commission ruled yesterday in an order which directed that he be reduced to his former rank of engineer of water works design.

The ruling followed a hearing of charges made against Gayton by Commissioner of Public Works, Sprague. Commissioner Sprague's petition charged that Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works under the last city administration, used his official and personal influence" to bring about a fraudulent civil service examination, which resulted in the appointment of Gayton.

Held Not Eligible for Test.

The commission held that Gayton was not eligible to take that examination, held June 4, 1929, since it was open only to civil service employés of the grade immediately below that of city engineer, while Gayton stood several grades below.

Myron B. Reynolds, now acting city engineer, was the only other candidate in the examination. The commission yesterday took no action regarding making his appointment permanent.

Sprague Charges Unfairness.

The examination in 1929, Commissioner Sprague's petition charged, was "irregular, illegal, dishonest, unfair, and partial." Gayton and Reynolds were first given efficiency ratings of 95 per cent, but later Reynolds' rating was reduced to 80, while Wolfe sent a letter to the civil service commission asking that Gayton's be raised to 90, the petition charged.

Gayton, who had been receiving $10,000 a year as city engineer, will get $6,300 a year as engineer of water works design. He will displace O. B. Carlisle in that position, which Carlisle had held by temporary appointment since Gayton's promotion.

CERMAK DENIES CITY SANITARIUM MEALS ARE POOR

Economies at the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium have been accomplished by dismissing useless employés and not by cutting down on food bills, Mayor Cermak asserted yesterday in answer to a complaint that the meals served the patients there were of poor quality.

Yesterday, he said, the menu was: Breakfast, cantaloupe or oranges, hot or cold cereal, eggs, coffee, and toast; dinner, soup, roast beef, steak or pork chops, potatoes, vegetable salad, pie, coffee, or milk, and supper, cold meats, bread and butter, fruit salad an diea, coffee, or milk. In addition, the patients are given all the milk they wish between meals, and hot chocolate before they retire.

The mayor said that Ald. James C. Moreland [41st], who charged at Monday's council meeting that civil service regulations had been violated in the discharge of eleven laborers at the sanitarium, and Le Roy Milner, former superintendent of the institution, were sponsors for 350 employés there under the last administration, all living in the 41st ward.

"So many employés from one ward is bad politics," the mayor commented. "It shows that the last administration was inefficient politically as well as in other matters."

Body of Flood Control Engineer Is Taken Home

The body of James W. Billingsly, 51 years old, a consulting engineer, was taken to his home in New Orleans last night from St. Luke's hospital, where he died Monday night following a six months' illness. He was known for his work on Mississippi river flood control problems.

JUDGE PASSES SENTENCE OF 18 YEARS ON CORRY

Slayer, 15, Denied Plea for New Trial.

"It now becomes my duty to sentence you to serve 18 years in Joliet penitentiary——"

A slight frown appeared on the pale face of Varner Corry, the 15 year old boy who throughout his trial listened stoically to evidence that branded him the slayer of Policeman Edward Smith. He fidgetted and his lips trembled as Judge Joseph Sabath continued paternally:

"I have made careful arrangements to have you kept separated from criminals while you are there. I have ascertained that you will assist the prison chaplain in his duties and attend school in the mornings. When you come out I hope you will have learned your lesson and be able to start life anew. I have tried to give you every consideration possible."

Grants Stay for Appeal.

Thus Judge Sabath in the Criminal court yesterday passed formal sentence on the youth, after having denied a motion for a new trial.

A 90 day stay of execution was granted by Judge Sabath to enable young Corry's attorneys to appeal to the Supreme court.

The defense waived a jury in the trial of Corry, and the judge alone returned the murder verdict and fixed the penalty. Had a new trial been granted the defense, it is said, intended to submit the case to a jury.

Before passing sentence Judge Sabath replied to the defense contentions that improper evidence had been admitted, and that the punishment was too severe. "I have never given a case more serious consideration," Judge Sabath said. "I have practically slept with the case. After hearing the arguments and after my investigation I feel that the punishment meted out has been for the best interests of society."

Drop Charge Against 2 Others.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Adeline Corry, who is an art teacher in the public schools, wept bitterly when the judge concluded his remarks. Varner, in company with his brother, Earl, 13 years old, and Schuyler Pierson, 16 years old, broke into the John Marshall High school last Memorial day. Varner shot Policeman Smith to death when he tried to rout the boys from the swimming pool in the basement.

Charges of accessory to the murder of Policeman Smith against Earl Corry and young Pierson, who were present when the shooting occurred, were nol prossed on the suggestion of Assistant State's Attorney Elmer Holmgren.

2 MEN AND WOMAN ARE JAILED FOR RAPE OF 12 YEAR OLD GIRL

Robinson, Ill., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Two men and a woman were arrested here today charged with the rape of a twelve year old girl last night. Those arrested were: George McGovern, 26; Carl Myers, 24, and Dorothy Marie Jackson, 27.

The victim, Aletha Medlin, daughter of Clarence Medlin, was reported to be in a serious condition at the Allen Baptist sanitarium.

The victim's grandfather, William Waldrop, stated that before the girl lapsed into unconsciousness she named her attackers. He said the Jackson woman had been living at the Medlin home. She had taken the girl to a show last night. After the show the two were picked up by the two men, who took them to the country in an automobile.

PERSONALLY ESCORTED

Sailings June to September

CRUISE to the heart of Old French-Canada. We take you by rail to Toronto, Queen City of Canada, where your foreign adventure begins. You set sail on a luxurious steamer, one of the world's largest fresh water liners. You will visit, en route, Montreal—the metropolis, and the fortress city of Quebec, Gibraltar of North America.

You will cruise among the Thousand Islands—set like a thousand jewels in azure blue waters, experience the thrills of shooting the great St. Lawrence Rapids. Near Quebec you will pay your respects at the miracle shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupré and hear the thunder of Montmorency Falls, higher than Niagara.

Beyond Quebec the high Laurentians follow the St. Lawrence and we cruise in the shadow of these ancient mountains. The steamer puts in at fashionable Murray Bay, and quaint and lovely Tadoussac, Canada's oldest settlement. The glory of the Saguenay River, seen at sunset and again at dawn, is a spectacle to impress the most widely travelled. The wild grandeur of Trinity Bay, guarded by the tremendous capes, Trinity and Eternity—the ship's siren reverberating like giant laughter among the eternal hills—gives you a touch of the loneliness, austerity and beauty of the silent places.

A spirit of gaiety prevails for the entire journey, and there is not a dull moment on ship or shore. You dance every evening to the music of a lively orchestra. Delicious meals satisfy ravenous appetites. You will vote this the best vacation ever.

Remember, every expense on this enjoyable cruise has been foreseen and included in the figure quoted above, as well as stop-overs at important hotels en route. A courteous escort relieves you of every travel worry.

RECEIVER ASKED TO COLLECT RENT ON OLD TAX BILLS

Suits Are Filed Against Ten Properties.

Henry M. Ashton, special tax attorney for Cook county, filed suits in the superior court yesterday asking the appointment of receivers for ten properties on which taxes have been delinquent, in some cases for as long as twenty years. He asked that the receivers be empowered to collect the rents of the properties and pay to the county delinquent taxes, interest and penalties totaling $80,796.

ATTORNEY ASHTON

Included in the four pieces of property at 7th street and Prairie avenue owned by Albert H. Gloe, wealthy professional tax buyer. Gloe, who has offices at 30 North La Salle street, has paid taxes on the properties for eighteen years, the suits charge. His total payments to $18,627.

Other Properties Are Listed.

Other properties are vacant, but all of the others against which action was taken are producing income. The other properties are:

The Princeton apartment hotel, $17-19 West 66th street, owned by Charles Rosen, on which taxes are delinquent from 1919 to 1927, a total of $17,562.

Two frame cottages at 3210 and 3214 North Cicero avenue, owned by Bessie M. Murphy. Taxes have been delinquent from 1916 to 1926, with a total bill for the two properties of $1,567.

Two story frame residence at 4960 North Western avenue, rented at $75 a month, and owned by Frank J. Schmidt. The delinquent tax bill from 1915 to 1929 amounts to $3,049.

Brick building at 4661 North Western avenue, occupied by Schmidt as a real estate office. Taxes, delinquent from 1917 to 1923, amount to $5,624.

Two story frame house at 6121 Kenwood avenue, rented at $150 a month and owned by Mrs. Nellie R. Allen. Taxes, delinquent from 1911 to 1930, amount to $10,186.

Gives Views of Realty Board.

Burt Levy, president of the Chicago real estate board, said yesterday that the board would be glad to offer suggestions to the board of assessors in an effort to evaluate all the personal property in Cook county, but he refused to lend his support in forcing the return of personal property by schedules through the state's attorney's office.

He was asked if the real estate board would request the state's attorney's office to take action on the refusal of the banks to disclose the names of their depositors.

"We are opposed to the taking of savings accounts for assessment," he replied. "We wanted the assessment to be reasonable and equitable. We need the banks. We don't want to have them go out of existence. What we really want is an income tax which will place the burden of finance for the government where it belongs."

A Question for Assessors.

In a statement issued late in the day Mr. Levy said: "It seems to representatives of the Chicago real estate board that when the assessor takes the job of assessor he takes upon himself the burden of trying to find ways and means of carrying out the spirit of the oath of his office."

$3,000,000 for a cup of really fresh coffee

Read These Amazing Facts
(1) Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.
(2) Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.
All due to the attack of Oxygen!
Think of it—45% to 65% of the flavor gone from 9-day-old coffee.
IN 9 DAYS COFFEE IN OLD-FASHIONED CANS LOSES 45% OF ITS FLAVOR

The Amazing New VITA-FRESH PROCESS

. . . most important advance in the history of coffee
. . . Maxwell House brings you the first completely roaster-fresh coffee . . . always full flavor, full value, no matter when or where you buy it

A TRULY fresh cup of coffee—how delightful—how thoroughly satisfying—but until now virtually unattainable.

Many people have gone through life without ever once tasting really fresh coffee. But all can enjoy it now—for Maxwell House has invested $3,000,000 in developing a new method of coffee protection. Here we tell how and why this brings you greater coffee enjoyment than you have ever had before.

Oxygen—a greedy racketeer

Just read these amazing facts established in the laboratories of a leading Eastern University:

(1) Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.

(2) Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.

All due to the attack of Oxygen!

Think of it! 45% to 65% of the flavor gone from 9-day-old coffee. Even vacuum packing, a definite improvement over old-fashioned methods, removes only part of the air from the can, leaving sealed in enough Oxygen to cause flavor loss and deterioration.

The new Vita-Fresh Process removes the air so completely that the most rigid chemical analysis reveals no trace of Oxygen in the Vita-Fresh can after packing.

Remember—Oxygen is the destroyer of coffee freshness and flavor. The Vita-Fresh Process alone gives full protection to coffee goodness. Maxwell House and Maxwell House only gives you this guarantee of full flavor, full value in every pound.

Your first sip will be a taste thrill

Ask your grocer this very day for a pound of Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee and treat yourself and your family to the new delights of the finest coffee precisely as fresh as the moment it left the roasting ovens. Old friends, and new friends, of this famous Southern blend proclaim it a flavor revelation. You'll drink it with surprise and delight.

Try it at our risk

After trying Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee, if you and your family do not agree that it is the finest coffee you have ever tasted—simply return the can with unused portion to the grocer from whom you bought it and he will gladly return the full purchase price.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

TAXATION AND PROSPERITY.

Treasury experts estimate that income tax receipts for the fiscal year will run not less than $200,000,000 and perhaps $400,000,000 below those of 1930. Improvements in our international trade, with increased custom receipts brought about by hoped for betterments in European conditions and the low state of our importers' inventories, may partially offset this loss of revenue, but it is expected that the net result will be a revenue more than a billion dollars below contemplated government expenditures.

That prospect is serious occasion for reflection for every citizen of these United States. It should warn the American people that reckless government expenditure has brought us to a situation which has a dangerous resemblance to that in which Germany and Great Britain are fighting for mere solvency and escape from not only economic but political and social ruin.

We may take full account of the part played in our unfortunate condition by a worldwide depression, created largely by forces and events over which we have not had and cannot have control. But the important fact for us to grasp is that our own unrestrained and shortsighted public extravagance put us in a state in which these exterior and uncontrollable strains were able to overthrow our balance. Had we respected the vital relation of expenditure to a conservative estimate of reliable revenue, and had we therefore provided a safe margin and reserve against possible and even inevitable reaction, we should now have an unshaken and unshakable foundation.

But we lost our proper sense of proportion and under the pressure of every plausible demand for government expenditure we have steadily piled up our public debt, until now in this day of need it is an almost unbearable burden on the constructive energies of the nation. Heavy taxation, which is the result of inexpedient and inordinate public expenditures, is an obstruction to our recovery in every American community, as it has been a principal factor in the collapse of our prosperity. We have only to observe the shattering consequences of a similar course in Germany and Great Britain to realise that if we do not correct our habit and bring our expenditures, local, state and national, as well as personal, to a proper relation to normal income, we shall very soon find ourselves in precisely the predicament which is imperiling those countries.

We are not so far away from that condition now, and the nation should bend its will to this reform. The air is full of proposals for the correction or relief of present conditions by still further resorts to public spending. Individuals and classes in need and an army of economic and social doctors, in and out of politics, are all looking for help from government. To the many who do not see beyond the immediate situation most of these alleged remedies are plausible. But present conditions cannot be profitably corrected by measures which have brought us where we are. The greatest need of this time and the chief restorative of confidence and the constructive activity upon which reemployment and renewed prosperity depend is the halting of inordinate public spending. Every worker, every property holder, small and large, every business manager needs relief from the exactions which this public spending has imposed upon him and is still invited to increase by would-be benefactors of the people and by individuals willing to exploit misfortune for their own profit.

DODGING PROHIBITION.

While we are not able to share all of Mr. Henry W. Anderson's views regarding prohibition and alternative methods of liquor traffic control, we think he has done a public service of importance in emphasizing the Wickersham commission's failure to treat prohibition conditions courageously or constructively. The dismissal of the part the prohibition experiment plays in the growth of organised crime and official corruption with a paragraph is in itself an unmistakable confession of weak evasion. There is no need for a costly and pretentious inquiry into this aspect of crime, for it is the most obvious and notorious phenomenon in American society today. But the effort to avoid or belittle it goes some way toward discrediting the commission as a sincere and responsible agency of public information and guidance.

It is not the first or only evidence the commission has given of its lack of independence or of its susceptibility to considerations incompatible with candor and thoroughness. What was understood to be pledged by Mr. Hoover in his electoral campaign was a thoroughgoing inquiry into prohibition conditions. After election, when the inquiry was announced, we learned that it was to be broadened to include the whole field of law enforcement. There was no objection to that. But there is objection to evasion of the most urgent and serious aspect of lawlessness, that which has been created, fostered, and extended through the opportunities of the prohibition experiment.

THE PHILIPPINE PROBLEM.

Vicente Villamin, Philippine lawyer and economist, has told the Chicago Kiwanis club that while the United States is committed to the ultimate granting of Philippine independence, and that this is desired by the Philippine people, independence at this time "will automatically rob our industries of the American tariff protection, which is their life blood, bringing about their destruction and the plunging of the Filipino people into poverty and chaos." He holds that the Jones law of 1916, doing away with all trade restrictions between America and the islands, was a political blunder, because it set two forces running against each other, the political force, acting centrifugally away from America, and the economic force, acting centripetally toward economic union with the United States.

Mr. Villamin proposes a plan which provides first for the stopping of acreage expansion of the tariff protected industries in the island, such as sugar and cocoanut oil, which is comparatively easy to effect since the government controls more than 70 per cent of the land; and, second, the development of the unprotected products, such as rubber, coffee, quinine, camphor, spices, fibers, and other products not grown in the United States.

This policy he believes will meet the complaint of the American farmers against Philippine competition within the tariff wall and give time to the existing protected island industries to cultivate other markets than America and create in the islands the self-sustaining economic structure essential to independent existence.

"The Filipinos," says Mr. Villamin, "have received a fair and square deal from America. The American flag has meant to them religious freedom and civil liberty, peace and security, progress and prosperity, democracy and equal opportunity." Nevertheless, the Philippine peoples aspire to eventual independence, the freedom to govern themselves and shape their course in their own way. This aspiration Americans understand, for it has been our own, but in qualifying our pledge of independence we have assumed responsibility toward the Philippine peoples which cannot be honorably disregarded. We have promised to grant independence when the Filipinos are, in our judgment, able to maintain it, and this qualification involves at least the duty of not deliberately or unnecessarily imposing conditions which defeat the pledge. That would be a Machiavellianism which American opinion would not consciously support.

On the other hand, the duties and responsibilities do not belong all on the side of America, as a good many of the Filipino leaders, though not Mr. Villamin, seem to think. We have been bombarded for years by Philippine political leaders with demands for independence, for which, being in some danger of receiving it, they protest they are not ready, at least economically. We can allow something for the tactics of domestic politics, but the most conspicuous of the Philippine politicians have gone beyond reasonable allowance. They have played into the hands of American politicians and organizations which give little consideration to the very factors in their problem which they now tell us qualify their desire for independence, and they will have chiefly themselves to blame if these factors are ignored or underestimated by congress and the American public. There are substantial advantages to the United States in escaping at once from the political and economic responsibilities involved in our present relations with the islands, and these advantages have been impressed with increasing force upon the American mind by the cry for independence from the Philippines. American opinion in the main until recently has been preoccupied with its idealistic theories of American policy in the islands, but one-sided and unreasonable demands as well as the awakening of self-interest among such elements as the farmers are bringing a shift of political forces. Had Philippine political policy been directed by as sound a consideration of Philippine interests as Mr. Villamin presents, it would be considerably easier to work out a solution just and satisfactory to both countries.

COMPETENCE IN THE RUSSIAN SCHEME.

Rudzutak, assistant chairman of the council of people's commissars, in a speech to engineers and technical workers, said that an invitation would be extended to the engineers [if any] of the old Russian order to enter the communism of the new order and work with the proletariat if they will accept the socialist state. Many of the intelligentsia will be deaf to this invitation because the proletariat disposed of them years ago. Their troubles are over. They did not survive the first application of the theory that a perfect society could not tolerate the presence of persons able to make it run.

The doctrine that only incompetence was safe for humanity was properly regarded as brilliant if it worked. There were points of reasoning which it seemed to avoid, but it was interesting theory that the rewards should go to the people least able to get them, that congenital inability undisturbed by any attempt to correct it was entitled to the goods available to ingenuity, special training and intelligently directed effort. What the scheme has somehow missed are the goods, the rewards and profits. The people's commissars could limit the distribution of them to the comrades the more easily because there wasn't anything to distribute.

THE "INDISPENSABLE" MARINES.

[N. Y. Herald-Tribune.]

The members of the so called Fellowship of Reconciliation must have been surprised to receive word from Senor Barberena, Nicaraguan minister of finance, that the presence of the marines in his country is "highly beneficial," that their assistance at the next election is "indispensable," and that the establishment by the marines of a native police force "is one of the greatest favors for which we are indebted to the American government."

For the Fellowship of Reconciliation has been identified with that self-styled anti-imperialism which so distrusts American intentions that it raises its hands in horror whenever the United States attempts constructive action among less developed peoples. It has in the past, for example, interested itself in independence for the Philippines. It is perhaps not unkind, therefore, to presume that it expected to receive ammunition from the Nicaraguans wherewith to blast the American policy. Instead, it has received a ringing indorsement of the program so successfully initiated by President Coolidge.

Senor Barberena's reply once again illustrates a truth which is well known to those with first hand knowledge of Nicaragua: the opposition to American aid is primarily American in origin and its strength exists among certain uninformed and emotional elements in the United States. The Nicaraguans see clearly that their country can become a self-reliant state only through foreign assistance. They realize, for example, that order cannot be preserved without a police force.

WHY CHILDREN PLAY HOOKY

CHILDREN are truants because they are happier and better satisfied when they are away from school. A second reason is that they have not learned discipline, or, if they have, they are courageous and daring enough to disregard it.

Dr. H. S. Hulbert gives the following nine additional reasons for truancy:

1. Anti-social personality. Children of this type are against the school as being a part of the social organization. Truancy among those of this group is one of the least troubles the child brings on the family and society.

2. Feeble-mindedness. The feeble-minded child gets no pleasure out of school work and he absents himself because he is happier somewhere else. The children in the first group scheme and plan to keep away from school. Those of this group, in comparison, simply seem to wander away or to start for school without getting there.

3. The immature personality, as distinguished from feeble-mindedness. Among such personalities is the infantile type, the child whose emotional reactions at 10 years of age are those of a young child. Persons with adolescent personality types run away from college or will not take an education.

4. The paranoid personality. Such children regard themselves as superior. They run away from school because they feel teacher is unfair to them, their playmates do not like them, the going is against them, they don't get an even break, or some other reason.

5. Daydreaming. Some children play truant because the emotional luxury of daydreaming has destroyed all appetite for the commonplaces of the schoolroom.

6. Allied to the above, in its working out if not in its personality causation, is the urge to truancy because of self-disappointment, poverty, and general drabness.

7. Some superior children play truant. Mentally they are so far ahead of their schoolmates that the latter do not interest them, nor does the school work. The lessons are not difficult enough to intrigue them.

8. Some children are truants because of exceptionally bad conditions in their home. This home trouble may be because of quarreling or neglectful parents or parents that do not beget respect or love.

9. Bad companionship is responsible for much truancy.

Some children are truants because they are cowardly, weak, suggestible, and easily led. On the other hand, truancy may mean that a child has the courage to disobey parents, teachers, and the law. The truant is mentally, emotionally, or socially sick. There is need for mental and social hygiene.

GRAVEL IN THE URINE.

A Reader writes: Is there any remedy for gravel in the urine?

REPLY.

If gravel forms it should pass, else it might be cemented into stones. The diet to prevent the deposit of gravel depends on the chemical constitution of the gravel and, somewhat, upon that of the urine. The most frequently encountered gravel is that composed of uric acid and urates. To prevent this the diet should consist principally of vegetables, fruits, breads, cereals, fats, and sugars. The foods to be eaten sparingly, or not at all, are sweetbreads, liver, kidney, beef tea, roe, and eggs. Foods as to which there can be more leeway are sauces, meats generally, peas and beans, coffee, and tea.

In any event, a person subject to gravel should drink an abundance of water and should use no alcoholic beverages.

CONSTRUING WILL.

Chicago, July 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last December my wife's uncle died willing her $1,000. The clause reads as follows: "$500 to be paid to my niece after my death and $500 the following year." He died in December, 1930, and it now being 1931, wouldn't 1931 make it the following year? 1. The administrator claims that he will not pay out any money for one year. 2. Can't my wife get the $500 which he said was to be paid after his death now or will she have to wait a year? J. S.

1. Since one year is allowed for creditors to file claims, the administrator is not obliged to distribute any money until the expiration of such year.

2. No. The question whether the second $500 should be paid at once upon the expiration of the year for filing claims, so that both would be paid together, or whether an additional year should be permitted to elapse would depend upon the court's view as to the intention of the testator, based upon the wording of the entire will. If it appears that the testator considered it wise that a year should elapse between payments in order to reduce the chances that the entire amount would be used unwisely, then presumably an additional year would have to elapse.

Chicago, July 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What do we have to do to regain property sold for taxes? 2. What is the time limit in which to act? 3. What is the cost usually in such cases? A. R.

2. Two years.
3. The penalty depends on the bidding at the tax sale.

WATER SERVICE.

Chicago, July 27.—[Friend of the People.]—They are at present putting in water mains on 83d street from Kedzie to Western. We have filed a petition for water in the side streets, but do not seem to be able to secure information as to whether or not they are going to put in these mains. Will the water be put in on Artesian and Campbell avenues from 83d to the P. & O. tracks? G. W. F.

The water pipe extension division of this department has forwarded estimates of cost for water mains in Artesian and Campbell avenues from 83d street to the B. & O. railroad tracks to the board of local improvements. These estimates were forwarded to the board on April 13, 1931, but no public hearing has been held as yet. It is suggested that the writer keep in touch with the board of local improvements for information as to the progress of the proceedings for the laying of these special assessment water mains.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the gnips fall where they may. Grantland Rice

BANKS DECLINE TO REVEAL to the board of assessors deposits of their customers for personal property tax purposes. There's nothing surprising about that. Out in the township where we live, if a chap reported $1,000 in a savings account his personal property taxes on the amount would be more than his interest for the entire year. In the vernacular with which we are familiar, one wonders, "How did they get that way?"

Now another thing. We keep reading of efforts to devise new means of taxation for more revenue. Yet statistics are shown to prove that $1 out of every $5 earned in this period of depression already goes to some tax spending body. So, in our poor, feeble way, and with no deep understanding of economics, we wonder why reduction of public expenditures is not the obvious remedy.

"GENTLE BIRTH AND BREEDING" are prerequisites for entrance to a home for "elderly unmarried ladies" who have reached an age of 60 years, such home to be established from a fund of $2,500,000 provided in the will of Mrs. Suzanne King Bruwaert. Then it was thought necessary to secure a consensus of Chicago woman leaders on what constitutes gentle birth and breeding. Half a century ago such consideration would have been superfluous. Spinsters of gentle birth and breeding were recognized as such in every community. Complexities of modern civilization, perhaps even changing standards, have somewhat fogged gentle birth and breeding.

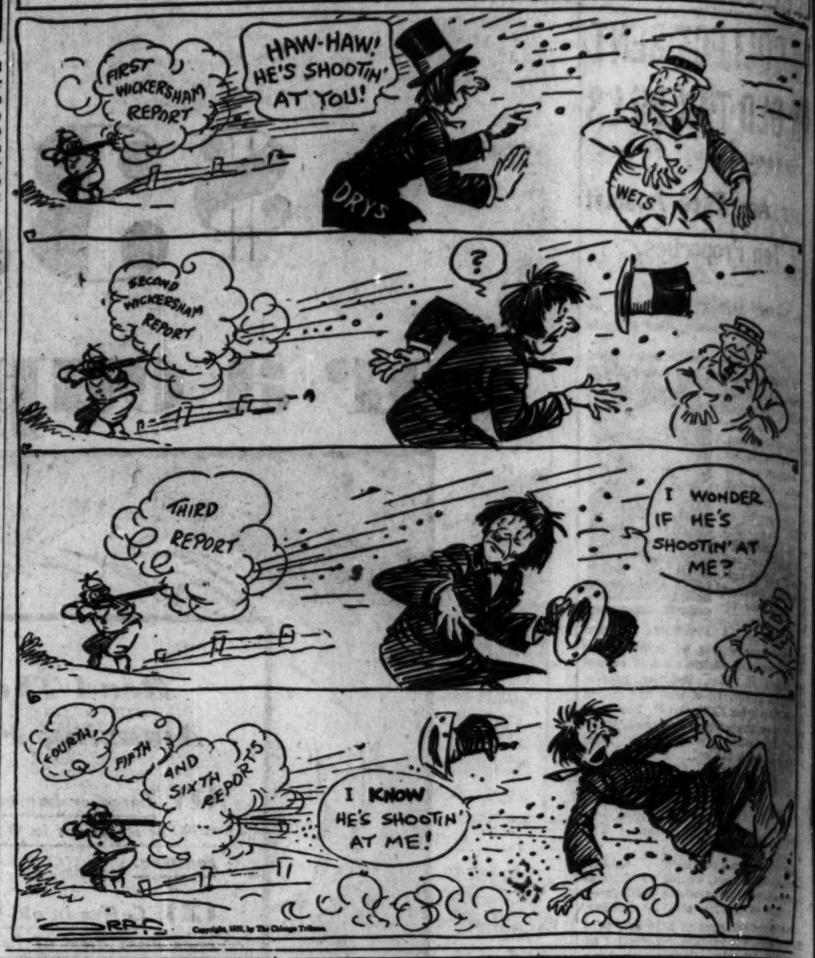
A QUESTION OF AIM



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 19, 1915.

HOUSTON, Tex.—There are 112 known dead in gulf and inland Texas towns as a result of the terrific hurricane which swept the lower part of the state on Aug. 16 and which did not recede until today. In Galveston fourteen persons were either drowned killed while the proper' loss was estimated at $15,000,000. Mayor Lewis Fisher proclaimed martial law because looting by Negroes had started. One report is that twenty Negroes caught looting stores were killed by soldiers. The total property loss in the various cities is set at more than $18,000,000.

LONDON.—The Russian armies are probably in a more desperate situation than they have been since the war began. Kovno, one of the greatest Russian fortresses, is lost and Brest-Litovsk is under the fire of Germany's destructive siege pieces. A Vienna dispatch says that the German forces advancing on the latter place have defeated the Russians to the west of the fortresses within range of the guns of the stronghold. However, a Petrograd dispatch says that the Russian forces are still holding fortifications at Jesia, two and one-half miles south of Kovno.

AUGUST 19, 1901.

VICTORIA, B. C.—As a result of a collision with an iceberg on Aug. 15, the steamer Islander, crack boat of the Canadian Pacific Navigation company, sank and carried down to death seventy of its passengers and crew. The ship hit the floating mass of ice just before dawn in a heavy fog. An immense hole was torn in the bow of the vessel and just as the boats were lowered a terrific explosion occurred, killing several persons who otherwise might have been saved. The steamer Flossie picked up forty survivors drifting around in open boats without oars or sails.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—After an absence of three years and two months, Maj. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, recently governor general of the Philippine islands, returned to the United States on the transport Sheridan. He declares that the islands are rapidly returning to peaceful conditions and that the insurrection is practically at an end.

QUITO, Ecuador.—A force of Ecuadorian troops is ready to invade Colombia and a battle is imminent near Pasto, just beyond the Colombian frontier and 150 miles northeast of Quito.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 19, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—The condition of President Garfield at midnight showed considerable improvement. He took nine ounces of liquid food during the day and it was readily assimilated. There was no recurrence of the nausea or of vomiting. The fact that the President asked for koumiss and partook of it with relish was regarded by his physicians as a hopeful sign. The pulse and temperature were much better than the day before. An inflammation of the parotid gland which appeared during the afternoon caused considerable uneasiness, but the physicians did not regard it as especially discouraging.

CHICAGO.—Several of the judges of the Circuit and Superior courts favor a change in hours of holding court sessions, and some of them, notably Judge Murray F. Tuley, strongly advocate it. The present hours are from 10 a. m. to noon, and from 2 until 4 or 5 p. m. It is proposed to have one session a day, lasting from 9 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. The present hours result in a great waste of time for lawyers, who are virtually compelled to be in constant attendance, while the judges have only their evenings to examine cases off the bench.

CHICAGO.—To date this year 2,850 saloon licenses have been issued. During the same time 13,752 dogs have been licensed.

CHICAGO.—H. L. Dickinson of the well known life insurance firm of Stearns & Dickinson died at his home, 104 Warren avenue, at the age of 45. He was widely known in business circles of the city and was universally respected.

MEALS AT THE SANITARIUM.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—A letter published in the Voice of the People on Friday, Aug. 14, criticized the management of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium as to the type of food being served.

For the information of the public we wish to state that the menu for the particular Friday which was mentioned in the article was as follows:

Breakfast—Fruit, farina, eggs, toast, butter, coffee or milk.

Lunch—Tomato soup, pot roast, fish, green beans, steamed potatoes, apple pie, tea or milk.

Dinner—Broth with noodles, macaroni and cheese, vegetable salad, fruit, cake, tea or milk.

It has been the policy of the board of directors to purchase the best foods, of the highest quality. The milk served at the sanitarium is under contract and calls for a 3.6 butter fat. The butter used at the sanitarium is a .93 score, which is the highest grade of butter obtainable. As far as meats are concerned, the purchase of meat is made on a three month contract and it is supplied by the large packers in Chicago. Specifications call for the best quality of meat, and if, on delivery, it does not meet with the approval of the dietitian it is rejected. Fresh fruits, vegetables, and eggs are being furnished directly from the truck gardening and poultry farm at the sanitarium. All diets are under the supervision of a graduate dietitian.

THE TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—My interest in the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium parallels very closely that of your correspondent of Aug. 11, published in THE TRIBUNE today, and his report was confirmed by information I received upon my recent visit to the sanitarium. There seems to have been a marked lowering in the quality and quantity of food served, and a consequent nervous and mental reaction upon the patients which is certain to retard their progress; thus any present dollars and cents saving to the city will be more than offset by the longer stay of convalescent patients and the retrogression of those who must depend upon the city for their progress.

Mayor Cermak, in his former office, has demonstrated so fine an interest in and understanding of the public welfare that if demoralized conditions at the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium could be brought to his personal knowledge I feel sure its former standard would not only be immediately restored, but that he would take pride in making it the outstanding institution of its kind in the country. LABOR AND JOBS.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—I was much interested in your morning editorial on the theater controversy. It seems that the adherents of the doctrine that management must assume the responsibility for profitable production after a fixed wage and prescribed number of employes have been set are not only undismayed by the complete failure of this theory in practice but also fail utterly to see the fallacy in their own logic, if it can be called logic.

Their mistake lies in a confusion of cause and effect. Production is not the result of the demand of humans for employment, but arises rather from a different type of demand, that demand of the human being for articles and services which will satisfy his wants. It is when such demands arise and become evident that production is given the incentive. Then, and not till then, does the labor element become necessary. We cannot cause production by compulsory acceptance of labor, and we only cause destruction by forcing more labor cost than the enterprise can bear with relation to sale of its goods or service. Thus it is management's duty to see that the labor is adequate for the enterprise, rather than that the enterprise is made adequate for a previously specified amount of labor.

If Mr. Maloy and his associates would exert some of their superabundant energies toward creating a greater public demand for theater service rather than for this unionist demand for employment there would soon arise a call for theater employés which would more than satisfy their desires. R. C.

BEER.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Mr. F. D. L. Spiro of the American Business Men's Prohibition Foundation states: "The editorial in question completely ignores the disastrously competitive effect upon legitimate business which would at once be produced by the relegalising of 260,000 wide open, law protected beer selling saloons." There is the whole situation in a nutshell. It is merely telling us, a citizen of the United States and a firm believer in individual rights, that I have no right to buy a glass of beer because he believes I should save that nickel so that I can eventually buy an automobile, a radio, etc., even though I prefer a daily glass of beer in preference to those luxuries.

May I ask Mr. Squires if it would not be better to legalize beer, so that the vast sums of money that are now being concentrated into the pocketbooks of a few gangsters go into the hands of many individuals and into the federal treasury? H. F.

"For Sale" Exploits Any Napoleonic Father.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"For Sale," by Compton Mackenzie [Doubleday Doran], published tomorrow.

It is a terrible handicap to appear with the tag which "For Sale" has attached to it. "'The funniest book of the year,' say the London critics," is praise which it takes a volume of vast parts to live up to. Label a woman Miss Cosmos and, while all of the men and a good many of the women will go into mob formation to see her, all of the women and a good many of the men will agree privately that, far from being the world's greatest beauty, she has little over Sister Mae or that cute little waitress in the Dizzy Dome speakeasy. The hardest thing in the world is to fulfill the promise of enthusiastic superlatives.

COMPTON MACKENZIE.

"The funniest book of the year" rates a reader skeptical, like the author of a man who prefaces a good yarn by "This is the funniest story in the world." "Prove it to me," says the reader unconsciously.

If "For Sale" weren't thus handicapped by assurances of its superlative humor, however, it well might win them for itself, for it is a funny book, the kind of funniness that its author, Compton Mackenzie, put into "Sor Relations," which, if you read it a few years ago, you still remember as something that gave you a stitch in the side. "For Sale" isn't quite as at least—quite so likely to bring apoplexy, but it is funnier than three-fourths of the humorous puns of the day.

The "For Sale" sign was worn by a place in the country which bore the name of Canadian Cottage until it became the property of Mr. Waterall, one of the gentlemen who browbeat their wives and their children and render themselves Napoleonic on account of their families' involuntary subservience. When Mr. Waterall saw the advertisement of Canadian Cottage "For Sale" he immediately made up his mind to buy it—before he saw it even he was convinced that it would be the estate of his dreams. So thoroughly was he convinced of that fact immediately it was his, the name was changed to Dream Days, to the complete disgust and chagrin of all his sons "who were at the age," says Mr. Mackenzie, "when facetious fathers are not esteemed by their sons." Those two sons, Ralph and Roger, are responsible for much of the humor in the book, because not only were they at an age when they saw through their father's bumptiousness, but they were also at an age when putting snails in the cook's bed and pepper on her pillow were, to them, soul stirring joys.

One of the most amusing characters in the book is a gentleman by the name of Ryan [owner of an adjacent estate to "Dream Days"—the estates being about as large as a city lot]. He was a writer of jingles for the music halls and mottoes for crackers. When he achieved a small legacy he went rural and very wet. He was the local drunkard and he had hallucinations, not only about pink and green spotted mice and lemon colored bears which he vowed had been let loose by his nephew in the room which he greatly designated as his sitting room, but he had a strange notion that he was harboring bees in his insides.

Ryan "intended to write an epic about the Spanish Armada. But somehow it has not yet been written. Of course," he added, "Macaulay never finished his poem about it either. Funny thing two poets should both get stuck like that over the Spanish Armada."

Another grandly amusing character is Mrs. Hamper and her nephew whom Mr. Ryan and the boys met in a music hall in London the evening that they played hookey. They found that Mrs. Hamper was a widow whose husband "went around the corner to have a drink two weeks after we were married and I've never seen the artful dodger since. It was my own fault, in a way, for I wanted to test his affection and I told him that I'd lost all my money. That's over thirty years ago now, but I've enjoyed ever minute of it, and which is more than most wives can say."

Most of the action of "For Sale" takes place in the country, although it subsides up to London now and again.

More Women Than Men in Several States

Census Figures Reveal Changed U. S. Trend.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—A female population increasing more rapidly than the male was revealed today by the census bureau.

Whereas in 1920 there were 104 men and boys to each 100 women and girls, that sex ratio now stands at 102.5.

Even in Nevada, which had a ratio of 148.4 men to each 100 women ten years ago, the males now outnumber by only 140.2 to 100. No other state even approximated the Nevada preponderance, though Wyoming with 123.8 and Montana with 120 brought echoes of the days when the plains chiefly heard the cowboy sing to restless herds.

Back in 1880 Montana had 256.6 males to each 100 females, Wyoming had 213, and Nevada 207.5.

The District of Columbia in the last census had but 90.9 men to each 100 women; Massachusetts had 95.1, Rhode Island 95.2.

There were 1,499,114 more males, however, than females in the 122,775,046 population of the entire United States.

The Negro population comprised 5,855,669 males and 6,035,474 females, or 97 males per 100 females, as compared with 99.2 in 1920.

Sectionally, the north had approximately the same sex ratio as the country at large; the south had a relatively higher proportion of females; the west a relatively higher proportion of males.

An item yesterday stated that burglars broke into the home of Samuel Levin in the Pine North apartment hotel at 165 North Pine avenue and stole jewelry valued at $1,300. The Samuel Levin mentioned is not the gasoline merchant who formerly lived at that address and was kidnaped and held for ransom. He moved June 25. The Samuel Levin who was the victim of the burglars is head of a beverage company at 905 South Marshfield avenue.

War on Ragweed Helps the Jobless, Aids Chicago Health

Several hundred men are being employed in groups of twenty or less for periods of a few days to pull ragweed in various parts of the city under the employ of members of the prevention of hay fever committee of the Chicago Woman's club.

"If the weed is only cut it comes up next year," said Mrs. A. S. Park, chairman of the committee. "We are anxious to arouse persons to become ragweed conscious, so that they will notify the health department of any vacant property in their neighborhoods where ragweed is allowed to grow profusely. The health department then will notify the owners to cut the weeds, in accordance with an ordinance prohibiting the growth of noxious weeds on any vacant lot."

The dwarf ragweed resembles a rose geranium in the shape of its leaf and grows along the edges of sidewalks, Mrs. Park said. Pollen from ragweed causes 90 per cent of cases of hay fever symptoms.

Authorities on hay fever point out that 80 per cent of hay fever sufferers can be cured of their susceptibility to pollen proteins if treatment is continued long enough. Free hay fever clinics are located at the University of Illinois Research hospital, the University of Chicago, Northwestern university, Michael Reese hospital, Mercy free dispensary, Post Graduate hospital dispensary, Central free dispensary, and elsewhere.

Science Viking Finds Icebergs Run Aground

Explains Why Sea Travel Lanes Are Safer.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Out of the fog and chill winds of Davis strait, a bronzed adventurer returned here today with a story of unusual conditions in the subarctic which have made the north Atlantic steamship lanes more free from icebergs this year than ever before in recorded history.

He is Olva Mosby, 34 years old, a 6 foot blond, senior oceanographer of the United States coastal survey service. He made the trip aboard the cutter General Greene and is believed to be the first Norwegian honored by a similar appointment.

It was Mosby's first trip under the United States flag, but by no means his first to the far north. For ten years he has sought to penetrate the mysteries of weather vagaries in the arctic and subarctic, much of the time as chief oceanographer to Fridjof Nansen, whom he met while working his way through the University of Norway at Oslo.

The General Greene left Boston in March for a preliminary survey of conditions on the Grand Banks and also to assist in locating icebergs. Eventually reaching Resolution Island, more than 2,000 depth soundings were taken and thousands of temperature and drift observations made. Numerous icebergs were sighted grounded in inlets and bays along the coast where the absence of drift ice during the winter had allowed them to enter and become stranded.

Certain surprising depths were discovered, particularly in Hudson strait, where the fathometer reported a number of places of 400 fathoms where it had been thought the water was shallower.

In the Davis strait depths of between 2,200 and 2,500 fathoms were found. A fathom is 6 feet.

One of the personal thrills of the expedition came to Mosby when, while exploring Norse ruins in Greenland, he uncovered a small slab of dark granite hewn from a quarry hundreds of years before the recorded discovery of America. It was one of the few trophies he brought back.

Mosby hopes soon to rejoin his bride of a year and a half who has been awaiting his return at Block Island. Mrs. Mosby is a niece of Joahn Mowinckel, former prime minister of Norway.

PAUL WHITEMAN AND SCREEN ACTRESS WED; RECEIVE PIG AS GIFT

Denver, Col., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Paul Whiteman and Margaret Livingston, screen beauty, were married late today in the house that Jazz built.

Only members of the Whiteman and Livingston families were present at the Methodist ceremony, performed in the fine suburban home the master of ultra modern music gave to his 74 year old father, Wilberforce J. Whiteman.

The bride, who wore a dress of eggshell flat crêpe, was twenty-three minutes late in arriving for the ceremony.

"I'll take an airplane," she informed the nervous bridegroom by telephone from the Brown Palace hotel, twelve minutes after five o'clock, the hour set for the nuptials. The Whiteman home is ten miles from the hotel.

Wilberforce Whiteman, one time director of music in Trinity Methodist church here, taught his son Paul virtually all that he knows of music.

The Rev. Dr. George B. Vosburgh, old friend of the family, read the service held in the solarium, from the windows of which one can see clearly the towering peaks of the Rockies to the west.

A truly rural spirit was injected into the very informal affair by the gift of a pet red pig to the couple by Col. W. B. Estes, formerly of Oklahoma City. His daughter, Avon, a freckled faced youngster of 4, made the presentation of the porker. Paul christened the squealing animal "Jazz Princess."

The marriage license was issued only an hour before the ceremony at Littleton, where Paul said he was 41 years old and the bride 29.

Paul and Miss Livingston arrived today from Chicago. Mrs. Edith Livingston, the bride's mother, and Mrs. Ivy Battersby, her sister, and other members of the Livingston family arrived yesterday from California.

Carveth Wells Movie Depicts Safest Africa

Lion Mannerly Unless One Disturbs Them.

BY ROBERTA NANGLE.

"Hell Below Zero," a 30 minute extra feature on the current Roosevelt bill, is an African travelogue that holds up the mirror of authenticity to other African travelogues and tears another hole in the familiar movie yarn about the horrors of the dark continent.

The picture is a matter of fact record of Carveth Wells' expedition to the Mountains of the Moon under the auspices of the Milwaukee Public museum and the Geographic society of Chicago. Mr. Wells does a Burton Holmes in sound accompaniment to the picture, which is well worth attending, both for the beauty of the vegetation on the snow capped mountains and for the explorer's amusing comments on the comfort and safety of travel in Africa.

He shows, for instance, that lion hunting need not be dangerous, and that no animal is savage if you don't bother him. Honest travelers and explorers have been hinting for some time that life in Africa need involve no perils from the natives or the animals, but this is the first time the unexciting truth has been pointed out in a film for commercial exhibition.

The Cinema Art theater announces a memorial performance of "The Son of the Sheik," another Valentino movie, on Monday afternoon.

Lack of Students Closing St. Mary's Episcopal School

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—St. Mary's school at Knoxville, near here, 75 year old Episcopal school for girls, will not open this fall. This was learned today. Teachers received notices to that effect. Bishop Edward Fawcett of the Quincy diocese has called a meeting of the trustees for this city next week to consider the situation. The school was founded by Alexander Ewing in 1856. In 1864 its name was changed to St. Mary's by C. W. Leffingwell, who took over its management and made it a leading fashionable school in the middle west. Declining enrollment is said to be the reason for closing.

THE STAGE

MONDAY, Oct. 19, is the date that the Chicago Civic Shakespeare society has selected for the opening of its third season in its own home town. Trial heats and preliminary canters will be run off at Fort Wayne, Cleveland and Detroit before the Chicago premiere.

This year the company will have four stars instead of one, and, as has already been announced, they will be Frits Leiber, William Faversham, Tyrone Power and Helen Menken. Six new names have been added to the roster for roles of secondary importance; they are Pedro de Cardoba, Whitford Kane, Viola Roach, Edith Campbell, Gordon Burby and France Bendtsen—seasoned players of extensive Shakespeare experience. Then comes the rank and file, all survivors of the earlier Leiberian groups—Hart Jenks, John Burke, John Forrest, Claudius Mintz, Frank Peters, Ralph Mensing, Thayer Roberts, John Bryan, Virginia Stevens, Lionel Ince and Olga Lee. Last season's leading women—Virginia Bronson, Mary Hone, Ingeborg Torrup and Virgilia Chew—are missing.

The technical staff will include George Vivian, a veteran of Ben Greet's many tours, as stage director; Sidney Mansfield as assistant stage director, and Dorothy Martin as art director. Max Faetkenheuer continues as business manager of the organization, and Harley L. Clarke is still its patron saint.

The Chicago season will be followed by a tour that will range as far south as New Orleans and as far east as Boston. A four weeks' stay in New York is included in the plan.

Margaret Anglin's plan to tour in "Elizabeth the Queen" and "Henry VIII." has a Chicago flavor. She will appear under the management of the newly formed firm of Minturn, Harrison and Gaskell—fellow citizens all. Harry Minturn has been active as a dramatic stock company actor and manager in this city for the past seven years or more. Harry P. Harrison represents the Redpath bureau in Chicago. Mr. Gaskell's name recalls the firm of Gaskell & McVitty, which sent such plays as "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" on tour out of Chicago in the pre-war period. He is returning to theatrical management after a retirement of ten years.

After Miss Anglin has traveled to her heart's content in "Elizabeth the Queen" and "Henry VIII." she will appear at the Metropolitan Opera house, New York, in a production of Euripides' "Medea." All of which sounds like the projected renaissance of a great actress.

Arthur Hopkins' first production of the new season will be "Mah on Stilts," a play by Edwin L. and Albert Barker, who are to be identified as Chicago advertising men. It will begin a New York engagement at the Plymouth theater Sept. 9. In the cast are Harry Ellerbe, Flora Zabelle [Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock], Helen Dodge, Lillian Emerson, Hobart Cavanaugh, Edna Heinemann and Robert Cummings. C. C.

Educator Defends College Grads as Good Reasoners

Cleveland, O., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The college senior, whose intellectual attainments recently were belittled by the Carnegie Foundation, has found an ally, Dean W. G. Leutner of Western Reserve university.

Dean Leutner did not know what questions the foundation put to the students. But he did hold that seniors, and graduates, were not stupid.

"The knowledge of individual facts is less valuable than the ability to reason from facts," he declared.

"Many people have an exaggerated notion of the factual knowledge possessed by a college senior. I must admit that the factual knowledge possessed by college men and women is sometimes disappointingly small."

OYSTER SAVING URGED TO AVERT PRICE OF $2.50 DOZ. IN FUTURE

Sayville, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The oyster was given a new rôle today as guardian of beach and river water purity much as canary birds warn miners against poison gas.

The bivalve's ability to detect pollution too slight even for a microscope was explained in scientific papers at the annual convention of the National Shell Fisheries association and the Oyster Growers and Dealers Association of North America.

Howard W. Beach, president of the Oyster Growers and Dealers association, said in twenty-five years, unless there is conservation, oysters likely will sell for $2.50 a dozen.

"Until the middle of the eighties," he added, "the supply of oysters seemed inexhaustible. Now the supply is shrinking steadily and government authorities are apprehensive that this useful food may before long be virtually exterminated."

Real Parisian Gigolo Enters Hotel Contest

Another Candidate Fails to Tell His Wife.

The number of men in Chicago who would be gigolos on a regular salary basis in the Hotel Sherman was swelled yesterday and Monday by more than 125 new candidates in the contest being conducted by that hotel. The winners will be employed.

"We had one perfectly lovely applicant," said Miss Dorothy Gulman, who conducts the contest. "He used to be a gigolo in Paris. He has the nicest French accent, and wears beautiful clothes, and is so courteous. Monday he applied and today he brought me a bottle of French perfume and a box of powder. He knows just how to treat women."

Then there was an Englishman who said he'd been to an English university and spent lots of time dancing in London; and a New York man who wrote that he used to be a gigolo in Paris, had reformed, but now wanted to get back into the business.

"But some of them who applied this week never have danced before in their lives," Miss Gulman said. "Some are terrible looking—and old, you know. But they all think they're good, and that women can't wait to dance with them. There's a 45 year old Greek who runs a fruit stand who's most confident."

Due to an experience she had in calling up one of the candidates to ask him to come down to pose for a picture, the contest manager said she was going to eliminate all married men from the contest, "to avoid confusion."

"This man's wife answered the phone," she explained, "and said her husband wasn't there. 'Is it about a job?' she asked me. So I told her, 'Yes, the gigolo job.' Well, she was furious. Can you imagine? He hadn't told her a thing about it."

Public Schools Close Summer Sessions on Friday; 391 Graduates

Summer sessions in all Chicago public schools will be concluded Friday. There will be 391 students graduated from the twelve senior high schools which have held summer sessions, 181 students from the eight junior high schools which were kept open and 32 will receive diplomas from Crane Junior college.

The end of the week also will see the close of what Supt. William J. Bogan described as a highly successful educational innovation, the Lewis-Champlin Experimental school. Under a plan devised and worked out by Supt. Bogan, 200 children ranging in age from 6 to 10 and by grade from the first to the sixth studied, played, lunched, napped, visited the Field museum, the Art institute, factories, steel mills and even farms. The sessions lasted from 9 in the morning to 3 in the afternoon each day. Mrs. Edna Myers headed the corps of ten teachers.

The plan attracted attention in educational circles. Mrs. Lucy Retting, director of summer playgrounds for the school committee of the Child Study Association of America, spent the week here from New York visiting the school and conferring with Supt Bogan. The experiment will be continued in the Lewis-Champlin school, 320 West Englewood avenue, this fall, according to Supt. Bogan, and if it continues successful will be adopted gradually into other schools.

Fur Dealers Talk of Pelt Scarcity, 'Prices at Bottom'

Leaders in the fur industry yesterday declared that fur prices can go no lower.

"There is a shortage of muskrat, especially in Wisconsin and Massachusetts, because various counties have placed a ban on trapping," Louis E. Himmel, president of the Associated Fur Industries of Chicago, explained. "This also is true of other fur bearing animals, both domestic and foreign. The fact that the new styles demand more fur further complicates the situation."

Other Chicago furriers said that the catch of muskrats, that become "Hudson seal" when dyed, is 30 to 35 per cent short this year.

Hopes Alabama Will Send Exhibits to Chicago Fair

Hope that the state of Alabama will have an exhibition at the Century of Progress exposition to be held in Chicago in 1933 was expressed yesterday by Mayor Leon Schwarz of Mobile. After a tour of the exposition grounds under the guidance of Lenox R. Lahr, general manager of the fair, Mayor Schwarz said arrangements had been made for a conference with Gov. B. M. Miller of Alabama next month on the subject of an appropriation for the exposition.

Playing With Fire

By WILLIAM MAC LEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Doris Silver, a dude ranch guest, is rescued from a runaway horse by a handsome stranger, much to the annoyance of her companion, Ranse Brennan. The stranger meets Lee Reynolds, owner of the dude ranch, and fixes a flat tire on her car. She hires him to help on the Lazy R ranch.

INSTALLMENT III.

THE LITTLE BOSS.

"I don't claim to be a champeen roper," Kansas demurred. "That ain't what we was talkin' about anyhow. I claimed Miss Lee was a right nice goodlookin' girl but in no ways feminine. You can't tell me different, either. Why, if she sent Ranse down the road tomorrow she could darn near run the ranch as well as he does."

"Better," Daggett cried, in the high falsetto that always seemed on the edge of excitement. "A doggone sight better. Lemme tell you about that girl, young fellow me lad. Her pappy, Lee Reynolds, wanted a boy, an' he was plumb disapp'inted when the stork dropped in with the third girl runnin'. Then Mrs. Reynolds died an' the two oldest little girls. Got diphtheery, they did. Lee was left alone with one little tyke six months old. Well, sir, he called her Lee an' started in to treat her like she was a boy. It was duck soup for her. I never did see her beat. Pretty soon she was racin' all over Arizona, wild as a colt. She got so she could ride anything on four legs. She hated to think any boy could do something she couldn't. I've seen her throwed a dozen times. Used to be always black an' blue. But she never cried an' she never quit."

"I've heard she could swear a blue streak," Kansas suggested.

"Gosh all hemlock! It was plumb funny to hear all that language comin' out of the mouth of such a li'l trick. When she got mad she'd stand with her feet straddled out an' cuss. One day a sky pilot come along an' listened in. He went straight to the old man an' had it out with him. Did he want his daughter to grow up a wild heathen like these fool cowboys? The old man packed her east to school. She let out an awful holler about going. That's one time she cried aplenty. She hated like sin to go back an' learn to act like a lady. But o' course what the old man said went. He died just before she graduated. An' both of 'em just lookin' forward to the time when they could be together again."

"Then she come home," Kansas prompted.

"Kinda tough," the younger man agreed.

"She was drug into it, but I wanta tell you she'll go through from hell to breakfast. Got sand in her craw, Miss Lee has. An' brains. Set you brakemen to wrangling dudes instead of calves. Got her rich school friends an' their friends out here at sixty a week per and made 'em crazy about it. She ain't outa the timber yet, but you can bet that lone four bits in yore pocket that she will be one of these days. Outside of her dad, Miss Lee is the best man I ever worked for."

". . . to tell you the Claybank was her own private riding horse . . ."

"She's full of dynamite. My point is——"

"Nothin' to it. Trouble is you don't know a lady when you see one."

"I ain't a-claimin' Miss Lee is no lady. Don't you go puttin' words in my mouth, Dunc. All I said was she ain't no clinging vine type. When Miss Lee marries who'll run the Lazy R. You darn well know who. The happy groom will be Miss Lee's husband, and that's all he'll be. Now me, when I pick me a wife from the Christmas tree she'll understand I'm the head of the family."

"I'll tell the li'l boss there's no use her pinin' for you any longer," the old man cackled, deep sarcasm in his toothless grin.

"You don't need to trouble yoreself," Kansas told him calmly. "I got reasonable good horse sense. She wouldn't look at me in a thousand years. I'm for Miss Lee all the way down the road. But I don't have to wear blinders, do I? Most usually her mind acts like a man's does. You heard her blister Stumpy with her tongue so he most shriveled up."

"What for?" old Dunc shrilled. "Left five calves in a corral without water, didn't he? For two days. Forgot 'em, he said. An' if you hadn't happened to be ridin' out Three Pines way they would have died, wouldn't they? Sure I heard her. If you ask me, that boy was a leggings case. What he needed was a pair of leathers laid on where they would do the most good. Forgot, huh!"

The third man in the corral drifted toward them, rope in hand. He had heard his name mentioned. He was a short, squat youth, bowlegged and fairhaired, with a face modeled so carelessly that the features lacked outline. Stumpy went through life with the helpless conviction that he was of no importance. He had heard it so often that he did not doubt it.

"Ranse," he said, with a jerk of the thumb toward a cloud of dust moving down the road.

Two riders were cantering toward the ranch house. One of them was Brennan, the other Doris Silver.

Dunc Daggett's faded eyes jumped at him. "Someone elect you shaperoon of the Lazy R, Kansas?" he demanded with acerbity.

"Me? No." The cowboy looked at the boss of the remuda with an assumption of mild surprise. "I was just thinking that if I was a judge at a beauty contest she'd win first place. She's real feminine, too!"

Old Dunc's snort was eloquent.

Brennan lifted Doris Silver from the saddle. She flashed on him the enchanting smile that had worked mischief ever since she had been old enough to know its value, a date so remotely in the past as to be beyond her memory. It had been effective with nurses, parents, and teachers. Among her boy friends and the slim young college men she knew later there had been devastation in its wake. That smile, and the beauty back of it, had won for her everything she wanted in the world, or at least what she had thought was her heart's desire until she had it.

"A lovely ride," she murmured, and raised the blue eyes to let them rest for a moment in the bold possessive ones of the foreman.

He felt himself lifted on a wave of triumph. "We'll go to Point of Rocks tomorrow," he promised.

"If you have time," she said, with the mental reservation that it might be better to have other plans. He was the kind of man who could get out of hand unless she was careful.

"I have twenty-four hours a day," he told her, largely.

Daggett had called to him that Miss Lee wanted to see him, but he was in no hurry. He strolled over to the mail box, glanced through the contents, and pretended to be busy reading a circular. That the little boss, as the men called her, was waiting for him in the office did not disturb his equanimity. She could wait. It would do her no harm. Recently she had shown irritation toward him once or twice. It was about time he gave her a lesson.

A long shadow crossed the line of his vision. He glanced up from the paper to see Dunc Daggett approaching. He frowned. That Dunc did not like him he knew, though the old range rider was always scrupulously polite.

"Miss Lee, she said for me to tell you——"

"I heard you the first time, Dunc," the foreman interrupted rudely. "I'll see her when I'm ready. Don't get on the prod."

"——to tell you the claybank was her own private riding horse, not to be used for any of the ranch guests."

Daggett finished his sentence in an even monotone that carefully expressed no personal satisfaction in delivering the message.

A purple flush spread beneath the tan of Brennan's face. It was a rebuke, one she had chosen to make emphatic by delivering it through a third party. He knew why. In taking Nuggett for the use of Doris Silver he had deliberately ignored the fact that the gelding was for the sole service of his mistress as much as her toothbrush.

Brennan shifted from defense to attack. "Where's the rest of that bunch of broomtails I told you to run up?"

"In the big pasture."

"I see. We'll have to waste time running them up again. Nobody on this place knows how to take a straight order."

"In regards to that, Mr. Brennan, as the old sayin' is——"

Brennan looked after Daggett angrily. "Too many favorites in this outfit to suit me," he said with bitterness.

The foreman strode across the open to the little adobe building used as an office. Lee Reynolds was at her desk looking over some bills. She glanced up.

"Dunc tell you I wanted to see you?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Good of you to come when you found time." The sarcasm was obvious.

"I stopped to look my mail over. Were you in a hurry?"

His voice was sullen. He was not used to being disciplined and he did not intend to get used to it.

"It doesn't matter." She put on the desk the bill that was in her hand. "I wanted to tell you that I've picked up a man to help Dunc."

"Thought I was majordomo of this ranch," he said, stiffening.

"You're foreman—and, by the way, I'm the owner." The eyes that looked directly into his showed a touch of frost.

Bright Sayings of the Children

I had told my boy that external means outside. He stood and repeated the word several times. A few moments later little Junior who had heard his brother say that external meant outside, came to me and asked, "Mother, may I go external."

Vacation from His Wife's Company Is Due Every Husband

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here's one of those little girls who just won't be left behind. Not even when her young husband has to go to a meeting is he permitted to break away without an argument as to why he should not be accompanied by the little wife. Not that she is afraid some bold bad girl will hold him up going or coming. Not that he'd look at another girl. But just because he doesn't want her tagging along, she wants to tag.

They have been married three months only. And he's doing his best to apply the doctrine of training them young by daily instructing her that when a man gets the feeling he wants to go out alone he wants to know that he can, without a scene. That if he isn't let go, he'll lie about where and why he is going, and will go anyway.

"But," queries the simple little creature, "how can I keep from wanting to go any and every place he goes? I can't. I don't want him out of my sight. Not because I don't trust him. Just because I want to be with him."

I recall a woman telling of the worst crying spell marriage gave her. It was on the discovery that her man would want to get away from her for an evening. So, it's likely that some women take that little discovery much more seriously than the true psychology of it calls for.

Most young brides nowadays are better schooled in the ways of men and moods than to make scenes when they're not allowed to tag along every time. They know there's no harm in the suggestion and that there's less likely ever to be harm if the man goes feeling that it's all right with his wife.

Perhaps there are other brides of last June or April's making who are duplicating my correspondent's experience, and wondering why their company is not all and sufficient every night in the week. The thing to do is not to do any wondering. Just let the gentleman wander out without question when you see the signs of restlessness coming on. Cross it off as a little male pe-cu-liar-ity, quite common, indeed, and let it go at that.

Physical Condition Oftentimes Cause of Child's Willfulness

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

One thing we all need to learn in dealing with children is to make allowances.

What might call for correction in a well child m' ht be glossed over in a sick one. What might be called impatience or rudeness at 10 o'clock in the morning might be entirely overlooked at 7 o'clock in the evening. Circumstances alter cases.

How does this work out? Well, when a child is sick we ought not to expect the same behavior as when he is well. Illness and pain have their effects on nerves, and there is usually a consequent unevenness of temper and a loss of poise. Up to a certain point we should overlook it all. Sometimes we may call a halt but only because of its calming effect on the small invalid. Usually, however, we should depend on diversion to keep the child contented. This diversion may take the form of a change of topic or of amusing them. That is one form of making allowances.

Then take another. At 10 o'clock in the morning we would expect, for instance, to have a young son or daughter show patience with shoe strings or a younger sister. At 7 o'clock at night tiredness might make a knotted shoe lace cause actual tears, or a younger sister cause irritability, or cause a simple request to be met with "I don't want to." If that happened, a mother who made an issue of such things, or a father who disciplined at such moments, would be ill-advised.

If you observe that your rapidly growing son or daughter is cranky just before meal times and cheerful and sunny afterward, you may be almost sure it's hunger. It is not unusual for children to go through a phase often for a year or more of showing the effect of hunger in this way. The best thing to do is feed them as quickly as possible.

Profile Interest Centers on Cheek, Temple and Ear Tip

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If I keep hammering away on the profile beauty topic as I have been doing the last few days it's because it is the news note in beauty which can't be overstressed. And in a short time you'd be wondering why I hadn't stressed the profile interest in beauty.

Every one in the know is stressing "the dazzling line of temple and cheek and the eartip projection" as the big note in the coming beauty mode. Now, to get that dazzle, the hair has to be brushed back from the face first and arranged so that cheek, temple, and eartip have the spotlight on them.

So that means, among other things, some scurrying around the temple edges with a pair of tweezers in your own hand or in a professional's. Nary a stray hair can stay there because since the aim is for a bit more width between eyebrow end and hair line proper.

They're asking you, too, to experiment with an eyebrow pencil to extend the line of eyebrow and the eye corner, if you can extend an eye corner. Anyway, the idea is to more clearly project the temple and the contour of the cheek bone.

And here's another thing to bear in mind for the fall season. Don't have any lumpiness up around the throat and shoulders. Throw out the lumps as beads if they've been "lumping" you as beads surely can. The smoothed down shoulders and the fine-line throat are better mounts for the head tilt wanted.

If you put one of those Regency bonnets atop a frousy hair arrangement and again atop a cluttered up neck and shoulder line, you succeed in making a caricature of the stylish creature you hoped to be. A certain amount of the same soft severity of line of hat is wanted in the face, at the throat, at the shoulderline, and right on down the silhouette. A good idea is to treat the new hat and the new hair arrangement as if it were the whole show, and no needless intrusion from the rest of the individual is permitted.

Lake Forest's Junior Polo Team Forming

BY THALIA

WHAT do you think now? Lake Forest is about to have a junior polo team! It's a very junior one, too, its members being between 10 and 14 years old, all of them. Earle Reynolds and Charles Glore are the sponsors of the idea, and although the project, if such it can be called, is still in its incipient stages, practicing and instructing has already begun, and the lads are full of enthusiasm to learn the sport. They're practicing on horses now on the Cwentsia field about twice a week, with an instructor. Presently they're going to practice on bicycles, a species of training that was invented by Tommy Hitchcock to facilitate accuracy in hitting and balance.

The boys who are engaged in learning the rudiments of the sport now include the Donald M. Ryerssons' son, Anthony [Bubbles] Ryerson; Billy Stelling, son of the Vaughan Spaldings; young Leslie Wheeler, Ben Bryan, Jr., David Bell Peck III., the David Pecks' son, and "Dubby" Carney, son of the Ray Carneys. Sonny Glore and some of the other boys who are away at camp will join the group when they get back home.

It's can confidently expect that the new team will be able to play circles around the Old Aiken Four and all the rest of them in a few years, because, while the Old Aiken men began playing when they were still in prep school, these boys are even a little younger than they were when they started in.

Rosemary Baur to Marry Nov. 7 at St. Chrysostom's.

The vague suggestions that have been floating about to the effect that Rosemary Baur, Mrs. Jacob Baur's daughter, and her British fiancé, Barrie Bell, might be married this summer in Europe before they returned to this country, are unfounded after all, because the wedding date's been set for Nov. 7, the first Saturday in November, and the place is, of course, St. Chrysostom's. Other plans for the wedding are not yet available, and won't be, probably, until Mrs. Baur and her daughter, who still are in Europe, return to Chicago next month some time.

Owing to the death of Miss Paula Uihlein's mother, the debut tea to have been given for Miss Uihlein by her father, Mr. Edgar J. Uihlein, on Aug. 19 in Lake Forest, has been indefinitely postponed.

Mrs. Charles Glore and her daughter, Frances, have passage on the De Grasse for a week from today, the same sailing that Mrs. Carter Harrison Jr. and her daughters, Lucy and Bill, have. The Harrison girls and Frances are to be at the same school in Switzerland this winter, Les Fougeres, I believe.

There are a lot of small parties being given for Mrs. Lawrence Eggleston of Minneapolis while she's in Lake Forest visiting her mother, Mrs. Charles W. Folds. She leaves this week some time.

Donald F. McPhersons Are Hunting Rabbits in East.

The Donald F. McPhersons of Winnetka are hunting regularly with the Nantucket harriers, now that the traditional Nantucket hare hunting has begun. Western jack rabbits, with which the Massachusetts island is well stocked, are the hunters' quarry. The hunt country, which is scenically very lovely, comprises an area of 8 miles square with a distance between mainland and the ocean and the scene of from a half to 3 miles. The fields around the farms have been well patrolled, so that the hunters can follow the jack rabbits wherever they go.

The large party Mr. and Mrs. Robert Logan have every year about this time of the summer is to be tonight. This year it happens to be on Mrs. Logan's birthday. It's a dinner dance, and will be in the Logans' penthouse at 2344 Lincoln Park West.

Trotting Races Revived with Party at St. Charles.

R. J. Baker of St. Charles, whose parties are notable, is giving a dinner dance at the Hotel Baker this evening incident to the Grand Circuit "harness races" being held this week at the Central States fair at Aurora. The hundred or more guests include visiting owners and onlookers at the 4 day program and among them are people of prominence from New York, Lexington, Memphis, Indianapolis, Atlanta, Duluth, and Kansas City. All of the gentry around St. Charles, Geneva, and Wayne are invited in the races. Mr. Baker gave a similar party last year, with lavish decorations carrying out the racing idea, and a huge horseshoe of flowers, won that afternoon by the Baker stables, as the pièce de résistance.

Baroness Violet Beatrice Wenner has issued invitations for a preview exhibit of carvings in wood and ivory depicting the "Development of the Human Figures" and a lecture by the carver, Ernest Warther, in her studio in the Italian Court building next Sunday afternoon. Mr. Warther is to give a lecture at 9:30 o'clock, and tea will be served half an hour later.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 18.—Special.]—The marines have landed and have the situation well in hand at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, but they have left the lot at Paramount with less satisfactory results, as far as pictures starring is concerned.

The most rollicking trio of synthetic leathernecks that ever featured Hollywood, composed of Lawrence Tibbett, Ernest Torrence and Cliff Edwards, is strutting things big in Tibbetts' almost completed starring vehicle, "The Cuban," at M-G-M.

Paramount called off its story about the American soldiers of the sea, titled "Come On Marines," about a week ago, when scenes already shot failed to please.

What is Clara Bow's and Nancy Carroll's bad luck is red headed Peggy Shannon's good luck. After filling in the part the Paramount studio originally intended for Clara in "The Secret Call" with Richard Arlen and making an overnight Hollywood hit, this Pine Bluff, Ark., girl has now been given the vacant rôle in "The Man I Killed," left by Miss Carroll when she suddenly served notice she didn't want it.

AUTOISTS TO CARRY ORPHANS AND AGED TO THE PICNIC TODAY

With cool weather in prospect, automobiles volunteered by 1,000 motorists, and all arrangements completed for luncheons and favors, the 27th annual picnic for the orphans and aged is bound to be a success today.

Bright and early this morning the inmates of forty institutions, 5,000 in all, will be dressed in their picnic best waiting for the motorists to come around to take them to Lincoln park. Then will follow a day of fun for the old, the young, and the crippled.

A stage has been erected in the picnic area for a program that will start at 10 a. m. and continue until 4 p. m. when the motorists return for their charges. Here stars of the radio world, juvenile performers, clowns, and a dog and pony show will make their jokes and bring smiles to 5,000 faces.

Mayor Cermak's own car and chauffeur as well as Chicago's white guest car under the direction of Greeter Gaw will be on hand to do their share toward making the picnic a success. The picnic, held annually under the auspices of the Orphan's Automobile Day association, is sponsored by the Chicago Automobile Trade association and others.

Sally Reminds Kids Letters Are Almost Due on Next Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

This is the last call for letters, boys and girls, if you want to be invited to the delightful puppet show party we are planning to have at Shotwell hall in 55th street a week from tomorrow. Each letter must reach me by tomorrow morning so that I may read them and select the hundred boys and girls who will be my guests to see Mobet's puppets when they give their fascinating performance of "Rumpelstiltskin."

From the letters I have received it would seem that every one is curious about this party, which is different from any we've had before. There are boys and girls who want to come because they've seen puppet shows before and they know what fun to expect and there are others who've never seen one and they want to know all about puppets and how they are operated. Of course, I don't think there are any of you who haven't heard the story of "Rumpelstiltskin," and you know what a good play it should make. It's especially attractive when the rôles are played by such unique actors and actresses and the hundred young people who win invitations to see them may expect to have a marvelous time.

But off to your letters now if you haven't written them! Remember that each of them must tell why you'd like to attend this party and why you think you'd have a good time. The boys and girls who write the best letters will receive invitations. Be sure to have them include your name, address and age, and mail them in time to have them reach me no later than tomorrow morning.

Walther League Hears Thousands of Youths Sidestep Churches

No longer do people, particularly young people, "backslide" out of church life and religious activity. That was the good old fashioned way of describing the lapsed members. But nowadays the young folks "sidestep." That's the problem of the educational committee of the Walther league of the Missouri Synod Lutheran church meeting this week in executive session at the Hotel Sherman.

William H. Luke found that for the years 1926 to 1930 128,114 persons, 14 to 19 years old, were confirmed.

Last year, of that total number, about 10,000 were no longer found on parish records and 809 had died. The conclusions drawn from that study, Mr. Luke asserted, demanded an increasing program to prevent sidestepping.

The Walther league has 50,000 members throughout the country in 1,800 churches.

Crowds Recall Sir Walter's Colony, First Child There

Fort Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—North Carolina today observed the 344th anniversary of the birth of Virginia Dare, first child born of English parents in America, with a celebration here on the site of Sir Walter Raleigh's ill-fated Roanoke island colony. Thousands gathered from the southeast heard retold the story of the founding of the first English colony here and the subsequent unexplained disappearance of the colonists.

Trousers Complete the Tailored Suit

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Will this epoch, when it becomes a page in costume history, be known as the pajama period? Lots of authorities think so, and there are dance and beach pajamas to back them up, for these are worn wherever there are smart women who step and swim. The trouser skirt, which is the practical every day version of pajamas as Paris sees them, has, however, been little worn until lately.

Mme. Schiaparelli, a great advocate of the trouser skirt, recently wore one of her trousered tailored suits in London, and what a storm it produced! It made the front page of staid London papers, but, more important, a number of fashionable and titled English ladies have begun to wear it. Will America take up this style? That's what everybody is asking. You might decide about this yourself, as more and more Paris dressmakers are creating this type of suit.

In our illustration the original trouser skirt tailored suit is pictured, and as you can see it is nothing to get crusadish about. It looks like an ordinary skirt until the wearer steps out, and then the inverted box plaits at the center front divide visibly into trouser legs.

Schiaparelli made it of beige ribbed jersey, and the jacket is a simple double breasted wrap, but fastened with brass clips instead of buttons—a button substitute that is the smartest suit fastening in Paris.

The blouse is white mesh jersey with a bright striped scarf collar passing through slits in the revers and tucking under the skirt top. The jacket belt is bright green and clipped instead of buckled.

Food Talk.

Not so long ago the chief topic discussed, when women of various ages and weights met, was calories. Mrs. Smith, when a guest at luncheon, would eye a buxom baked potato or a tempting piece of chocolate cake, mentally compute its caloric value, and then decide she would sacrifice one or the other. On occasion she accepted both and declined a well balanced dinner at a later hour in the day. Mrs. Brown would attempt a starvation diet over an extended period of days and possibly wreck her health—not to mention her disposition—in so doing. Fortunately experience and doctors cured us of some of our foolishness, and we are much more reasonable today.

However, my department has been the recipient of many letters of late which show that women are reckoning too much with the calorie and not enough with the vitamin. I want to differentiate between the two. A calorie is a standard of measurement in estimating the energy value of foods. It is derived from the Latin word "calor" which means heat. A vitamin is a chemical substance present in food in a minute quantity, and acts as a necessary body regulator. So, great as the value of the calorie standard is, it must not be over estimated. You may limit yourself to a diet of a certain number of calories a day and retain your present good health, if you include all the vitamins essential to your bodily wellbeing. The best way to diet is, of course, under the direction of your family physician.

Much emphasis is justly placed on the importance of fresh fruits and vegetables in the daily diet of every family because it is from these that we secure the most and best distribution of vitamins. Canning, drying at high temperature, or long drawnout drying at any temperature greatly reduces the vitamins in fruits and vegetables. Ordinary cooking that does not exceed the boiling point does not seriously lessen their efficiency.

VEAL STEAK.

Purchase a piece of veal steak about half an inch thick and cut into pieces large enough to serve in individual portions. Dip each piece in beaten egg, then in bread crumbs. Melt fat in iron spider [so that it is ¼ inch deep]. When fat is hot, fry the veal quickly in it on both sides until it is a light brown. Add milk to the pan, enough to come to the top of the veal. Cover tightly and place in a slow oven for an hour. Remove the lid from the pan the last fifteen minutes of the cooking so that the veal will be crisp on the top. One pound of steak will serve four.

CREAM OF CORN SOUP.

1 slice onion.
3 tbsp. flour.
3 tbsp. butter.
Salt.
Dash of pepper.

Cook the corn, onion and water for 10 minutes and strain. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk. Add the corn to the sauce and the seasonings. Do not boil after adding the vegetables or the soup will curdle.

WATCH THESE DANGER SIGNALS!

HEADACHES, dizziness, coated tongue, loss of appetite, lack of energy, a general feeling of "blues"—these are the most frequent danger signals of constipation.

Look out for them. Don't let them make your life miserable. Start tomorrow eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a delicious ready-to-eat cereal. As pleasant as it is healthful. What a relief it will be after taking unnatural, habit-forming pills and drugs.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, eat it three times daily.

Milk or cream brings out the delightful nut-like taste of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. And with milk or cream, important vitamins are furnished. ALL-BRAN is equally tempting with fruits or honey. Sprinkle it over other cereals.

Use it in cooking—for making delicious bran muffins, breads, in omelets, etc. ALL-BRAN also has iron, the builder of good, rich, red blood. At all grocers in the famous red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The original All-Bran.

Camp and Ice Funds Aided by Sunday Appeal

Things began looking up a little for THE TRIBUNE free ice and Camp Algonquin funds yesterday as the first of the gifts in answer to an appeal for more funds, issued on Sunday, began to arrive.

It wasn't very much that came in, only $22 for each fund, but it was significant that TRIBUNE readers will not turn a deaf ear to a plea for more ice and more vacations for the poor and unemployed of the city.

"Just a little for the ice fund, and best wishes," wrote S. A., who sent $4. That was the spirit that accompanied the gifts received yesterday. Two more mothers will get to camp and fully six families will receive ice for the next month because six contributors took the trouble to send along their gifts.

In nearly a month the ice and camp funds will close to take stock of the summer's accomplishments. Those who have administered both funds know that a greater service already has been extended than in previous years. Because of the extreme want and privation last winter among the underprivileged, effort has been made to take care of as many additional families as possible.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Setting a New Shoe Style.

It was the evening of the big dance and as my new shoes hurt me I took them off while waiting for my boy friend, and put on my bedroom slippers. It wasn't long before he called and I put on my coat, and hat, and ran out to join him in the car.

Soon as I was out on the floor dancing with the girl I was trying to impress the most. As the dance progressed I noticed every one looking at us and laughing. The girl and I didn't understand until one of the fellows tapped me on the shoulder and with a smile, said, "What are you doing, setting a new style in dancing shoes?"

Then I realized that in my hurry I had forgotten to change back to my shoes. If only a fire or something had broken out! I. J. S.

but how are they made? . . . where? . . . by whom? You have a right to know.

WHEN a substitute claims to be "just like Kotex," ask where it is made. How. By whom.

You will find the claim "like Kotex" usually means the pad merely looks like Kotex. That's not enough, when health is involved, as it is in your choice of sanitary protection. Demand the hygiene of Kotex. The absolute purity of Kotex.

There's one way to be sure. Get genuine Kotex . . . accept no substitute of whose makers you know nothing. Kotex is the world's standard. Hospitals used over ten million pads last year. It is made with hospital care and cleanliness.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Comparisons of the size of a tree and its age may lead easily to a deduction of whether the tree is getting correct treatment, whether it is vigorous as it should be and whether the soil is suitable for healthy growth.

Soft maples, American elms and lindens with a trunk diameter of 20 inches probably were set as saplings twenty years ago, says Dr. E. Porter Felt, editor of the American Journal of Entomology. Much depends on the growing conditions, but the above trunk diameters can be expected in a good feeding area where there is room for development of each tree.

It often occurs along roadsides, where rows of one variety have been planted, that there are some individual trees decidedly larger and others much smaller than the average, Dr. Felt says. The larger trees, in most instances, he says, have had the advantage of good growing conditions and very likely were well set at the beginning, while the impoverished specimens, although one-third the size of the larger ones, were very likely set at the same time.

Competition in feeding and in top growth is a severe test for a tree. One hickory standing in an open fertile area added ten inches to its diameter in twenty years, while another in a swamp and competing with other trees took 99 years to increase its diameter about six inches. The use of an increment borer, which removes a pencil sized section to the heartwood, permits counting the annual rings and does no harm to the tree, according to Dr. Felt.

Four people have purchased the Buick Eight to every one buyer of any other of the thirteen eights in Buick's price range during the twelve months since its introduction. This four-to-one preference—in days when America is scrutinizing values more closely than ever before—fully confirms the value leadership of The Eight as Buick Builds It. It is this outstanding value which causes 89 per cent of all Buick owners to buy Buicks again and again.

Those were the real tests of horseflesh. Dad or Grandpa will tell you, and they will add that they were the everybody in those days had an amazing knack of driving skill, in which most men took pride to excel. And their races over the country roads added excitement to many an otherwise dull Saturday afternoon or Sunday afternoon.

But the millions in Chicagoland seem to have forgotten them, because the Grand Circuit race meeting opened at Hollywood park in Aurora yesterday afternoon in connection with the Kane County State fair. There were some 4,000 visitors at the fair grounds and I am sure there were never at any time more than 1,500 in the huge grand stand to watch the best trotters and pacers in America perform under the skilful handling of some of America's most accomplished drivers.

There Was No Betting.

Either dad or Dad and Grandpa, for they no doubt thought the thousands over in the adjacent lot looking at the prize pigs, cattle, poultry, and sweepstakes should be lined up at the track to get a look at the trotters and pacers perform.

And perhaps our thousands of race fans among Chicago's millions would be larger and maybe come to appreciate horseflesh a little more if they visited the trotters and pacers perform as they did when Aurora's Grand Circuit meeting opened yesterday afternoon.

There was no betting and perhaps that was the reason the stands were not partly filled and the lawns were empty. But those 1,500 harness race fans who picked a horse because they liked his way of going and who did bet on all afternoon to see the favorite run—three in each of three races—got more of a genuine kick out of it than the thrill I've seen 20,000 get out of some programs run at our best racing tracks.

Rosher Upsets Stars.

There is romance in racing, no matter what kind, and it was to be found at the Grand Circuit opening yesterday. It came in the Classified pace, the purse for which was only $500, but it found six Grand Circuit performers of considerable reputation in a struggle against a bay mare called Myrtle McKyle, which never before had been away from the half mile tracks—the "bush" tracks, the Grand Circuit big shots call 'em.

But Myrtle, owned by Walter McCord of Oaklandon, Ind., knew how to pace and how to pace at a right good clip and it made no difference to her whether she was associating with a lot of big shots or with slow boys down among the Indiana half mile.

She passed her first mile in 2:05 1-4 quite handily and never from the hand of Starter A. H. Pendleton gave down the word did she leave the rein in doubt. Her rivals from the Grand Circuit wilted before the pace and Myrtle that Myrtle would have been at odds of about 75 to 1.

Ambaker Wins Easily.

Myrtle came back in the second heat and did the same thing to her Grand Circuit rivals, just cantering one would say, with her driver, Tom Hasch, holding his elbow high and giving Myrtle plenty of rein as she went in beautiful stride past the finish line

Girl Conquers Bosporus in Second Try

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Anita Grew, 22 year old daughter of United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, today swam the 19 miles of the Bosporus straits from the Black sea to the Sea of Marmora in 17 hours.

She had been training for the feat since she failed because of adverse winds and choppy seas last year. Today she finished the difficult swim apparently with plenty of reserve strength.

Her father and two friends followed her in a small boat, playing music on a phonograph and feeding her hot chocolate from time to time. Her mother and other friends met her at the famous Banders Tower where the Bosporus enters the Sea of Marmora.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 18.—(AP)—M. Laas, an Esthonian, swam the Gulf of Finland today from Nargoe island to Porkala beacon, covering the 25 miles in 22 hours.

CARDINAL STOCK PAYS DIVIDEND OF 20 PER CENT

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, 1930 champions of the National Baseball league, who hold a long lead in the race for this year's pennant, are paying a 20 per cent dividend, Cardinal stockholders were notified today.

Holders of common stock certificates will receive $5 a share. Par for Cardinal common is $25.

ABE ESPINOSA IS VICTOR IN FIRST STATE PRO MEET

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Abe Espinosa of Medinah Country club, Chicago, won the first Illinois state professional golf championship at Quincy Country club today with a sub-par round of 69, which, added to his yesterday's 71, gave him 140.

Espinosa played steadily throughout the morning. Although going over par on three holes, including the 16th, which has been a terror to all the pros, he made up for these losses with birdies on four holes.

Smith Sets Course Record.

George Smith of Onwentsia scored a new course record from the back tees with 67. Smith's 66th stroke stopped at the lip of the cup from about eight feet.

Yesterday Jim Foulis tied the short course record with 67, but wasn't able to keep up the pace, going three over par on the first three holes today, and taking 7 on the 16th for 75 and 143 to tie for second place with Gunnar Nelson of Rockford.

Jack Keywood of Rushville, 74—71—145, tied with Sam Bernardi, Briergate, 74—71—145, for fourth place and they divided 6th and 7th prize money.

Nortwick, Drucker Win.

John Van Nortwick and John Drucker, amateur and professional of the Chicago Golf club, won the pro-amateur event this afternoon with a best ball of 64. Van Nortwick scored an eagle two when his drive off the first tee rolled straight down the baked fairway and came to rest dead to the pin.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

Recent remarks on pro football by Bob Zuppke and Dick Hanley in this column have sent devotees of the graduate game scurrying to their typewriters. The following letter in defense of pro football was received from George Halas, owner of the Bears:

GEORGE HALAS.

"After reading your column in Monday's TRIBUNE, wherein you quoted remarks of our mutual friend, Bob Zuppke, in which he aired his views regarding professional football, I am prompted to write you this letter. It is not with the motive that I feel professional football needs to be defended but because of having at one time played football at the University of Illinois on teams coached by Zuppke, and now being very much interested in the professional game I feel that I have been put in the middle.

"We all look up to and admire Zupp for what he has done and is doing in college football. On that subject no man is better qualified to speak, but it occurs to me that it would take more than just a sidelong glance at professional football to qualify any one to talk intelligently on the subject. In other words, Arch, Zuppke tells of meeting one of his old players, and after watching him take part in a professional game called attention to the fact that he was not blocking. He quotes this player as saying, in substance: 'I only play my best when I get a stipulated sum.'

"To take the attitude that a man, particularly one who has been trained to give his best in the spirit of good sportsmanship in college, completely reverses his character when he accepts money for his services, is not reasonable. If such were true, the courage displayed by our highly commercialized baseball players would be entirely missing. A football player in college must deliver the goods, or he is not permitted to play. A professional player who represents a commercial investment to his club likewise must deliver or be discarded.

"Today there are more candidates for positions on professional clubs of the National Football league, by far, than there are aspirants for places on the average college eleven. This competition for positions on a pro eleven is such that even should a college trained player who emerges from his school with ideals of loyalty and service shirk his duties and do just enough to get away with it, this keen competition to gain a berth and its rewards would demand that a man give his best.

"Among other things, our mutual friend Zuppke calls attention to the fact that Grange and others could not measure up to their college form when they joined the professional ranks. According to that, if the professional players in the National Football league are as lazy and poor as friend Zuppke infers, such men as Grange and others, fresh from college with the spirit of do-or-die, should have been even more outstanding than they were at their alma maters.

"About Grange, who is a good example; he has learned to do with marked ability a few things he did not do when in school. Grange has developed into a fine blocker, an excellent tackler, and not against immature youths but in competition with mature men selected from the best of college trained athletes. Red developed to a high degree under Zupp's expert tutelage and then went right on developing, which, I am satisfied from personal contact, is true of the majority of players in the National Football league.

"This sudden outburst by our friend Zupp surely must have had something back of it. One thing, probably, is the fact that professional football is established, and possibly another thing is the paragraph on page 33 in Bulletin No. 26 of the Carnegie Foundation report on football in which it states:

"'Already numbers of football enthusiasts prefer the economical skill, the mature precision, the finesse, and the art of the professional game to the comparatively bungling college match. The college nourished the professional player in its bosom. It trained him; it often found him and supported him; it sometimes even encouraged him to enter the professional game. The opposition of many college sportsmen to professional football is born of a just apprehension over the future of the sport among the colleges. The history of college baseball is analogous and ominously significant.'

"However, I hasten to add, that I am among those, and I am sure there are many, who do not take the Carnegie Foundation's report on intercollegiate football at all seriously.

"Here's to intercollegiate football; long may it prosper, for, Arch, if it doesn't where are we going to get any material? Faithfully yours,

"GEORGE S. HALAS."

"P. S. That last crack can be taken as commercial. It is! G. H."

Not that it makes any difference, but this might be a good place to make the observation that Chicago's professional teams have given head coaches to three of the country's leading schools. Arnold Horween played with the Cardinals before accepting appointment as head coach at Harvard. Heartley Anderson was a guard with the Bears for three years. He now is head coach at Notre Dame. Burt Ingwersen, head coach at Iowa, also was a linesman with the Bears.

MR. GROVE AND HIS FELLOW A'S FACE SOX TODAY

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The baseball champions of the world—the Philadelphia Athletics, in case you've forgotten—will open a four game series against the White Sox this afternoon at Comiskey park. It will be their last stand in Chicago this season unless the Cubs play them in the world series.

The A's haven't been showing much tendency to ease up, what with three pitchers all trying for new records and the team still in possession of a chance to top the old Cubs' major league record of 116 games won in one season.

Bob Grove Will Pitch.

The A's in the last few weeks have been getting along with a patched lineup, but nothing has happened to their pitchers and their catcher; so the champions' march hasn't been interrupted much.

Bob Grove is expected to pitch this afternoon against Red Faber and Robert is pretty angry with the Sox for Fonseca had the poor taste to beat him early in the season with an extra inning homer. This was one of the two defeats the great lefthander has suffered this season.

Grove so far has won 24 games, besides saving a great number of contests in a relief rôle. He plans to win well over 30 games this year to give the present generation of pitchers something about which to get dizzy. Walberg and Earnshaw, each with 17 wins and 7 losses, are pretty good, too.

Sox Seek Split.

For purposes of comparison let's take Grove and either Walberg or Earnshaw and show what they have done as stacked with certain members of the White Sox pitching staff:

	Won.	Lost.
Grove	24	2
Walberg	17	7
*Totals	41	9

*Two Athletic pitchers.

	Won.	Lost.
Frasier	10	12
Caraway	10	18
Thomas	9	10
Faber	6	10
McKain	6	9
*Totals	41	59

*Five Sox pitchers.

It is apparent from the foregoing that the five Sox pitchers have won the same number of games as two A's pitchers, but have lost 50 games more.

The Sox, however, have been playing their best baseball in recent weeks, if you are willing to forget about their miserable showing in the Boston Red Sox series just terminated. The Sox are not afraid of the A's and are predicting an even split in the series.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The United States lost one of its outstanding shot and discus men for the 1932 Olympic games with the drowning today of Eric Krenz, former Stanford university star, in Emerald bay, Lake Tahoe. He was seized with cramps and drowned before help could reach him.

Krenz was the first man in history to spin the discus more than 160 feet. He held the present world's record of 163 feet 8¾ inches. In the I. C. A. A. A. A. games of 1928, Krenz broke the meet record with a toss of 50 feet ½ inch.

MASTRO DEFEATS KID FRANCIS IN TEN ROUND BOUT

Referee Jack Denning and Judges Charles F. Mathison and Bob Cunningham collaborated in the decision which was popular with the crowd, notwithstanding some of the observers, who thought Francis, at worst, was entitled to a draw, after a tirelessly persistent effort as the aggressor.

Francis' determined rally in the last three rounds was particularly impressive and established him as the stronger of the two at the finish.

Recognized as one of the most dangerous contenders for the title now held by Bat Battalino, Mastro had to be exactly that to impress in this, his first important New York bout. He showed himself a good ring general by the experienced, expert manner in which he handled Francis.

SLUGGERS TAKE DAY OFF; BRAVES HOP ON WARNEKE

Bruins Play Robins Twice Today.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 18.—There was just a trace of feebleness about the Cubs' attack today. Some of this deficiency may have been due to the fact that they were weary after winning four decisions in two days and some of it to the fact that Fred Frankhouse was a bit too clever. At any rate, the Chicagoans didn't produce hits in their usual reckless fashion. So they had to concede the decision in their final appearance of the year in this seat of culture. The score was 3 to 2, a Brave run in the ninth doing the trick.

With a little hitting against Frankhouse, the Cubs might have turned out a successful effort for Lon Warneke, one of the juvenile members of the pitching staff. The lanky lad from the dark regions of Arkansas was trying to spear the second victory of his brief career as a big timer and that he didn't succeed was due partly to his mates' failure to provide runs and partly to his own failure to fool Earl Sheely, who needs no exploiting as a hitter. The big blond knocked in the first two Boston runs, other members of the home cast attending to the harvesting of the deciding tally in the final inning.

Rabbit Still Frisky.

Old Rabbit Maranville, whose aging legs are supposed to be in the August slump which catches up with all veterans, was responsible for the bad news which surrounded Warneke in the ninth. The Rabbit led off with a sprightly double to left center, his third hit. Hartnett made the rest of it easy for the Braves. He picked up Richbourg's bunt and could have thrown out Maranville at third, but the ball fell from his hand so nobody was caught. Berger was passed. Sheely sent a fly to Wilson, but the Rabbit preferred not to take a chance. Then Worthington drove one over the head of Wilson, who was playing close, and the show broke up as soon as Maranville had slipped over the plate.

The attack of the Cubs was so restricted that there were only five hits off Frankhouse, who had warmed up in two of the four preceding games in the series. None of these blows was produced by the top four men in the batting order, which accounts for the scarcity of runs. Even one of the five was tainted, but it led to a run. Two of the five were the products of Les Bell's bat, and he lost a third only because a Brave outfielder pulled in a wicked drive.

Play Robins Today.

The Cubs hurried away right after the game so as to reach New York in time to spend the night in hotel beds. The rest was an important item, as they face double toil against the Robins tomorrow at Brooklyn. Hornsby plans to start Jakie May in the first game and if southpawing appears to bother the now featherless Robins he will give them another dose in the shape of Les Sweetland in the second. Otherwise Johnny Welsh will start

Pick Game Site Today

WILLIAM VEECK, president of the Cubs, and Harry Grabiner, secretary of the White Sox, will meet in Commissioner Landis' office this morning to decide the site of the charity game between the two teams Sept. 9. The toss of a coin will determine the location. Gross proceeds of the game will be donated to Gov. Emmerson's commission on relief and unemployment.

BROWN WISDOM RUNS INTO SHAPE; WINS 13TH START

Leads Parade of Favorites at Hawthorne.

The Reichert brothers, W. C. and E. W., from Belleville, Ill., had a pretty good racing stable last year Their stars were Brown Wisdom and My Dandy and no Chicago stake was complete without one or both of them.

Jack Carter was the trainer and so long as Jack handled the stable and the brothers Reichert attended to the paying of feed bills and other front office duties, the Belleville pair prospered. It seemed easy to them, this business of getting a thoroughbred into shape and keeping him there. Something happened to the relations between Mr. Carter and the two citizens from Belleville, and Mr. Carter was told his services were no longer needed.

Tries and Tries Again.

The Reichert brothers then worked and worked with their string, and in between times attended to the front office, but something was wrong. The office business moved along smoothly, but the race track business went into a slump. The horses just couldn't win.

Not so many weeks ago My Dandy finally broke through, but Brown Wisdom ran and ran and failed, until yesterday when he engaged three others in the Libertyville purse at Hawthorne and came romping home. It was Brown Wisdom's first victory under the Reichert brothers' training regime, and his thirteenth start of the season.

It has been said that the Reichert horses finally would race themselves into condition and that's just what Brown Wisdom appears to have done.

Hooked up with him were Eskimo, The Nut, and Who Win. Eskimo cut out the pace from the jump and Brown Wisdom hooked on behind, content to stay a length or so off the pace. It was a mile and a sixteenth race and when Eskimo began to fold up in the stretch run, Brown Wisdom took the lead and won by four lengths. The Nut passed the tiring Eskimo near the finish, while Who Win always was last.

Fastest Race of Meeting.

As evidence of how well the Reichert brothers have trained Brown Wisdom, or how well Brown Wisdom has trained himself, the time was 1:45, the fastest mile and a sixteenth of the meeting. A win ticket was worth $5.18.

While the Reichert boys were celebrating the victory, they weren't alone in the matter of jollification, for there were some 10,000 out at Hawthorne yesterday and the favorites were popping down with consistency. .

Curmudgeon was the track handicapper's choice in the opener and also the public choice. He came from far back to score like a champion. Albasano in the second, was the betting and track handicapper's choice and down he came, Hygro, the fans' choice in the next, bounced home in front.

Favorites Parade In.

Barney Sexton was the "O" horse in the fourth and second choice with the bettors. Down he came, beating Michigan Girl and Mouthpiece, both well played. The parade of favorites continued in the sixth when Tarnish the "O" horse beat Workless, a well meant good thing which closed at 10 to 1.

Blue Law, with Corbett up, grabbed the seventh at a mile and three-sixteenths, with Wizardry second and Primeval third. While the winner was neither the public choice nor the "O" horse it was well played and no one was hurt much as it closed at 5 to 1.

Fans Forget; Ignore Aurora Harness Meet

well ahead of the fast coming J. E. Venian, owned by J. E. Crosbie of Tulsa. She paced this mile in 2:04 3-4 and could have gone faster if there had been any need. George Daniel gave the crowd another thrill when he won three straight heats with Calumet Annette, a brown mare owned by William Wright of Chicago, who owns the famous Calumet Farm in Ke tucky.

Calumet Annette didn't make the pace and came from behind each time she captured a heat. She not only came from behind, but Daniels squeezed her through next to the rail on each occasion, getting through an opening that looked far too narrow as he started the drive.

Ankabar was the rst horse to win in straight heats, taking the 2:18 trot which opened the program. He was too good for his rivals all the way. He comes from Urbana, O., and is owned by H. J. Schomeger.

Interest May Grow.

E. J. Blaker, the St. Charles, Ill., sportsman, seemed to be taking the most active part in the Grand Circuit affairs, although his horses fared rather badly during the afternoon. But Mr. Barker says they will do better before the meeting ends.

The trotters and pacers probably will create much more excitement in the next few days. But they'll have to pull the people away from the other attractions at the fair before the dyed in the wool harness horse followers will be satisfied.

Start good for all but Chatter On. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 2:14½. At post 6 minutes. Trained by A. Pelletеri.

CURMUDGEON, off slowly and meeting with early interference, found an opening in the stretch and, coming through, scored in a driving finish. SWITCH improved his position steadily and was going fast on the outside at end. CRAFTSMAN, showing much improvement, took a short lead in the stretch but could not last. LEJOY was going well at the end. BLACKSTRAP and I SAY were used up making the pace and tired. SHAKER LADY weakened in the run home. BOOBY BIRD had early speed. CHATTER ON went to his knees at the start and almost unseated his rider.

ALBAZANO acted badly at the barrier but broke well and, after being outrun first part, came fast on the outside in stretch to take a short lead and hold MISS PERFECTION to the finish. MISS PERFECTION dashed to the front in the first quarter and, continuing gamely after being passed, was going well at the end. BILL LOONEY saved much ground on the stretch turn to head the field, but could not last. KULAMAN was in close quarters in stretch. CLEMENCE and MARDIE tired.

HYGRO was held under restraint in the early running and, coming gamely to take command in the stretch, was going well at the end. CHATTER QUEEN, in the early winning pace, speed but weakened slightly in the run home. MARMION was always well up and staged a game finish. CEE TEE was out-run early and made up ground on the outside in stretch. MAD WIND and ANTHONY WAYNE had a hard time in the final drive.

BARNEY SEXTON, always close up, continued gamely to the end under hard urging and won when Jones outrode Richard on MICHIGAN GIRL. The latter came fast around the outside to take a good lead an eighth out and was probably best but her rider was of little help to her in the closing stages. MOUTHPIECE dropped back slightly in the stretch but was the best of the others. PRINCESS PEGGY was never a serious threat. TARPON carried BOSAFABO wide at the first turn and the latter tired badly after getting to the front.

BROWN WISDOM followed ESKIMO under steady restraint in the early running and, taking command in the stretch head, was never in trouble thereafter, winning with speed in reserve. THE NUT saved ground around the final bend but weakened slightly in last furlong. ESKIMO set the pace but began to tire after going six furlongs. WHO WIN moved up strongly approaching far turn but lost much ground on final bend.

TARNISH, under a clever ride, moved up gradually on the outside to reach an advantageous position at the stretch turn and, responding gamely to punishment in the final eighth, passed WORKLESS and won handily. WORKLESS raced well and took a short lead in the stretch but was no match for the winner. ORMONTIME displayed good early speed and held the others. ROYAL CHARGE weakened in the final run. ATILL was never a serious threat. CABILDO was in close quarter during the back stretch run.

BLUE LAW raced to a contending position during the back stretch run and, taking a good lead when straightened out for home led to the finish to win easily. WIZARDRY saved much ground in the final run and easily bested the others. PRIMEVAL moved up on the outside to challenge at the far turn but could not get to the front and raced wide through stretch. TOP HATTIE made up much ground after meeting with early interference. LADY BIENVILLE and BLACK IVORY tired when the real racing began. ARCADIAN FLAG met with interference around first turn and was shuffled back again on far turn. OTILLA had some early speed.

SWEEP FAST stole into a long lead during the back stretch run and, although bearing out in the stretch, was good enough to last. BRIGHT DAY, probably best, closed fast and might have won had her rider made his move sooner. PLAY BIRD was also closest to the leader in the stages and held the others. VERMICULITE was out-run most of the way. MADCAP MARVIN was never a contender. GARNISH was badly bumped around first turn and was f ar back thereafter.

Kamis Outpoints Cieslack, Wisconsin Amateur Champ

Mike Kamis, Chicago lightweight, who has beaten several leading amateur boxers during the last two weeks, last night defeated Joe Cieslack, Wisconsin state lightweight champion, in a three round bout at the Western stadium. About 3,000 attended. Other results:

Tony Muscarello beat Joe Roman [3].
Leo Kanieri beat Jimmy Caputo [4].
Bud Moore beat Einar Hedquist [3].
Phil Pernice beat Joey Lappino [3].
George Goodman beat Frank Keevil [3].
Jimmy Eliopoulos beat Bake Cormier [3].
Bill Reardon beat Tony Pernice [3].

JOCKEY CALLED A TOUT; BANNED BY HAWTHORNE

Jockey Dave Bryant, who is reported to have run out of Chicago for having won on Givanna last week after having touted At Sunrise to win, was suspended indefinitely by the Hawthorne stewards yesterday. The official notice follows:

"For violation of rule 209 of the Illinois Turf association rules, Jockey D. Bryant has been suspended indefinitely and has been notified to appear before the license committee at its next meeting to show cause why his license should not be revoked."

Rule 209 deals with any conduct detrimental to racing. Bryant last year was chased away from Thistledown for the same offense, touting, and his license this season was about to be refused by the Illinois Turf association. He pleaded so earnestly, however, with promises to reform, that he was given another chance.

In discussing the Bryant case, Judge Joseph A. Murphy, presiding steward, declared that the investigation had been going on for a week and that, in the opinion of the stewards, Bryant had "touted" one horse to win while riding another. No evidence that he had accepted money for his tip had been discovered. When his own mount won he left town. There was no evidence showing that Bryant had been beaten up, as reported.

"We went into the situation thoroughly," said Judge Murphy, "and we have been unable to find a single jockey riding at Hawthorne who has been intimidated, nor have we found an instance where coercion was used. I believe Bryant's trouble is due solely to his touting tactics."

Liberty Limited, the Sir Gallahad III.—Dare Say colt, owned by the Three D stable, worked three-quarters yesterday in 1:13 3-5 from the barrier and now the boys are saying that Burning Blaze, Our Fancy, and other 3 year olds which have their eye on the $10,000 Hawthorne Juvenile handicap Saturday must watch their step when Liberty Limited turns on the power. Liberty Limited could have shaded that time, according to the clockers, for his exercise boy was easing him up at the finish.

The Three D stable is owned and operated by the Waggoners of Texas, who have uncovered many a good trick in their time. The Post and Paddock victory of Burning Blaze might have gone to Liberty Limited were it not for the bad spill that marred that race. As it was, the Waggoner colt finished third after overcoming a lot of bad breaks. This workout yesterday indicates he is ready to show Burning Blaze and others just what juvenile speed is.

Top weight in the Hawthorne Juvenile was imposed on Burning Blaze, 123 pounds. Liberty Limited, Cold Check and Our Fancy will carry 120 each, while Indian Runner got 119; Etcetera and Sazerac, 118, and Oh Dave and Portden 116. Easter Time and Grand Champion were handed 115 pounds. Of the 90 nominated more than 30 are here and a record field seems assured.

Emil Denemark claimed Blackstrap out of the first race yesterday, adding one more promising animal to an already somewhat pretentious string. The price was $4,000.

SMITH, WITH 152, WINS IN MASONIC GOLF AT OLYMPIA

Bangs Is Second, Six Strokes Behind.

O. E. Smith of South Shore lodge, 152, won the Olympia Fields' eleventh Masonic day tournament yesterday, defeating a field of 184. He turned in a card of 77—75—152, six under Fred Bangs of Olympia Fields, who was second with 81—77—158. Joe Bour was third with 159 and Don Hamilton fourth with 160.

The field played both No. 3 and No. 4 courses, Smith shooting on No. 4. P. J. O'Brien with 201—58—143 was the net winner for 36 holes. Ben Lange with 162—18—145 was second. Hamilton was the Masonic champion last year, winning in a three way playoff. Yesterday, however, too many putts deprived him of his title.

Bour Wins Guest Prize.

Low gross over No. 4 course was won by Edward E. Peter with 80, and W. R. Cummings took low net with 67—5—71. On No. 3 course I. N. Hamilton low net with 86—16—70.

The guests' award for the double salad was won with 80—79—159 by Joe Bour. Robert Zacher took low net with 122—53—130. H. J. Phillips captured the gross prize on No. 4 for 9 holes with 91 and D. W. Smalley, with 93, on No. 3. Carl Goetz, 95—9—6, and Lee Spach, 81—13—68, were low net winners, respectively.

The big prize, aside from the low gross won by Smith, was the low net foursome on both courses. E. E. Bote, C. S. Hamilton, C. F. Hamilton, and Dr. H. B. Thomas won over No. 3 with a net of 295, while on No. 4 it required a better net, 297, for Robert Zacher, C. P. Zacher, R. G. Ackley, and H. J. Phillips to win.

Two Women Tie.

In the women's competition Mrs. C. J. Eng and Mrs. E. E. Bolte reported 10 to tie for low gross, while low net was taken by Mrs. Levi Nilson with 94—6—78. Mrs. H. P. Aiken scored with 122—43—79, and Mrs. V. C. MacKinney, 113—33—80, third. Mrs. Fred Nortman won the guests' prize and Mrs. Edward Winheim the putting award. Leading scores:

MRS. LANGER IS 3 AND 2 VICTOR IN PUBLIC GOLF

Mrs. Tillie Langer, women's champion of Lincoln park, yesterday won her first match in the Illinois women's public park championship, defeating Mrs. J. Galavan, also of Lincoln park, 3 and 2.

Margery Roesslein, medalist, and Cook county champion, defeated Mrs. G. E. Light of Lincoln park, 5 and 4. The other competition of note was between Mrs. Rose Long, Jackson titlist, and Mary Sager, Wisconsin champion in 1929. Mrs. Long won the match, 1 up, on the 19th green.

Mrs. Langer had to overcome the handicap of a bad hook that repeatedly sent her tee shots into the rough. Mrs. Langer and Mrs. Galavan halved the first two holes but Mrs. Langer took a 6 on the 3d and her opponent went 1 up with a par 5. Mrs. Langer evened the match with par 4 on the 4th to Mrs. Galavan's 5, and went 1 up on the 5th with par 3. Mrs. Galavan won the 6th, 7th, and 8th and they halved the 9th to leave Mrs. Galavan 2 up at the turn.

Mrs. Galavan dubbed her approach on the 10th hole, taking 8, while Mrs. Langer took par 6. Mrs. Langer continued her good work on the 11th, taking par 4, while her competitor took 5. Mrs. Langer went 1 up on the 12th, sinking a long putt for a birdie 4, while Mrs. Galavan was in a trap and took par 5. The 13th was halved in par 5. Mrs. Langer went 2 up at the 14th with a par 3, while Mrs. Galavan took 4, her second shot being short of the green. Mrs. Langer had difficulty with her drive on the 15th, was in two traps, and took 6. Mrs. Galavan missed an iron shot and took 7. The match was over on the 16th hole which was halved in 4.

This Hurler Got the Breaks—in His Pitching Arm

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Pitching, Kenneth Combs, will testify, is all a matter of breaks.

In a game last Friday, Combs, left hander, tried so hard to throw a third strike past a batter that he snapped his arm in three places. The breaks were just below the shoulder, above the elbow and in the middle.

Uncomplaining because his pitching days are over, Combs admitted he got the breaks—but that they were all bad.

Richard Harding Davis' Widow Was 43.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 18.—Broadway was saddened today by news of the death of another of its old time stage favorites—Bessie McCoy, famed a quarter of a century ago as the "Yama-Yama Girl," and later as the wife of the late Richard Harding Davis, famous war correspondent.

The actress died at Bayonne, France, Sunday following an emergency intestinal operation. She had been summering at St. Jean de Lux with her 16 year old daughter, Hope.

Was 43 Years Old.

According to advices received by friends here the body will be cremated and the ashes brought here. The Davis home was in Westchester county, N. Y., where the author died about 16 years ago. Mrs. Davis was only 43 years old.

Many recall her as a lovely blond girl on the stage in Pierrot's costume, rollicking and frolicking her way through a tuneful song and a lazy, graceful dance. For she was one of the most popular dancers and musical comedy singers this city ever knew—charmingly unique in her artful eccentricities.

The records are not very informative about Miss McCoy's origin. She was Irish. With her sister, Nellie McCoy, she went on the stage, in chorus work, when both were in their teens, and it wasn't long before Bessie began to attract attention.

She appeared in a number of Broadway musical shows before real recognition came to her in "The Echo." Later Joseph M. Gates signed her for the part that made her famous, "The Yama-Yama Girl."

Her Famous Song.

The title came from the name of the song which was the feature of the show, the "Yama-Yama" song, of which Miss McCoy sang the words in her lazy, husky way as she rollicked through the bizarre steps of the dance. Her costume, all of heavy silk, consisted of a tall fool's-cap ornamented with snowball puffs and a full and baggy clown's dress ornamented with immense rosettes.

It was while Bessie McCoy was appearing in "Three Twins" that Richard Harding Davis fell in love with her. The were married on July 8, 1912, by a justice of the peace at Greenwich, Conn. After Mr. Davis' death Mrs. Davis remained in retirement for several years, then made a brief reappearance on the stage. Subsequently she withdrew from public notice and lived quietly either at the Davis estate at Mount Kisco or abroad.

ANOTHER QUAKE JARS TEXAS; FELT IN NEW MEXICO

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 18.—(AP)—An earthquake jarred the Big Bend country of west Texas this afternoon and was felt westward in New Mexico. Another earth disturbance shook the section last Sunday. No one was reported injured. The tremors appeared to have been of greatest intensity at Alpine, Tex., a village of 500 persons 160 miles east of El Paso, where residents fled into the streets as new cracks appeared in walls already damaged by Sunday's quake. Most of the houses are of adobe. In the Mexican quarter many persons gathered around churches and prayed.

The quake was reported at Alpine at 1:27 p. m., and was preceded by another shock at 2:42 a. m.

Many persons in Alpine have slept in the open since Sunday.

NATION MOURNS DR. AGRAMONTE OF FEVER FAME

Foe of Yellow Plague Dies Suddenly.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Scientific Washington today mourned the death in New Orleans early today of Dr. Aristide Agramonte, last of the four co-discoverers of the cause of yellow fever, but found historic satisfaction in two things.

First, that this government voted the Cuban Agramonte in 1929 a pension of $125 per month, thus giving him, before he died, some show of gratitude for a service which lifted the dread of that disease from southern cities.

Second, that Agramonte was persuaded a year ago by Dr. Hugh S. Cumming, head of the public health service, to write for the Southern Medical association his own account of the Cuban yellow fever experiments of 1900.

"An authentic document correcting many misconceptions," Dr. Cumming said of it. "We are fortunate to have it in our library."

Discovery Made Earlier.

Dr. Agramonte did not take credit to himself and the other three commission members, Dr. Jesse Lazear, Dr. James Carroll, and Dr. Walter Reed, for being first to connect the mosquito with the spread of malaria. This has been done, he said, as early as 1854, and by 1881 was the theory of Dr. Carlos J. Finlay, of Cuba.

But by "infecting mosquitoes and applying them to those who accepted the risk as well as ourselves," Argramonte said, the commission did prove the disease was spread by no mysterious "fomites" as was the prevailing medical theory, but was transmitted by a special mosquito which must first bite the yellow fever patient during the first three days of the disease.

But those facts, properly applied in cleaning and screening, lifted from Havana the stigma of being a pest port, and assured New Orleans and Memphis they need never be revisited by scourges such as they shudderingly remembered. New Orleans in 1853 saw 29,020 cases with 8,101 deaths; Memphis in 1878 had 17,600 cases, with 5,150 deaths.

Lazear a Martyr.

Lazear died in the experiments, but not before he had contributed much toward their success, Agramonte said. Carroll also caught the disease and was convalescing, the Cuban physician recounted, when the first authentic case caused Lazear and Agramonte "to wire the astounding news to Dr. Reed," who had been recalled to Washington early in the experiments. Reed then rejoined them and assisted in authenticating the discovery.

Agramonte gave credit to Gen. William C. Gorgas for cleaning up Havana and ending the epidemic there by methods based on the discovery. Gen. Leonard Wood, he said, made possible the camp where the cases were produced.

STRICKEN SUDDENLY.

Dr. Agramonte's death in New Orleans was sudden. He was stricken Monday night shortly after he had been ordered to bed for a bronchial attack.

Dr. Agramonte went to New Orleans last month to organize a department of tropical diseases at the new medical school of the Louisiana State university. He had served as professor of bacteriology at the University of Havana from 1900 until resignation under the Cuban political disturbances this year.

He was born at Camagüey, Cuba, and received his early education in Mexico. Later he came to the United States and received his M. D. from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia university.

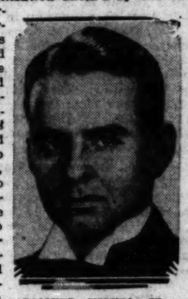
INSULL JUNIOR IS DIRECTOR IN NEW REALTY FIRM

Will Manage Chicagoland Properties.

BY AL CHASE.

Metropolitan Chicago has a new realty organization back'd by the Insull interests. Yesterday it was announced that the Associated Management company had been formed with Otto Gressens, assistant to the president of the Chicago Rapid Transit company and the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad, as head. Mr. Gressens in addition to being president of the new company will be on the board of directors. He is a graduate of the college of commerce of the University of Illinois.



SAMUEL INSULL JR. [Kochne Photo.]

Others on the board of directors are: Samuel Insull Jr., Britton I. Budd, president of the Chicago Rapid Transit company, Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad and other Insull properties; Addison L. Gardner Jr., John H. Gulick, and John F. O'Keefe.

To Buy for Investment.

The purpose of the new concern is "to acquire for investment real estate located advantageously in the metropolitan Chicago area." Mr. Gressens adds that it also will manage and develop real estate for owners either in the suburban area or in Chicago. He states that the new concern will manage the properties of the Metropolitan District Realty trust, another Insull organization, although the trust will go ahead doing its original lines of developing properties by erecting new buildings.

"The company has been created in the belief that the present marks the probable low point in values for good real estate in the metropolitan Chicago area and that, even with a normal growth in population, market values should increase," said President Gressens.

"Inasmuch as there has been little building during the last several years it would seem likely that activities in that direction should proceed in a substantial way within a reasonable time."

Sells Apartment Building.

The fifteen apartment building at the southeast corner of East 64th street and Drexel avenue, lot 42x132, has been sold by Albert H. Zink to the Lincoln National Life Insurance company of Fort Wayne, Ind. A North Dakota farm was given in exchange.

Ernest Newman, Inc., designer and dressmaker, recently leased a shop on the second floor of the Michigan Square building, in Diana court, for a term of years, through Hogan & Farwell.

RAILWAY ISSUES AGAIN ARE DRAG ON BOND MARKET

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Bonds were again dragged down by the railroad group in today's market. Offerings were not particularly large, but there was no letup to the steady chipping away of rail lien values, several of which again recorded new low levels for the year or longer.

Railroad issues dropping about 2 to 4 points to new lows for the year or longer included such issues as Baltimore and Ohio refunding 5s and convertible 4½s, St. Paul 5s F 1975, New York Central consolidated 4s, Great Northern 5s of 1973, Hudson and Manhattan refunding 5s; Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington 4½s, Southern Pacific 4½s of 1981, and Southern Railway general 4s. Weak features were Wabash 5s of 1980, series D, off 7 points, and Soo line 4s, off 8. Some of the high grade issues were steady, such as Atchison general 4s.

In the foreign department the German issues were under pressure for a time, particularly the Young plan loan, but recovered during the afternoon. The Young plan, or German government 5½s, closed a fraction higher, after a temporary dip of more than a point. The 7s, or Dawes plan issue, closed off ½. A few lightly traded issues recovered sharply, the Prussia 6½s gaining more than 9 points, and the Saxon mortgage 7s, 10 points. Argentine issues were heavy, and Brazilian irregularly lower. Chileans were generally firm. Cubans were little changed, although the Cuba railroad 7½s lost 3 points.

Most movements in the higher grade domestic utilities and industrials were narrow. The American Telephone issues were generally fractionally higher. Paramount Publix 5½s were firm, gaining a point.

Reduce Collateral Loan Interest Rates in Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Lombard rate—the interest on collateral loans—was reduced to 12 per cent from 15 per cent as a further indication of the government policy of easing financial rates as soon as possible.

FEWER BANKS FAIL IN JULY, FEDERAL RESERVE REPORTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The federal reserve board today reported that in July, 92 banks suspended, compared with 168 in June. Total deposits of banks suspended in July was $46,440,000, compared with total deposits of $196,000,000 in June. For the six months of the present year, 778 banks with total deposits of $478,242,000 have suspended, compared with 542 failures with total deposits of $241,000,000 in the same period of 1930.

During July there was little change in the total volume of Reserve bank credit outstanding. Total loans and investments of member banks showed a decrease of $853,000,000 for the quarter, a larger liquidation of loans being offset to the extent of $221,000,000 by an increase in investments.

"As in other recent three month periods, the decrease for the second quarter of the year was largest in loans to customers and in street loans, while the banks' investment in acceptances and in open market commercial paper increased," the board reported. "Member bank holdings of United States government securities increased $340,000,000, while their holdings of other securities declined by about $118,000,000."

During the period all banks continued to liquidate their security loans, while member banks outside New York City also sold acceptances and commercial paper. The only assets of the interior banks to show an increase were United States government securities, indicating that the interior banks were putting their funds in government securities rather than commercial securities.

TIME PAYMENT DEFAULTS FEW, SURVEY SHOWS

In spite of lower public purchasing power defaults on time payments and consequent repossessions have not been disturbing thus far in the depression, according to Standard Statistics.

"Reports from leading installment financing corporations indicate that liquidation of receivables has proceeded virtually according to schedule. At the same time incoming business has declined, permitting accumulation of large amounts of cash for use in purchase or redemption of senior obligations, usuually at quotations materially below original offering prices," the firm says.

"Another current advantage is extremely low interest rates at which bank credit is available to companies in this field, which is a partial offset to loss of volume. Leading corporations have developed new business by taking over financing operations of additional lines and have gained part of the volume lost by smaller competing organizations."

Place 2 More Issues in Foreman Realty Trust

Two additional issues of George M. Forman & Co., bonds have been placed in the George M. Forman Realty Trust, William G. Lodwick, president, announced yesterday. They are those of the Belleham building, Belle Plaine and Hamlin avenues, and the Marshfield building, 8201-03 South Marshfield avenue. The issue on the Belleham, a 3 story, 21 apartment structure, was $90,000 of 7 per cent bonds, of which $68,000 is outstanding. The issue on the Marshfield, 3 stories and 19 apartments, was $90,000 of 6½ per cent bonds, with $83,000 outstanding and in default. Twenty-nine large apartment and hotel buildings are now in the Forman Trust.

Gross totaled $41,334,499, as against $43,578,733, off 5.15 per cent.

The company's profits available for retirement provision, miscellaneous charges and surplus amounted to $4,069,508 after interest, preferred dividends of subsidiaries and holding company interest, compared with $5,535,052 for the year ended Dec. 31 last.

Estimate Shoe Production in July 18% Above Yr. Ago

Production last month is estimated at 28,500,000 pairs, and for the fifth consecutive month shoe production has registered a gain over the corresponding months of 1930. Total shoe production for the first seven months this year, with the July estimate included, was 188,687,000 pairs, against 182,596,000 pairs in the corresponding period last year.

GIRL SUICIDE BIDS GOOD-BY ON PHONOGRAPH

Parents Listen as Voice Is Recreated.

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Nora Goldberg was found dead today when her family returned from a short vacation.

She was just past twenty-three, a high strung, ambitious girl, working as stenographer and dreaming of bigger things. She lived with her parents and her brother Harry in New Jersey. Working days, studying nights, she broke down. Then she lost her job.

So she swallowed poison. Her parents found her, her head covered with a cloth and her arms folded, lying dead on the living room couch. There was a note, and with the note a phonograph record. The note said simply that her last message was on the cylinder and that she hoped her family "would like it."

In police headquarters in the presence of her family, police put the record on a machine. There was a whirring noise and rasping of the needle, and then the voice:

"Hello, my dear father and mother and sweet brother!"

"I want to tell you all how much I really love you and how much I regret all the trouble I have caused you, but most of all, I want to be sure from now on your lives will be happy.

"Please be good to each other. Never cause each other any unhappiness. Be considerate of each other and be true and loyal, then you will be happy. See how much happiness you can bring one another.

"Forgive me, and remember the good things I have done. Forget the rest. Set a good example for Henry, if you want him to be a good son and respect and honor you. Goodby."

The voice stopped.

SELLING CARRIES CORN AND OATS TO LOW GROUND

Estimate Cuts in Winter Wheat Acreage.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation by holders of September grain contracts was under way in full force yesterday and carried everything before it, September and December corn dropping to a new low for the season while all deliveries of oats were also in new ground, September oats touching 20¼c, and equaled the low figure during the 1900 crop year.

Taken as a whole the news on wheat was strongly in favor of buyers but the persistent selling of the nearby delivery by scattered longs was overcoming our their trades previous to the first delivery day prevented the market from making more than a moderate response, weakness in corn having a depressing effect toward the last. The finish, however, was unchanged to ⅛c lower, the market receiving good support on the dips. September finished at 48⅞@49c; December, 53⅞c, and May, 57⅝@57¾c.

The pit brokers reported there were liberal sized orders in the pit, to buy September and sell December wheat at 4c difference, which prevented the spread between the two deliveries from widening, cash interests presumably changing over hedges, and absorbing the offerings from scattered longs.

Wheat News Favors Holders.

In the last few days developments in the world's wheat situation would under normal conditions have been considered as sensationally bullish, and probably resulted in a material advance in prices, as old time members of the trade see it, but the depressed economic condition and the lack of confidence on the part of buyers has more than offset this and prices at the inside figures yesterday were within 1@1⅛c of the lowest level of the season.

A decrease of 16 per cent in the winter wheat acreage for the 1932 American crop was indicated by a Murray-Clement-Curtis & Co. report, which would make the total 35,600,000 acres, against 42,250,000 acres last fall, and would be the smallest since 1913. On the basis of average conditions the acreage could be expected to return a crop of 465,000,000 bu, compared with 775,000,000 bu harvested this year.

Further reductions in estimates on European crops are regarded as probable, several official returns being received suggesting the need of a downward revision. In addition unsettled weather again prevailed abroad. Russia News in a summary of the world's situation estimated the crop of all countries at 400,000,000 bu less than last year, while countries that have reported so far show a decrease of 90,000,000 bu rya.

Canadian Condition Lower.

Steady deterioration is noted in the Canadian spring wheat crop, the Searle Grain company, Ltd., Winnipeg, report showing a condition of 50 compared with 53 the previous week. In Saskatchewan the provincial government was reported as buying standing grain in the fields where there was doubt of its maturing, and is expected to have the wheat cut for hay to be used for relief in the southern parts of the province. Winnipeg finished ⅝@⅝c lower for the day with October at 55¾c, while Liverpool was ⅝@⅝d lower with prospects of Danubian grain a factor. October there was 56⅝c at the last. Export sales in all positions were estimated at 400,000 to 500,000 bu.

September corn was under pressure from the start and dropped to 44⅝c, with the December touching 38⅝c. Some stop loss orders were caught on the way down, while buying against bids and on resting orders checked the decline. Final trades were at net losses of ⅝@⅞c with September closing at 44⅝@44¾c; December, 38¾@38¾c, and May, 43¼c.

New Low on Oats.

General liquidation developed in oats with prices declining 1¼@1⅝c from the early high but an effort on the part of local professionals to buy caused a rally of around ⅝c from the inside figures and the close was ⅝@⅝c lower with September at 21c; December, 22¾@22¾c, and May, 25⅝c.

Rye showed stubborn resistance to pressure despite selling credited to the northwest and finished unchanged to ⅜c lower with September at 33⅜c, December, 37⅝c, and May, 41¼c. North American available supplies for the 1931-'32 season are estimated at 68,000,000 bu compared with 88,000,000 bu last year.
